

Bard's 'How to Avoid Draft' Due Here

By LYNN MULVANEY

A draft counseling service—to teach teenagers and others how to avoid the draft, is scheduled to be opened cater-corner to Kingston High School the first week in January.

Negotiations for the rental of a now-vacant store are being made by two Bard College students, Mark Rosenberg and Francesca Freedman.

Help Kids

"Trained" by the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), they plan to "help kids, who don't have the money or the ability to go to college, to get out of going into service."

Self-styled leaders of "The Resistance", a Bard-based peace group, which operates on the theory "fight the war by fighting the draft", Rosenberg, a freshman from Passaic, N. J., Miss Freedman, a sophomore from Patterson, N. J. and others in the group claim a membership of 40.

Together with student leader, Eileen Hearn, a sociology junior from Baltimore, Md., they took part in civil disobedience demonstrations in Albany and New York last week. They urged men to turn in draft cards and asked others to sign complicity statements for which the penalty is the same as for draft resistance.

Six Draft Cards

They were successful in that they turned in six draft cards from among 80 gathered during a community meeting held in the Vassar College Chapel recently.

They belonged, said Eileen, to an Episcopal minister from Ellenville, the Rev. Merritt Raymond Harrison, who has a 4-D deferment; two veterans of the Vietnam War; a World War II veteran and two students with college deferments.

"If the country does not have the men to fight the war", she added, "then we hope they will see what we regard as the illegal and immoral nature of the war."

"We advocate college men, who enjoy deferments, join those not so fortunate and resist the draft."

Enthusiastic about the group's course of action, Rosenberg said "We are going into the community, into the churches... we are going to set up draft counseling services in Dutchess County towns, and in Kingston. This, in addition to attempts to secure draft cards from professors, the clergy and other adults and still continue civil disobedience demonstrations."

Not Agitators

Regarding the Kingston operation, Rosenberg, said, "We are not outsiders trying to agitate, we're just trying to help kids in a bind. We won't be telling them to actively resist, but just counseling them in ways to 'get out of going into service'."

Both Rosenberg and Miss Freedman are both majoring in the social sciences.

Although Rosenberg says political ideas will be pushed in the background during counseling, he feels strongly that the Vietnam War is "totalitarian, counter-revolutionary, imperialistic and exploitive."

He believes that the adjective, exploitive, as applied to U.S. foreign policy, justifies resistance on the part of Americans.

Organized after the Oct. 21 peace demonstration in Washington, D. C., "The Resistance" is one of three peace groups whose members are gleaned from the Bard campus, Annandale-On-Hudson. In addition to the New Action Committee, which has been campus-funded, there is the "Faculty Concerned With War in Vietnam."

Gets Legal Advice

"The Resistance, according to Miss Hearn, has been the recipient of voluntary legal advice from several lawyers in Poughkeepsie and New York."

When asked if time allowed for the many activities of the group, despite academic schedules, Rosenberg explained that in his case, he has a six-week period off at this time of the year in which he is required to work off campus. The counseling program, he hopes, will fill the requirement.

He also revealed that he turned in his own draft card in October in Washington, and has been visited by the FBI on campus.

Resnick Charges Neglect

SAIGON (AP) — Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., who wants Sen. Jacob Javits' seat in the U.S. Senate, today accused the Senate Foreign Relations Committee of "criminal negligence" for not visiting Asia more often.

Resnick, who has been touring the Orient since Nov. 20, said at a news conference: "On the basis of this trip alone I think I can safely say, with all due modesty, that I now have more first-hand knowledge of the problems of this area of the world than the entire Senate Foreign Relations Committee."

Resnick accused the committee's chairman, Sen. William Fulbright D-Ark., of "dereliction of duty" for not having visited Asia since 1958.

"Evidently Mr. Fulbright's interpretation of foreign relations is to keep them as foreign as he possibly can," Resnick said.

Will Stay Five Days

Resnick, traveling with two of his four children and at his own expense, is scheduled to stay five days in Vietnam. Included are talks with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, and visits to U.S. bases, refugee camps, and U.S. aid projects.

He said he is a firm supporter of President Johnson's Asian policy. He charged such critics of the Vietnam war as Fulbright, Sen. Robert Kennedy, another New York Democrat, and Sen. Eugene McCarthy with "sitting at home in Washington making outrageous and idiotic statements about the arrogance of American power."

Resnick said he had found "a great gulf between the public statements and private opinions" of Asian leaders. He said many who publicly criticized U.S. policy in Vietnam admitted privately they thought the American presence in Asia is essential to the survival of the area.

He said the Vietnam war is part of a plan by Communist China to dominate all of Asia.

ALL SMILES—President Johnson smiles to a convention of the AFL-CIO after the Union's president George Meany introduced the president.

LBJ Challenges Critics to Offer A Better Plan

By NEIL GILBRIDE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Johnson says he will not be deterred, influenced or inflamed by his Vietnam war critics "regardless of his polls and regardless of the elections."

Departing from his prepared text in a nationally televised and broadcast speech to the AFL-CIO convention here Tuesday, the President said: "I am going down the center of the road—doing my duty as I see it—for the best of my country."

Roar Approval

The representatives of organized labor roared their approval when Johnson said he would always be ready to hear and act on any proposal for ending the Vietnam war. And their volume increased when he added: "But in the meantime I want you to know—and I want all Americans to know—that I am not going to be deterred, I am not going to be influenced, I am not going to be inflamed by a bunch of political, selfish men who want to advance their own interest."

The President also had harsh words for congressional Republicans, terming them "wooden soldiers" warring on progress.

President Johnson vows to pursue Vietnam war policies and also road to peace, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, LBJ's first Democratic challenger, says he would travel to Hanoi if it would help. These and other war issue statements may be found on Page 3.

He asked the representatives of the 14-million-member "house of labor" to help Democrats elect a "great Congress" in 1968.

About 2,000 convention delegates, officials and guests frequently interrupted Johnson's speech at the Republicans with cheers, applause and laughter.

"The people know that the old Republican buggy can only go one way—backwards downhill," Johnson said. "That old Republican buggy has been colliding with us all year long," he said of GOP efforts in Congress to block or alter his proposals on education, antipoverty, medical care and Social Security.

The President's pledge to stand firm on his Vietnam policies drew renewed backing from AFL-CIO President George Meany.

"We support you, Mr. President, and we urge you to carry on," said Meany.

Silence on Wage Plea

The only part of Johnson's speech met with silence was his plea for voluntary wage restraints, similar to his request last week for price restraint from business.

Rising prices, Johnson said, are "simply murder to all labor and to people with low or moderate incomes."

The labor delegates earlier this week said they wouldn't be bound by any voluntary restraints such as the former White House guideline that until last year attempted to hold wage hikes to 3.2 per cent a year.

Johnson's greeting in the plush hotel convention hall bore the trappings of a political meeting, with delegates waving signs reading "We Support Johnson in Vietnam" and "All the Way with LBJ" as a band played "Hello Dolly!" which Johnson supporters translate as "Hello Lyndon!"

Repeating offers to negotiate peace if Hanoi will come halfway, Johnson said of U.S. war critics, "It is easy to agonize and moralize on the television, to pin your heart on your sleeve or a placard on your back—and think that you are helping to stop war."

"I only wish that those who bewail would bring me just one workable solution to end war."

BY ROBERT A. HUNT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, clearing its decks of most major money measures and aiming for weekend adjournment, has okayed spending billions of dollars for government pay raises and to fight poverty while endorsing a $4.1 billion over-all spending cut.

Congressional action Tuesday included these developments.

—Both Senate and House passed and sent to President Johnson legislation for a $5.4 billion, three-step pay raise affecting 5.5 million federal workers and servicemen. The legislation also includes a hike in postal rates, raising to 6 cents the cost of mailing a letter.

—The House passed and sent to the Senate a $1.61 billion appropriation bill for the Office of Economic Opportunity, $370 million less than Congress already has authorized for the antipoverty program.

—The Senate passed and sent to the President a bill requiring most federal agencies to cut most spending by 10 per cent—a move designed to save $4.1 billion.

Social Security Next

Today the House is to take up a Social Security bill that would boost all benefits by at least 13 per cent as well as hike Social Security taxes. The bill provides for minimum monthly benefit payments of $55 compared with the current $44.

President Johnson is expected to sign the pay-raise bill for government employees and servicemen in time for them to get by Christmas retroactive increases from last Oct. 1. Total cost of the raises by 1969, when all stages are in effect, is estimated at $5.4 billion. It would give postal workers a 6 per cent raise, other government workers a 4.5 per cent hike and servicemen a 5.6 per cent boost.

The pay-raise bill included provisions for hiking postal rates designed to bring in an additional $900 million annually.

Next Jan. 7 regular mail stamps will go from 5 to 6 cents, airmail from 8 to 10 cents, post cards from 4 to 5 cents and air-mail cards from 6 to 8 cents.

Third class mail will go from 2.875 cents to 3.5 cents and to 4 cents in July 1969. But the rate for the first 250,000 pieces mailed in any year will be 3.8 cents.

Second-class rates, covering newspapers and magazines, will go from 1 cent to 1.1 cents next year under the minimum rate, then to 1.2 cents in 1969 and 1.3 cents in 1970.

This legislation also includes a provision to ban any more hiring of relatives by congressmen, federal judges, postmasters and other federal officeholders.

The $4.1 billion spending-cut proposal approved by the Senate is an outgrowth of the hassle earlier in the session between the White House and House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee said the administration would have to come up with spending cuts before it would consider the President's proposal for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Bill Was Dead

The administration came through with the economy plan last month but by that time the tax bill was dead for this session.

The spending-cut bill exempts Congress, the federal judiciary, defense programs, veterans' benefits, Social Security benefits, farm price support programs and health insurance payments.

The Senate rejected 44 to 29 an amendment by Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., to include Congress in the economy drive.

Except for the sudden military manifestation, Athens showed no signs of unrest. But the unusual appearance of military forces inside the city sparked a wave of rumors that a counter coup within the military might have begun.

Civil War Threat in Greece As King Seeks to Oust Junta

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine of Greece called on the eight million people of Greece today to help him oust the military regime and restore democracy and freedom.

His dramatic appeal raised the specter of civil war.

As he spoke troops and tanks took up positions around key buildings in the capital, and the government radio declared the government was ready to defend itself.

King's Appeal

The king's appeal was made by shortwave radio from Larissa, site of a large North Atlantic Treaty Organization base in central Greece.

It came shortly after reports circulated that the 3rd Armored Corps in Salonika, the major city in northern Greece, had rebelled against the military dictatorship.

The 27-year-old monarch declared the leaders of the coup April 21 were only a segment of the army.

"A spirit of revenge will not prevail," he said. "But I will not accept any disobedience from now on and it will be crushed mercilessly. There will be no compromise."

He referred to the Communist civil war of 20 years ago and reiterated his request to the people to assist him, follow him and support him.

Air force jets took to the skies and flew low over the city.

Halftracks

Armored halftracks with troops in full battle dress arrived at the Parliament building to reinforce the first units that surrounded the building. It houses the offices of the junta strongman, Col. George Papadopoulos, who led the military coup that overthrew the constitutional parliamentary government.

Soldiers also appeared outside the royal palace and around the national telecommunications center.

The armored cars appeared around the Parliament building shortly after noon. It was the first such appearance since

Poor Health, Transportation Main Problems for Elderly Persons

By RAY TYSON
(Second of Three Articles)

Aggravating slums approaching Appalachia at its near worst transverse this country from one end to the other.

It is firmly believed that "lost" people, persons not recorded in the census, live on the periphery of these poverty pockets. Stanley Leyden, director of Ulster County's Community Action, says it's quite possible. "I just wouldn't know," he states.

Poverty Zone

Whether it be outside Phoenicia, west of Highland or skirting Marlboro is unimportant. This area is a poverty zone—domain of the invisible poor. Leyden explains the invisible poor as persons physically out of contact with modern life. Basically they are the aged, the small farmer, and workmen whose jobs no longer exist.

In common they share poverty, but each arrived at the brink of despair through different circumstances. And the problems they face as a general rule tend to vary.

Leyden and his assistant, Mrs. Jenny Krevolin, note that the aged comprise the bulk of this area's poor. They list poor health and transportation as the elderly's main problems.

18 Per Cent

It is estimated that 18 per cent of Ulster County presently reside in poverty. What percentage of this figure constitutes the aged is difficult to compute. But probably slightly more than one-third. Nearly all live on fixed incomes.

A Presidential Commission Terms Rural Poverty A 'National Disgrace' ... See Story on Page 5.

Confronted with taxes, rent, utilities, clothing and food expenses, the elderly haven't much left after meeting these expenses. Although various agencies do provide relief programs, most rural senior citizens are too proud or ill-informed to take advantage of their services.

Leyden says the situation is compounded by the elderly's inability to move about. In short they are stuck to their cottages. He notes health is the greatest single factor weighing against them.

Both the federal and state governments offer free medical attention to the elderly. But to take advantage of these welfare services complicated forms must first be filled. Often the forms aren't acquired. Too often they are not completed. The result is frustrating.

Closely related to this problem is the lack of doctors. Leyden told this reporter that in western Ulster County there are only two doctors. Sadly he added, "The two doctors are both in their eighties."

But all things equal, the specter of transportation again arises. An inadequate number of doctors means less house calls. The only alternative is the office visit. Without mobility, physicians cannot be consulted and poor health ensues.

Or, in the case of Dr. Warren E. Parmelee, the only physician serving a six-town area in Greene County, the selective service called. Vietnam was given priority over his rural area.

Fortunately, political pressure has temporarily given the doctor a six-month stay. For the time being he will remain in Greene County.

Typical Cases

Typical of some elderly is the case of an old widower who resides along the mountain outside of New Paltz. Presently he is 79 years old, and by some standards he is well-off.

His home is modest, but it isn't a shack. Money is scarce, but is available to meet his needs. His only child, a son, died several years back and now there is no one.

The old man owns a car but he had his operator's license rescinded by the State. His eyes are now too weak to see. Food is delivered by a local retail grocer and there is always enough to eat.

But the old man has lost hope so he doesn't cook too often. And for some unexplained reason his house is always chilly. He doesn't take proper care of himself and he is sick.

Medical attention awaits at the bottom of the hill but he refuses to consult a doctor. Within six months he will probably be dead.

Insufficient care and income, or self-neglect place the aged at the core of rural poverty. Just one rung down the ladder are the small farmers. And some of their troubles are self-made.

Leyden states that tradition keeps the farmer in poverty. They simply refuse to give up a sinking ship, he says, noting that generation upon generation follow the patterns set by their forefathers.

Link Soviet Pilots

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some well-informed U.S. officials are convinced Soviet military pilots have been flying combat missions for Yemen's Republican government against Royalist forces attacking San'a, the capital city.

This reported involvement of Soviet fliers, using Soviet-made planes and supported by Soviet ground crews—is considered here to reflect Moscow's desire to establish power positions in the Middle East, once the exclusive domain of Western interests.

The possibility of Soviet fighter participation was raised a few days ago when a Royalist information minister said the body of a Soviet pilot, carrying Russian-language papers, had been found. In official quarters in Washington, it is said there's no doubt the downed airman was a Soviet.

Has Importance
Yemen has considerable strategic importance because—along with the neighboring region until recently known as Aden—it dominates the 12-mile-wide southern gateway into the Red Sea.

It has a commanding position on the Suez Canal, linking the Mediterranean and the Indian oceans. The canal has been closed since the June war between Israel and the Arab

2 Buffalo Area Men Killed In Vietnam

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Army Warrant Officer Charles C. Wilcox, 22, of nearby Orchard Park, and Pfc. William P. Farrell, 20, of Buffalo, have been killed in action in Vietnam, their parents say.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilcox said Department of Defense authorities told them Tuesday their son was struck by ground fire after his helicopter had made a landing while under enemy fire.

Wilcox, a graduate of West Seneca Central High School, attended Buffalo State College for two years before enlisting for helicopter officer training. He leaves a sister besides his parents.

Pfc. Farrell, a Bishop Turner High School graduate and a two-year Army veteran, had been in Vietnam only three months. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Farrell, he leaves a widow Carol, and five brothers.

The Wilcox address is 562 Lakeview Ave.

Long Ambulance Trip

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — A Klamath Falls man who needed treatment on an artificial kidney machine was taken to a Utah medical center 700 miles away—by ambulance.

For weeks Dale Borah, 25, tried to get into a West Coast hospital that had a kidney machine. They were filled.

Borah's doctor finally made arrangements for him to go to Salt Lake City. But bad weather grounded airplanes on the day he was supposed to leave. So the owner of a Klamath Falls ambulance service agreed to drive Borah to the hospital in Utah.

states but is expected to be reopened eventually.

Washington authorities say privately they can't recall conflict similar to that in Yemen in which Soviet pilots have played such an active role.

There have been reports of such involvement in the past in troubled lands, but in the present case responsible policy makers say they have no doubt the information is true. Whether this marks the beginning of a new phase in Soviet foreign operations is yet to be determined, they caution.

The war in Yemen is between the Republican regime and Yemeni Royalist forces which look to the hills in September 1962 when the monarchy was overthrown. The struggle has been going on, with periodic eruptions of violence, for five years.

But two recent developments changed the political framework in which it has been conducted.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt pulled out the last of his Soviet-armed troops, which once totaled around 70,000, as a result of a deal with King Faisal of Saudi Arabia. The deal was made necessary by Nasser's need for new financing following Egyptian defeats in the June war.

Nasser had backed the Republican government and Faisal the Royalist group. The result of Egyptian withdrawal was to create at least a partial power vacuum.

Also within the last month Britain removed its forces from Aden, giving way to a new native regime which proclaimed itself the "Peoples Republic of Yemen" on the ground Aden is really "South Yemen." Again the result has been to contribute to the area's political uncertainty.

Seminary Head Well-Known Here

An old acquaintance in the Kingston area, the Rev. Joseph Kerins, CSsR, has been named to succeed the Rev. John Lerhnan, CSsR, as president of the Redemptorist seminary at Esopus.

Father Kerins, 50, who was rector of the Order's House of Philosophy at Suffield, Conn., for the past three years, spent 15 years both as professor and librarian here at Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus. He also acted as pastor of the Presentation parish, Port Ewen, from 1953 to 1956; and for many years taught at the Benedictine School of Nursing, Kingston. Intermittently he has been a visiting lecturer both in Sociology and in Library Science at the Catholic University, Washington, D. C. where, in 1948, he received his doctorate in Social Sciences.

A native of Brooklyn, Father Kerins is one of eight children. Two of his brothers are on the New York police force; another brother is chairman of the department of philosophy at Loretto Heights College, Denver, Colo. Still another brother is pastor of the Redemptorist parish of St. James and St. John in Baltimore, Md.

Announcement of Father Kerins' appointment was made early last week after his return from Europe where he had been attending the Order's General Chapter as elected delegate from the eastern U.S. The same General Chapter elected the former head of Mount St. Alphonsus, Father John Lerhnan, to be Consultor General with residence in Rome.

Long Ambulance Trip

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — A Klamath Falls man who needed treatment on an artificial kidney machine was taken to a Utah medical center 700 miles away—by ambulance.

For weeks Dale Borah, 25, had to get into a West Coast hospital that had a kidney machine. They were filled.

Borah's doctor finally made arrangements for him to go to St. Lake City. But bad weather grounded airplanes on the day he was supposed to leave. So the owner of a Klamath Falls ambulance service agreed to drive him to the hospital in Utah.

Washington authorities say privately they can't recall conflict similar to that in Yemen in which Soviet pilots have played such an active role.

There have been reports of such involvement in the past in troubled lands, but in the present case responsible policy makers say they have no doubt the information is true. Whether this marks the beginning of a new phase in Soviet foreign operations is yet to be determined, they caution.

The war in Yemen is between the Republican regime and Yemeni Royalist forces which took to the hills in September 1962 when the monarchy was overthrown. The struggle has been going on, with periodic eruptions of violence, for five years.

But two recent developments changed the political framework in which it has been conducted.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt pulled out the last of his Soviet-armed troops, which once totaled around 70,000, as a result of a deal with King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

The deal was made necessary by Nasser's need for new financing following Egyptian defeats in the June war.

Nasser had backed the Republican government and Faisal the Royalist group. The result of Egyptian withdrawal was to create at least a partial power vacuum.

Also within the last month Britain removed its forces from Aden, giving way to a new native regime which proclaimed itself the "Peoples Republic of Yemen." On the ground Aden is really "South Yemen." Again the result has been to contribute to the area's political uncertainty.

Mayone on Council Action:

Deliberate Deceit on Tax

"The entire handling of this measure literally reeks of political deceit, fraud upon the citizens, and the lowest form of bad faith and dishonesty." So stated John Ray Mayone, Republican City Chairman, today in commenting upon the Sales Tax measure approved by the Common Council at the extraordinary session of Monday, December 11, Mayone said:

Speed Record

"It is incredible, and I am of the opinion that very few citizens of Kingston yet really believe it happened, but in the short span of 72 hours we have seen action which certainly must have set a record for speed. We heard only as late as Friday afternoon, December 8th, that Mr. Garrahan was proposing a Sales Tax levy for fiscal 1968 in the City of Kingston. No one outside the Common Council had an opportunity to so much as glance at the proposal. Even if they had, being that it comprised some 28 pages, it is highly unlikely that anyone of average intelligence could have even begun to absorb it.

Slates Premiere

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Theater Center announced today that it would present the premiere of Paddy Chayefsky's new play, "The Latent Heterosexual," on March 12.

A spokesman said stage and screen actor Burgess Meredith would be guest director. Meredith directed a play at the center during its first season in 1960. He was in Dallas over the weekend conferring with Paul Baker, managing director of the center.

Phobos, largest of Mars' two satellites, revolves about the planet in seven hours and 39 minutes.

It seems we are blessed with aldermen who possess an extremely high degree of acumen, obviously far more than most of us, for they have had us believe that they were actually able to absorb all facets of this proposal, take into consideration all possible pros and cons, consult their constituents, obtain some expert advice, study every possible alternative, and all this in just three days.

"I base my charge of deliberate deceit and trickery against Mr. Garrahan and Mr. Gallo for the principle reason that not once during the campaign of only one month ago did either of these gentlemen so much as whisper that the sales tax was being contemplated. This has to be a new low in political dishonesty. Are we to believe that this levy appeared on the scene only within the past 30 days? Does Mr. Garrahan really believe we are naive as to accept his explanation that he has only just recently 'changed his mind' about the sales tax? I accuse the Mayor of attempting to foist an outright lie upon the citizens of our City with such ridiculous propaganda.

"It seems that Mr. Garrahan is now asking us to believe that back in October he did not know that his budgetary requirements for 1968 were to set a record high. How's that for political deceit? The steamroller tactics of Monday's Council session left little doubt but that Mr. Garrahan and Mr. Gallo wanted this thing to go through fast before the citizenry had time to rise up in its wrath.

Asks Explanation

"I call upon Mr. Garrahan and Mr. Gallo to explain why this levy was not suggested during the campaign of a short month ago so that this most important issue may have been thoroughly debated and the people given the opportunity to voice their opinions and suggestions? Certainly this type of issue is tailor-made for a campaign—two sides could take opposing viewpoints and thus give the people the opportunity to vote on what they believe was right. The answer must be obvious to all. The very fact that this important legislation was handled in such an underhanded manner leave but one conclusion: it would not stand the harsh light of public debate and scrutiny. Apparently neither of these gentlemen were so stupid as to base their campaigns upon what they most assuredly knew to be an unfair and unpopular Tax. So, I must give them some credit for having sense, if not political honesty.

"The most disturbing fact of all considering the entire proposal is that to date there has not been one single solitary actual fact or figure presented. We have not seen the budget or any part of it; we have nothing but the vague hints of our Mayor to guide us. There have been all kinds of figures thrown about with wild abandon concerning the new tax rate, and yet not one single departmental request to back it up. What we have seen in reality is a new high in doubletalk and evasiveness, and upon this, and this alone, our worthy aldermen performed their famous 72-hour feat."

LBJ to Pursue Vietnam Policies

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Johnson vows to pursue his Vietnam war policies while his first challenger in the 1968 Democratic primaries says he'd travel to Hanoi if it promised to bring peace talks.

The war issue also generated disagreement between former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his vice president, Richard M. Nixon.

In Europe, meanwhile, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, an announced GOP presidential candidate, picked up support for his peace proposal. And in California, a Republican who opposes the war won a special congressional election.

Johnson told a cheering AFL-CIO convention audience in Miami Beach, Fla., Tuesday night that "regardless of my polls and regardless of the elections" next year, "I am not going to be deterred by a bunch of political, selfish men who want to advance their own interests." He said that while standing fast by his Vietnam policy, he also will pursue peace.

Johnson, sporting a style he usually displays in the windup of a national election campaign, scorned Republicans as "wooden soldiers" whose "buggy can go one way—backward, downhill."

device to help me in the campaign."

Nixon, regarded as a strong if unannounced candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, said in a Chicago interview he disagrees with Eisenhower, who has said he would approve invading Vietnam's demilitarized zone and of "hot pursuit of the enemy."

Nixon said that while Eisenhower was right from a military standpoint, "the problem is if we move in we extend the ground war. I oppose any extension of the war on the ground—in North Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia."

He said ground action should be limited to South Vietnam, with an accompanying step-up in bombing of the North.

Romney, on a foreign tour prior to his plunge into full-scale campaigning for the GOP nomination, reportedly received favorable reaction from officials in London and Paris to his idea for stopping the fighting.

Romney suggests Southeast Asia be neutralized, keeping the major nations out of the area and letting the countries there work out their own policies.

Republican Paul N. McCloskey, a critic of U.S. war policy, easily won the special congressional election in California's 11th district, defeating Democrat Roy A. Archibald by some 20,000 votes out of about 100,000 cast. McCloskey won the GOP nomination in November by defeating former film favorite Shirley Temple Black.

McCloskey called for de-escalation of the war while Archibald favored a halt in bombing of the North but offered no specific suggestions beyond that stand.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who plans to enter several Democratic primaries against Johnson or Johnson stand-ins, said in a New York interview he would travel to Hanoi "if I felt that going there might open the way to some kind of negotiation."

Such a trip, McCarthy said, would not be "just as a political

Classroom Order

When a 14-year-old boy struck his teacher at a junior high school in New York, he was suspended by the principal. Later, he and his parents were asked to attend a guidance conference on the future of his education. The parents sought to have a lawyer attend, though school regulations forbid legal proceedings in such situations.

U.S. Court Judge Constance Baker Motley overruled the school rule barring lawyers to attend such conferences and the school appealed her decision. The U.S. Court of Appeals in turn overruled the trial court in a precedent-setting decision upholding the right of schools to conduct their own disciplinary actions without interference by outside lawyers.

"Law and order in the classroom should be the responsibility of our respective educational systems," Judge Leonard P. Moore wrote, in an opinion concurred in by Judge Henry J. Friendly and Robert P. Anderson. "The courts should not usurp this function and turn disciplinary problems, involving suspension, into criminal adversary proceedings—which they definitely are not."

Judge Motley felt the child's whole future might be affected and a lawyer could protect his rights. The appeals court is right, the rules and regulations of the board of education evince a high regard for the best interest and welfare of the child. The courts would do well to recognize that.

Good Investment

One of the great strengths of the Boy Scouts of America over the years has been that this national organization and its local Scout councils have never become satisfied with their accomplishments. They have always been eager to press forward for greater service.

But with the myriads of accomplishments happening day after day all over America, the volunteers who lead this youth movement continue to recognize certain fundamentals which will emphasize character building, citizenship training, and physical fitness.

These fundamentals are the Scout Oath and Law, the boy in uniform, the "Good Turn" principle, experiences in leadership, and opportunities for growth, in an expanding world. Without these significant values that characterize Scouting among the family of youth-serving agencies, the Boy Scouts of America would have become only another recreational activity.

The victories achieved in the lives of boys through influence reaching them in Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer units make up the story of the vigorous moving forward of the Boy Scouts of America.

The Rip Van Winkle Council of the Boy Scouts of America is asking citizens throughout Greene County and in the nine non-chest towns in Ulster County to support Scouting financially. We believe there is no better investment that can be made in our youth than through Scouting.

What Brothers Americans

It's not the war in Vietnam. Nor the race to be first on the moon. It's not even civil rights or crime in the streets. Americans are not bothered so much by these issues, which are uppermost in the White House, Congress, the scientific and intellectual communities, and the articulate axe-grinders.

Ahead of these spectacular issues in the public mind are some much more mundane, touching their everyday lives more closely. These are the five leading issues and the percentage of those asked who thought more should be done about them:

- Water pollution 83 per cent.
- Air pollution 82 per cent.
- Job training for the unskilled 68 per cent.
- Programs to keep America beautiful 51 per cent.
- Antipoverty drive 45 per cent.
- Space exploration 26 per cent.

We list them in their order because we were as surprised as anyone that the public has come to value action on water and air pollution above all other national issues today. If we also add keeping America beautiful as part and parcel of these two, we see that people seem more interested in uplifting their environment for the better than in any other current issue.

People are not wholly immune to poverty, but they want it solved by job training for the unskilled rather than the many programs that the antipoverty drive has proliferated instead of concentrating on preparing people for work and getting jobs for them.

This information is contained in a poll reported in the Congressional Record, taken by Trendex, Inc., the polling concern, for Thiokol Chemical Corporation, which makes rocket-engine fuels. Obviously, the results were disappointing to anyone so keenly interested in space exploration, but to the public at large it is most enlightening.

Everybody Lends a Hand

David Lawrence Says

Draft Interference Violates Federal Law

WASHINGTON — Careful reading of the "declaration of policy" in the Universal Military Training and Service Act will answer many of the questions that are now being asked as to the right of college students to carry on anti draft demonstrations or to interfere with the recruiting of personnel by companies engaged in national defense work.

Potentially, every male citizen who is in the age bracket from 18½ years to 26 years is subject to the draft. There are certain exemptions and deferments, but the administration of such regulations is the function of the Selective Service boards throughout the country.

Any demonstrator who seeks to interfere with the recruitment of personnel by the military services violates a federal criminal statute. No soldier in uniform would be permitted to participate in an "anti draft" demonstration, and neither would any member of the present draft system between the ages of 18½ years and 26 years be immune from penalties if he seeks to discourage co-operation by other persons subject to the draft.

Entirely apart from the power of discipline permitted to the military institutions of government, there are criminal provisions which declare that any one, whether or not subject to the draft, may be criminally prosecuted if he "shall knowingly hinder or interfere or attempt to do so in any way, by force or violence or otherwise, with the administration of this (act) or the rules or regulations made pursuant thereto, or who conspires to commit any one or more of such offenses." He can be imprisoned for not more than five years or fined not more than 10,000 dollars or both.

A person could also be subject to criminal prosecution for certain violations of draft rules—as, for instance, failing to register or to report for induction.

This was emphasized a few days ago by the setting up of a special unit in the Department of Justice to "coordinate prompt prosecution of offenses against the Selective Service laws and related statutes." The joint statement issued by Attorney General Clark and Selective Service Director Hershey says:

"The responsibilities of this unit include prosecution of violations of provisions of the Selective Service Law making it unlawful knowingly to counsel, aid, or abet others to refuse to register or serve, or knowingly to interfere by force or violence or otherwise with the administration of the system. This unit also has responsibility for prosecution of violations of the related statutes outlawing interference with the armed forces or obstruction of recruiting and enlistments."

Many of the college authorities have not read the statutes, and some of them have even banned military recruiters from their campuses because they believe that local draft boards have been encouraged "to consider evidence of dissent against military recruitment as a reason for the withdrawal of draft deferments."

"Changes in draft status can be made for reasons related to national security and the maintenance of the defense system. The fundamental question at issue is the right of the selective service system to consider all persons who are subject to the draft as integral members of the military force, with an inactive analogous to that of 'reservists.'"

General Hershey has argued that the behavior of individuals who are subject to the draft can be a matter for local draft boards to consider. The theory is not that induction in the draft is a punishment, but that it affords the government an opportunity to take under its immediate supervision individuals of draft age who are not helping to achieve and maintain our armed strength "to insure the security of this nation," as proclaimed by Congress.

There probably will be cases, of course, taken to court arguing that the "right of dissent" under the constitution cannot be restricted, but plenty of persons in the military service have been court-martialed for trying to exercise such a "right to dissent." It would be a new development in American jurisprudence if members of the military service were given the right openly to criticize their commanders, their strategy and their objectives in a war.

Drew Pearson Says Congress Puts Defense Bills Ahead of Poor and Children

WASHINGTON — As the slowest Congress in history stampedes toward Christmas adjournment it can chalk up some records unequalled even by Harry Truman's 80th Congress. Here are some of them:

It has taken more vacations than any other Congress in history.

It put across $15,000 for Congresswomen's beauty shop in the fastest time in history.

It passed in record time the largest "peacetime" military bills in history. It even passed the draft act, effecting the lives of millions of young men, in a single evening, all because the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., wanted to dash off to the Paris air show.

It delayed until this week, almost twelve months, legislation effecting the poor, the elderly, and the education of our children.

As the last congressional week began, these bills were still being voted on. What went on behind the scenes regarding the education bill, effecting the lives of millions of children, illustrates the manner in which the 90th Congress has put politics ahead of people.

The backstage debate began at the Democratic Senate caucus last week called because some senators had complained that they weren't being notified when important votes were due. They seemed to forget that they draw salaries from the taxpayers to be on deck all the time without being notified when to walk in and vote.

At the caucus, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., manager of the three-year education bill, raised objection to the amendment of Sen. Dick Russell, D-Ga., barring any cut-off of federal funds during the school year from schools failing to desegregate.

"I want to make it clear that if the Russell amendment is added to the bill," said Morse, "I shall vote against it as its manager, and I shall announce that the Democratic party has walked out on the civil rights decision of 1954."

Sen. Russell demurred that he didn't realize the school bill was to be discussed at the Democratic caucus.

"I didn't know that there was any taboo on any subject once a caucus was called," replied Morse.

Later he and Sen. Russell, who respect each other despite occasional fireworks, got together in a private conference with undersecretary of HEW Wilbur Cohen, Jack Forsythe of the Senate Labor Committee, several Senate and HEW experts, together with Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi.

At the closed-door session, undersecretary Cohen showed a draft letter which he said Secretary Gardner would send to the Senate clarifying the time schedule for cutting off federal funds if southern schools failed to desegregate.

The letter was to state that there would be no funds cut off during the school year, namely between Sept. 1 and June 1, unless the school in question had been warned by March 1 that it was in violation and was given a hearing before Sept. 1.

Sen. Russell said he thought this was fair. But Mississippi's Stennis wouldn't agree. He wanted more time, acted as if Big Jim Eastland, the other Mississippi Senator, was looking over his shoulder.

Morse pled for immediate agreement, pointed out that the congressional session was nearing a close.

"You know I'll beat you on this if there's no filibuster and I can bring this to a vote," he said.

However, Stennis requested further delay and under the rules of Senate courtesy, one Senator's request is ordinarily Senate Law.

Last weekend's debate therefore was confined to an amendment by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., proposing to strike $15,000,000 to finance long-range educational planning by the states under the supervision of the federal government. The Republican Senator from South Carolina considered the federal supervision an invasion of state's rights.

It was obvious that the Senate was going to defeat Thurmond's amendment, but Morse, as manager of the education bill, wanted a roll call vote so that in conference with the House of Representatives he could argue that the Senate had turned this down by a decisive margin.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, however, wanted a voice vote. He whispered to Morse that he had promised this to Thurmond.

"I have to take this bill to conference," Morse replied. "I want a roll call vote to strengthen my position in conference. I'm not going to yield."

"I want you to do this as a personal favor," whispered Mansfield.

Morse then acquiesced. Thurmond's amendment was defeated by a voice vote.

The South Carolina Senator then proposed an amendment giving the states control of federal funds for research centers to deal with the education of deaf and blind children. Congressman Edith Green, Morse's colleague from Oregon, once a great crusader for education, now considered something of a saboteur, had pushed this through the House.

Morse battled against it in closed-door conferences.

"The states want the federal money, but no responsibility for living up to civil rights," he argued. "I would rather walk out of the Senate than walk out on civil rights."

"You go back home for Christmas without voting an education bill," he warned Senators, "and you'll hear from the teachers and parents."

Manchester Book a Publicity Project

The year's sales are closing now on William Manchester's "The Death of a President." Compared to the buying forecasts, the incredibly ballyhooed book turns out to be a resounding flop. In the publishing world it has descended from its claim of success with the quiet thump and easy grace of an ox falling off a roof.

Without the book clubs, the hard-cover take has been about 600,000. Fine Harper & Row, like all reputable publishers, normally accept book-sellers' returns of all unsold copies. Harper & Row limited the returns on Manchester's book to 10 per cent. Then bargain-sale offers caved in the roof.

Next to the Bible, the all-time American most-sold book is Dr. Benjamin Spock's "The Common Sense Book of Baby and Child Care." It has sold 18 million since published in 1946.

"Gone With The Wind" sold one million copies in the first six months.

Critics usually distrust a novel that has had an enormous sale. Each critic seems tempted to exclude a little more from the author's greatness than other critics excluded, thus displaying his superior critical discernment. Essentially, which has little or nothing to do with literary values, "Gone With The Wind" was an exception.

Incidentally, Margaret Mitchell's original title was "Tomorrow Is Another Day." In the middle of a night she got up out of bed to change it. Fiction publishers, however, consider titles surprisingly unimportant. "Title it anything," they'll tell an author, "and if your book is good, don't worry."

That Margaret Mitchell never wrote another book seems completely understandable. Like Giuseppe di Lampedusa's great story of the Sicilian Prince, "The Leopard," his only book, hers "as one of these books that require a lifetime — either in the writing or in the internal preparation."

Last year's two top sellers were Norman F. Dacey's (575,000 that one introductory year), and Truman Capote's "In Cold Blood" (320,000 in hard covers and without the clubs. Incredibly, in all forms our public and institutions now buy more than two billion books a year — 10 annually for every man, woman and child in our population.

The Manchester book pretended that its purpose was history, and the Kennedy family history, and the Kennedy family's so-called research was revealed to be utterly phony and selected to serve his purpose, most lately by Texas Gov. John Connally November 24 in Life magazine.

This wasn't history. It was a publicity project that backfired.

The Kennedys should never have commissioned a book about the assassination in the first place. There are more acceptable ways to keep our memories alive about President Kennedy. And the results was that when more and more people who were informed read what was produced for the Kennedys, the banality of this fabricated literary chicken came home to roost.

Grating Rating of Officers

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—An officer's military career usually hangs on his efficiency reports. They're a vital factor in his promotions. They often determine whether he gets a unit to command or a routine job to get him out of the way. They can open doors or almost literally hang like an albatross around his neck. These reports are made out by his superiors, usually once a year. They stay in his files permanently.

It is sometimes difficult to write these efficiency reports. It can be impossible to accurately describe an officer and his potential in a few words and figures. The results are often amazing.

Pentagon Navy men have acquired examples of some of the more unusual comments found on Air Force efficiency reports. They're now being passed around in Navy circles of the "education" of Navy commanding officers.

Selected examples follow: This officer has talents but has kept them well-hidden.

A quiet, reticent, neat-appearing officer — industrious, tenacious, diffident, careful and neat. I do not wish to have this officer as a member of my command at any time.

Can express a sentence in two paragraphs at any time. His leadership is outstanding.

ing except for his lack of ability to get along with his subordinates.

He hasn't any mental traits.

His departure is in no way considered a loss. In fact, it is a gain. His transfer was concurred in by all commanders with relief.

He needs careful watching since he borders on the brilliant.

Never makes the same mistake twice but it seems to me that he has made them all once.

In any change of policy or procedures he can be depended upon to produce the improbable hypothetical situation in which the new policy will not work.

Classroom Order

When a 14-year-old boy struck his teacher at a junior high school in New York, he was suspended by the principal. Later, he and his parents were asked to attend a guidance conference on the future of his education. The parents sought to have a lawyer attend, though school regulations forbid legal proceedings in such situations.

U.S. Court Judge Constance Baker Motley overruled the school rule barring lawyers to attend such conferences and the school appealed her decision. The U.S. Court of Appeals in turn overruled the trial court in a precedent-setting decision upholding the right of schools to conduct their own disciplinary actions without interference by outside lawyers.

"Law and order in the classroom should be the responsibility of our respective educational systems," Judge Leonard P. Moore wrote, in an opinion concurred in by Judge Henry J. Friendly and Robert P. Anderson. "The courts should not usurp this function and turn disciplinary problems, involving suspension, into criminal adversary proceedings—which they definitely are not."

Judge Motley felt the child's whole future might be affected and a lawyer could protect his rights. The appeals court is right, the rules and regulations of the board of education evince a high regard for the best interest and welfare of the child. The courts would do well to recognize that.

Good Investment

One of the great strengths of the Boy Scouts of America over the years has been that this national organization and its local Scout councils have never become satisfied with their accomplishments. They have always been eager to press forward for greater service.

But with the myriads of accomplishments happening day after day all over America, the volunteers who lead this youth movement continue to recognize certain fundamentals which will emphasize character building, citizenship training, and physical fitness.

These fundamentals are the Scout Oath and Law, the boy in uniform, the "Good Turn" principle, experiences in leadership, and opportunities for growth, in an expanding world. Without these significant values that characterize Scouting among the family of youth-serving agencies, the Boy Scouts of America would have become only another recreational activity.

The victories achieved in the lives of boys through influence reaching them in Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer units make up the story of the vigorous moving forward of the Boy Scouts of America.

The Rip Van Winkle Council of the Boy Scouts of America is asking citizens throughout Greene County and in the nine non-chest towns in Ulster County to support Scouting financially. We believe there is no better investment that can be made in our youth than through Scouting.

What Brothers Americans

It's not the war in Vietnam. Nor the race to be first on the moon. It's not even civil rights or crime in the streets. Americans are not bothered so much by these issues, which are uppermost in the White House, Congress, the scientific and intellectual communities, and the articulate axe-grinders.

Ahead of these spectacular issues in the public mind are some much more mundane, touching their everyday lives more closely. These are the five leading issues and the percentage of those asked who thought more should be done about them:

Water pollution 83 per cent.

Air pollution 82 per cent.

Job training for the unskilled 68 per cent.

Programs to keep America beautiful 51 per cent.

Antipoverty drive 45 per cent.

Space exploration 26 per cent.

We list them in their order because we were as surprised as anyone that the public has come to value action on water and air pollution above all other national issues today. If we also add keeping America beautiful as part and parcel of these two, we see that people seem more interested in uplifting their environment for the better than in any other current issue.

People are not wholly immune to poverty, but they want it solved by job training for the unskilled rather than the many programs that the antipoverty drive has proliferated instead of concentrating on preparing people for work and getting jobs for them.

This information is contained in a poll reported in the Congressional Record, taken by Trendex, Inc., the polling concern, for Thiokol Chemical Corporation, which makes rocket-engine fuels. Obviously, the results were disappointing to anyone so keenly interested in space exploration, but to the public at large it is most enlightening.

Draft Interference Violates Federal Law

WASHINGTON — Careful reading of the "declaration of policy" in the Universal Military Training and Service Act will answer many of the questions that are now being asked as to the right of college students to carry on anti-draft demonstrations or to interfere with the recruiting of personnel by companies engaged in national defense work.

Potentially, every male citizen who is in the age bracket from 18½ years to 26 years is subject to the draft. There are certain exemptions and deferments, but the administration of such regulations is the function of the Selective Service boards throughout the country.

Any demonstrator who seeks to interfere with the recruitment of personnel by the military services violates a federal criminal statute. No soldier in uniform would be permitted to participate in an "anti-draft" demonstration, and neither would any member of the present draft system between the ages of 18½ years and 26 years be immune from penalties if he seeks to discourage co-operation by other persons subject to the draft.

Entirely apart from the power of discipline permitted to the military institutions of government, there are criminal provisions which declare that any one, whether or not subject to the draft, may be criminally prosecuted if he "shall knowingly hinder or interfere or attempt to do so in any way, by force or violence or otherwise, with the administration of this (act) or the rules or regulations made pursuant thereto, or who conspires to commit any one or more of such offenses." He can be imprisoned for not more than five years or fined not more than 10,000 dollars or both.

A person could also be subject to criminal prosecution for certain violations of draft rules—as, for instance, failing to register or to report for induction.

This was emphasized a few days ago by the setting up of a special unit in the Department of Justice to "coordinate prompt prosecution of offenses against the Selective Service laws and related statutes." The joint statement issued by Attorney General Clark and Selective Service Director Hershey says:

"The responsibilities of this unit include prosecution of violations of provisions of the Selective Service Law making it unlawful knowingly to counsel, aid, or abet others to refuse to register or serve, or knowingly to interfere by force or violence or otherwise with the administration of the system. This unit also has responsibility for prosecution of violations of the related statutes outlawing interference with the armed forces or obstruction of recruiting and enlistments."

Many of the college authorities have not read the statutes, and some of them have even banned military recruiters from their campuses because they believe that local draft boards have been encouraged "to consider evidence of dissent against military recruitment as a reason for the withdrawal of draft deferments."

Changes in draft status can be made for reasons related to national security and the maintenance of the defense system. The fundamental question at issue is the right of the selective service system to consider all persons who are subject to the draft as integral members of the military force, with an inactive analogous to that of "reservists."

General Hershey has argued that the behavior of individuals who are subject to the draft can be a matter for local draft boards to consider. The theory is not that induction in the draft is a punishment, but that it affords the government an opportunity to take under its immediate supervision individuals of draft age who are not helping to achieve and maintain our armed strength "to insure the security of this nation," as proclaimed by Congress.

There probably will be cases, of course, taken to court arguing that the "right of dissent" under the constitution cannot be restricted, but plenty of persons in the military service have been court-martialed for trying to exercise such a "right to dissent." It would be a new development in American Jurisprudence if members of the military service were given the right openly to criticize their commanders, their strategy and their objectives in a war.

Incidentally, Margaret Mitchell's original title was "Tomorrow Is Another Day." In the middle of a night she got up out of bed to change it. Fiction publishers, however, consider titles surprisingly unimportant. "Title it anything," they'll tell an author, "and if your book is good, don't worry."

That Margaret Mitchell never wrote another book seems completely understandable. Like Giuseppe di Lampedusa's great story of the Sicilian Prince, "The Leopard," his only book, hers "as one of these books that require a lifetime — either in the writing or in the internal preparation."

Last year's two top sellers were Norman F. Dacey's (575,000) that one introductory year), and Truman Capote's "In Cold Blood" (320,000) in hard covers and without the clubs. Incredibly, in all forms our public and institutions now buy more than two billion books a year — 10 annually for every man, woman and child in our population.

The Manchester book pretended that its purpose was history, and the Kennedy family stated in court that it was "unimpaired historically" by the family's belated deletions. Manchester got famous (and rich) on the Kennedy-commissioned book, proving again that it's silly to buy golden eggs when you can buy with sycophancy the goose that lays them, a constant trick of Arthur Schlesinger Jr.

Former Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, in turn, again displayed his famous regard for the sanctity of law in his immortal command to Look's general counsel: "Tear up the contract with Manchester and forget the whole business."

The whole shoddy affair, and the book itself, became merely the kind of news that makes the time go fast under the hair driers. But the shoddiest thing of all was the claim on both sides that this is history.

It's commonly agreed (and required) that in a reputable history the writer does not permit his prejudices, sycophancy, or self-interest to intrude.

Hemingway, no sycophant, once observed on this point that "a writer can make a nice career by espousing a political cause and making a profession of it. He may even have a million copies of his books printed by the government or any of the other rewards the boys dream about."

It was admittedly a blurb book on President Kennedy that landed Manchester the job for the Kennedy family. Both the Kennedy purpose and the Manchester product were tainted from start to finish. Again and again Manchester's so-called research was revealed to be utterly phony and selected to serve his purpose, most lately by Texas Gov. John Connally November 24) in Life magazine.

This wasn't history. It was a publicity project that backfired.

The Kennedys should never have commissioned a book about the assassination in the first place. There are more acceptable ways to keep our memories active about President Kennedy. And the end results was that when more and more people who were informed read what was produced for the Kennedys, the banality of this fabricated literary chicken came home to roost.

Grating Rating of Officers

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—An officer's military career usually hangs on his efficiency reports. They're a vital factor in his promotions. They often determine whether he gets a unit to command or a routine job to get him out of the way. They can open doors or almost literally hang like an albatross around his neck. These reports are made out by his superiors, usually once a year. They stay in his files permanently.

It is sometimes difficult to write these efficiency reports. It can be impossible to accurately describe an officer and his potential in a few words and figures. The results are often amazing.

Pentagon Navy men have acquired examples of some of the more unusual comments found on Air Force efficiency reports. They're now being passed around in Navy circles of the "education" of Navy commanding officers.

Selected examples follow: This officer has talents but has kept them well-hidden. A quiet, reticent, neat-appearing officer — industrious, tenacious, diffident, careful and neat. I do not wish to have this officer as a member of my command at any time. Can express a sentence in two paragraphs at any time. His leadership is outstanding.

ing except for his lack of ability to get along with his subordinates.

He hasn't any mental traits. His departure is in no way considered a loss. In fact, it is a gain. His transfer was concurred in by all commanders with relief.

He needs careful watching since he borders on the brilliant.

A particularly fine appearance when astride a horse. Believes sincerely in the power of prayer and it is astonishing to note how many times his prayers are answered.

Open to suggestions but never follows them. Never makes the same mistake twice but it seems to me that he has made them all once.

In any change of policy or procedures he can be depended upon to produce the improbable hypothetical situation in which the new policy will not work.

Rural Poor Neglected, Commission Reports

By JAMES K. BATTEN
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 — A blue-ribbon presidential commission, in a report not yet released, has condemned widespread rural poverty in America as "a national disgrace" and proposed an expensive set of remedies.

The president's national advisory commission on rural poverty warned that the fruits of past neglect of rural people now "have swept into our cities, violently."

"The urban riots during 1967 had their roots, in considerable part, in rural poverty. A high proportion of the people crowded into city slums today came there from rural slums."

That simple fact, declared the commission in its report, titled "The People Left Behind," makes clear how essential a full-fledged attack on rural poverty has become.

The 24-member commission, headed by Gov. Edward T. Brethitt of Kentucky, formally submitted its 160-page report to the White House during the latter half of November. A cabinet-level committee has been studying the findings since late September.

In general, the commission endorsed the theory that jobs and opportunities should be provided for rural people where they are, instead of forcing them to move to the cities.

But it also agreed that government should assist in the relocation of rural poor people who are unable to find work where they live and who may do better elsewhere.

The White House has refused so far to release the report. President Johnson reportedly did not want the document made public until the poverty bill emerged from Congress, fearing that new controversy might damage the bill's prospects.

Meanwhile, through an error at the Government Printing Office, several hundred copies were shipped routinely to libraries across the country at the very time the White House was jealously guarding the report.

Rural People Short-Changed

The thrust of the report is that federal policy had systematically short-changed rural America, leaving 14,000,000 (M) people consigned to deprivation and hardship.

Until that situation is remedied, the commission warned, the current battle to save the nation's deteriorating cities can never be won.

Unless similar programs are upgrading life in rural America, then modest successes at improving conditions in the big cities will simply lure fresh streams of ill-educated, unskilled rural migrants to the cities, the report said.

For that reason, it went on, "there is danger that programs limited to the needs of our central cities will be self-defeating."

And yet, the report warned, there is no present national policy to avoid that dead-end.

Federal farm and vocational agriculture programs, for example, "are relics from an earlier era," the report said. As for the war on poverty, "Our antipoverty programs have bypassed the rural poor."

In general, the rural poor have received far less than their fair share of anti-poverty funds. Rural areas contain 40 per cent of the nation's poor people. And in view of the high average cost of serving people in an area of low population density, these areas should actually get more than 40 per cent of the funds.

"But in reality, rural areas today receive less than one-third of OEO (Office of Economic Opportunity) funds. This is partly because local governments have been unable, and in some cases unwilling, to overcome the red tape involved in getting anti-poverty projects funded."

The commission also pointed to "growing restlessness" among rural people who believe their plight is being ignored.

"National action which in effect rewards the violence in the central cities," said the report, "is not unnoticed in rural America. Through such action, the nation is telling rural poor people that if they want effective programs, they must find more violent ways of making their demands known. "This is a tragic message and it could have have tragic consequences."

Committee Recommendations
To remedy this state of affairs, the commission urged that the Federal Government begin immediately to revamp its entire approach to rural America.

It proposed "a national policy designed to give the residents of rural America equality of opportunity with all other citizens."

This must include equal access to jobs, medical care, housing, education, welfare and all other public services, without regard to race, religion or place of residence."

The commission urged that where private enterprise was not able to provide jobs for all those willing and able to work, then government should become the employer of last resort.

In addition, said the report, there is a desperate need for effective manpower policies for rural areas.

The commission deplors the fact that the richest, most powerful nation in history compels millions of its citizens to engage in aimless wandering in search of jobs and places to live."

The report went on to call for sweeping changes in existing welfare, education, housing and economic development programs.

The commission put no price tag on its recommendations, but conceded that costs will be steep.

"... But the costs will be immeasurably higher if we do not implement them. Over the long pull, the gains to society from wiping out poverty will far exceed the costs. The time for action is indeed now."

The commission based its conclusions on a year's study, including public hearings in Tucson, Memphis and Washington, where testimony was taken from 105 witnesses.

Among the 24 commissioners, in addition to Gov. Breathitt, were John Fischer, former editor of Harpers Magazine; Dr. Vivian W. Henderson, president of Clark College in Atlanta; Dr. James T. Bonnen, professor of agricultural economics at Michigan

State; and Connie B. Gay, president of the Connie B. Gay Broadcasting Co.

Limit to Racial Segregation

By GORDON LINDSAY
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

JOHANNESBURG, Dec. 9 — The plans of those apartheid superfanatics who would like to see all non-whites banned from "white" shops and other businesses have been seriously disrupted—by no less an authority than the Prime Minister, Balthazar J. Vorster.

Vorster told about 400 of his constituents at a recent meeting in Nigel (40 miles southeast of here) that total apartheid in shops had never been the ruling Nationalist Party's policy because it was a "total impossibility."

He was reacting to a questioner who complained that there was "Virtually no apartheid" in South Africa's businesses.

"When we complain about this, we are told that we can take our business elsewhere, and this happens in a white area."

Vorster retorted: "I want to make it very clear that there is no law that says a non-white may not buy at the same place as a white or that a white may not buy the same place as a non-white."

"You can imagine the sort of chaos that would result if such a law were passed."

"There are certain limits to which legislation can go, but one cannot set impossible limits and hope that they can be attained by legislation. I would mislead you if I said that such legislation were possible or probable."

Vorster told his audience to imagine what would happen if a law of this nature were enforced. Any white who was not able to go to a shop would not be able to send his nonwhite servant.

"You can imagine what chaos would be created."

Santoroski Scholarship Fund Planners Make Initial Moves

Initial plans for administration of the Michael Santoroski Memorial Scholarship Fund got underway at the first meeting of the steering committee recently at Ulster County Community College.

Dr. George B. Erbsstein, president of the scholarship committee, is in the process of notifying area high schools of the availability of the scholarship for the 1968 June graduating class.

Amounts and numbers of the scholarships will be determined after all results of the original fund pledges are tallied. Lawrence A. Quilty, chairman of the board of the Santoroski fund, noted that while the goal had been set at $10,000, the fund will remain an open one to which anyone can contribute at any time, even after this amount is realized.

Honors GI

A local bank has agreed to handle the fund insuring a revolving, continuing tribute to the brave young Kingston serviceman for which it is a lasting memorial.

Pfc. Santoroski, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Santoroski of 95 Miller's Lane, died in a hospital in the Philippines Sept. 26 after losing both legs as a result of wounds suffered in Vietnam fighting Sept. 10.

The scholarship fund was started in recognition of his great courage. After he was wounded he wrote words of comfort and encouragement to his family saying it was "God's Will."

Covers Area

The fund is designed to aid those from Ulster, Greene and Northern Dutchess high schools whose former students have died in Vietnam.

Up to date fund reports are expected to be released after the holidays.

Double - Duty Station

SEATTLE (AP) — Thieves and Christmas trees are turning a Seattle gasoline service station lot into a double-duty station for members of Boy Scout Troop No. 15.

The boys are selling the trees in the daytime to earn money for some new camping tents and sleeping in a bunk-rigged bus at night to prevent theft of their merchandise.

The ears of a cricket are found on its front legs.

Toys for Tots Project to Aid County Needy

Toys for Tots Christmas project will start Friday with a radio marathon to collect 10,000 toys and $3,000 for other purchases for the needy children of Ulster County.

This year's campaign will be under the combined direction of the Marine Corps Reserve and radio station WKNY. Richard Rochford, manager of King Chrysler and a major in the Marine Reserve, masterminded the combining of the Marine project which has been going on for 11 years and the station's appeal which started last year under the direction of Bill Williams.

This year's drive will continue

Chichester

CHICHESTER—Herbert Shultis Sr. was taken to the Kingston Hospital early Friday morning by the Shandaken ambulance service.

Mrs. Emma Smith has returned to the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonald, Kingston, after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Osborne and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig of West Hurley have named their son Timothy Charles. He was born Dec. 3 at the Benedictine Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Craig are the paternal grandparents.

A group from the Chichester Wesleyan Methodist Church will be Christmas caroling Christmas Eve in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vorhees and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lane had dinner at Tiso's Restaurant in Mount Tremper to celebrate Mr. Vorhees' birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Merwin and family of Shandaken spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Burton Berryann and family in Lanesville.

Mrs. Eva Umhey and Mrs. Bessie Quick of Phoenicia and Mrs. Herman Quick and daughter Melanie called on Mrs. Jennie Breithaupt and Mrs. Rebecca Riseley at the Lake Hill Rest Home in Lake Hill Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ostrander gave a dinner Thursday evening in honor of their son Robert's birthday. Those present were Miss Cora Robinson of Phoenicia and Robert Ostrander and sons Bobby and Randy.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfgang Adels and children Patti and Mark and Stewart Grant of Ashokan, Glenn Brinkman of Shandaken, Diane Byron of Mount Tremper, Mrs. Edward Lane, Kathy Hemeon, Debbie Ostrander and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kirk and daughter Connie attended the Youth for Christ Roller Rally at Spring Lake, Kingston, Monday evening.

The Wesleyan Methodist Church will hold a Christmas program and party Sunday, Dec. 17, at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moggre gave a party recently at their home here to celebrate their daughter Joyce's 11th birthday. Those present were Karen Sweet, Debbie Ostrander, Cindy Parsons and John Dills.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Walking for pleasure in England during the 18th and 19th centuries required gentlemen to make some curious concessions to prevailing notions of propriety. The World Almanac notes that it was a mark of vulgarity tolerable only in tradesmen to walk too briskly, and it was the custom to carry an umbrella while walking to indicate that one was a gentleman, not a tramp.

Wants Powers Stop Meddling In Middle East

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Tuesday night that if the big powers kept out of the Middle East, Israel could make peace with the Arabs.

"If Israel was confronted with only 80 million Arabs, without interference or confrontation with the big powers," said Dayan, "we would be able to settle our differences."

Dayan, addressing a convention of his Rafi party, disputed U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant's statement that Israel's demand for face-to-face talks with the Arabs was "unrealistic."

"The return to Zion always meant the implementation of unrealistic aims," Dayan said. "It is the main objective of the prolonged struggle ahead of us to turn this 'unrealistic' aim of direct peace talks into reality."

He warned that Israel faces a long struggle to achieve secure borders, full recognition from the Arabs and the solution of the Arab refugee problem.

The Arabs, Dayan said, "are intent on gaining time in the political struggle to rebuild their armies. There is no basic change yet in their nonacceptance of Israel."

In Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said the Arab countries will all tell special U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring the same thing.

The Arabs have "reservations" about the Security Council resolution directing the special envoy to make the rounds of disputants in the June war to seek a settlement.

The Arabs expect Jarring to uphold U.N. resolutions calling for a settlement of the refugee problem and condemning acquisition of territory by force, which the Arabs interpret as calling for unconditional Israeli troop withdrawal from the occupied territories.

Jarring held his first talks Tuesday with Lebanese Foreign Minister Georges Hakim and was to arrive in Israel today. His schedule calls for him to see Jordanian officials Friday and end his first round by spending next Monday and Tuesday in Cairo, according to Al-Ahram.

Warrant Issued In Assault Case

State Police in the area today were looking for a 17-year-old Town of Saugerties youth wanted for questioning in connection with the knife assault on another man shortly before midnight.

Trooper John McMickle said a warrant had been issued on complaint of Austin Davoren, 31, of Route 3, Box 478, Town of Saugerties, who told authorities he was cut on the face, neck, chest and left hand by his assailant during "a family argument."

Davoren, troopers said, was taken to Kingston Hospital and released after treatment. The alleged assault took place in the house where Davoren and the youth reside, according to troopers. The warrant charges second degree assault.

U.S., Six Nations Adopt Gold Protection Measures

LONDON (AP) — The Times of London said today that a new seven-nation gold agreement puts an "ingenious squeeze" on the French government which could force it to support the U.S. dollar with restrictions on gold sales.

To protect the dollar, the Times said the United States and its six partners in the gold pool agreed at a secret meeting in Basel, Switzerland, on Sunday and Monday to ban dealing in future sale or delivery of gold, to ban dealing in gold on credit, and to ban bids on behalf of other central banks which now will have to apply directly to the U.S. Treasury.

Members of the pool are the United States, Britain, West Germany, Italy, Switzerland, the Netherlands and Belgium. France withdrew last June but kept quiet about it until the French government leaked the information in the wake of the

Greene Woman Arrested on Assault Charge

A 21-year-old Greene County woman was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Leeds State Police on a charge of second degree assault after she allegedly punched another woman and knocked her to the ground on Main Street, Cairo.

Trooper David Perry said BCI Investigators Joseph Valicenti and Donald Weise with Trooper Robert Sprague investigated a complaint received at 3:40 p. m. reporting a disturbance in Cairo. Troopers arrested Christine Brink, of Maple Avenue, Acra, for assault and arraigned her before Town Justice George Carl in Catskill.

The accused woman was released pending a hearing at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Dec. 19. Trooper Perry said the defendant allegedly assaulted Mrs. Rose Herring, 33, of Cairo, who was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital suffering a fractured right ankle and possible back injuries she received when she landed on the ground.

Station Wagon Taken

Theft of a 1959 station wagon from Route 9W near Barclay Heights Tuesday night, was under investigation by State Police. Trooper John McMickle said the vehicle is owned by Robert Braumaghi of Saugerties. Registration of the brown and white station wagon was listed as 3664-GR according to authorities.

Escapes Injury

Egbert Rose Jr., of RD 2, Hudson, escaped injury Tuesday when his car skidded on ice and slid off Route 385 in the Town of Catskill, according to Leeds State Trooper David Perry. Rose was cited by Trooper W. E. Fitzmaurice for a speeding violation. Perry said devaluation of the pound and added to the brief gold rush which developed then.

Help to Protect

The new measures aim to protect official gold reserves from speculators during the readjustment of the international monetary system in the wake of the devaluation of the pound. But the measures amount to massive support for the dollar since they should help to protect the U.S. gold reserve.

The Times said application of the Basel agreement to the gold markets of the seven nations would naturally divert gold speculators to other centers, "of which Paris is the most natural and convenient."

"If the French authorities refuse to meet (the demand)," the paper continued, "they will be obliged to float the French franc either down against gold or up against the dollar.

Will Damage Prestige

"The first would gravely damage Gen. De Gaulle's prestige, and the second would weaken the international competitiveness of the whole French economy, which is already highly suspect."

"Alternatively, the French authorities will be compelled to apply precisely the same restrictions to gold sales as the gold pool countries. In that case they will be implicated in supporting the dollar as much as the other seven countries without even the consolation of a voice in the councils of the gold pool."

The paper also said black markets in gold are likely to develop in the Middle and Far East.

Farm Bureau Charges

Resnick Attacks 'Publicity'

An official of the American Farm Bureau has termed Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's attacks on the Bureau this summer "a self-serving publicity campaign in seeking a senatorial seat."

Roger Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the Farm Bureau, speaking at the Bureau's national convention in Chicago, said Resnick's announcement of his (Resnick's) senatorial ambitions "explained the whole headline hunting exercise by this multi-millionaire industrial tycoon from the Catskills of New York State."

Resnick, two-term congressman from the 28th District, announced his candidacy in New York City several weeks ago for the senatorial seat now held by Republican Jacob K. Javits. Beginning in June, Resnick held a series of hearings, including congressional hearings perity as the main causes leading the small farmer to poverty. Leyton notes: "So many small farms, already taxed to the hilt, are near profitable resorts and other real estate values. Naturally tax values rise and the farmer, unable to meet the new demands, is wiped out."

Funds Reinvested

What extra funds small farmers are able to save frequently is reinvested in the dying farm. Leyton recalls, "I knew a boy who grew up on a small farm. By working at odd jobs he managed to save a considerable sum of money."

"Do you think he used that money to go to college? Or even to purchase a car? He did not. The lad bought three cows, determined to hold and work the farm his father had. But you see, the farm had failed years ago," he concluded.

Thus tradition stands as a gap between an honorable heritage and current modern life. Efforts to bridge the gap are resisted. The children quit school. Technical training is lacking. And poverty awaits around the corner.

With poverty comes the appendages — growing stomachs, disease, no rent money, bills, despair and bitterness. Poverty has become the small farmer's way of life.

Jobs Gone

Equally destitute are the traditional tradesmen, once employed by the railroads and river services, whose jobs no longer exist. It would be repetitious to recount their plight.

Suffice it to say, the railroads are no more the bastion of travel they once were, and the river has practically ceased to exist as a commercial route, save for cement and oil tankers.

Most of these people are in transition. Gradually the former laborer makes his way south, through Orange and Rockland Counties, and into the urban ghettos of lost hope. Those who remain suffer the familiar humiliations of poverty. Few escape.

Ironically, society has bushwhacked the very persons who gave it affluence.

Guilty Plea Entered in County Court

The jury trial of Frank Lee Peterson of Ellenville ended in county court Tuesday when he entered a plea of guilty to a lesser charge before County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Peterson pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted criminally receiving stolen property as a felony. He was originally charged in the indictment for criminally receiving stolen property as a felony and criminally concealing and withholding stolen and wrongfully acquired property as a felony.

Sentencing has been set for Wednesday, Dec. 20 at 11 a. m. The case involved a color TV set reportedly taken from the Telecast Corp. office on Canal Street, Ellenville.

Marshall Lipton was assigned by the court to appear for Peterson and Albert I. Lonstein appears for the district attorney's office.

Thieves Clean Up

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Thieves entered a freight car left on a siding in suburban Colonie and made off with 12 washers and 12 dryers valued at $3,300, police said Tuesday. The appliances were part of a shipment earmarked for Macy's Department store in the Colonie Center.

SUNY Students At Albany to Fast for India

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than 2,500 undergraduates at State University unit here will hold a "Food Fast for India" Friday by passing up dinner at the university cafeteria. University officials will take the 75 cents each for pre-paid dinners and send the total of $1,921 to the United Nations International Relief Fund.

During a similar effort last May, 1,751 students passed up their dinner at the cafeteria and $1,313 was sent to India. U.N. officials said the money was sufficient to provide school lunches for 4,000 Indian children for one month.

Wants Powers Stop Meddling In Middle East

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Tuesday night that if the big powers kept out of the Middle East, Israel could make peace with the Arabs.

"If Israel was confronted with only 80 million Arabs, without interference or confrontation with the big powers," said Dayan, "we would be able to settle our differences."

Dayan, addressing a convention of his Rafi party, disputed U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant's statement that Israel's demand for face-to-face talks with the Arabs was "unrealistic."

"The return to Zion always meant the implementation of unrealistic aims," Dayan said. "It is the main objective of the prolonged struggle ahead of us to turn this 'unrealistic' aim of the struggle to Israel faces."

He warned that Israel faces a long struggle to achieve secure borders, full recognition from the Arabs and the solution of the Arab refugee problem.

The Arabs, Dayan said, "are intent on gaining time in the political struggle to rebuild their armies. There is no basic change yet in their nonacceptance of Israel."

In Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said the Arab countries will all tell special U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring the same thing:

The Arabs have "reservations" about the Security Council resolution directing the special envoy to make the rounds of disputants in the June war to seek a settlement.

The Arabs expect Jarring to uphold U.N. resolutions calling for a settlement of the refugee problem and condemning acquisition of territory by force, which the Arabs interpret as calling for unconditional Israeli troop withdrawal from the occupied territories.

Jarring held his first talks Tuesday with Lebanese Foreign Minister Georges Hakim and was to arrive in Israel today.

His schedule calls for him to see Jordanian officials Friday and then end his first round by spending next Monday and Tuesday in Cairo, according to Al-Ahram.

Warrant Issued In Assault Case

State Police in the area today were looking for a 17-year-old Town of Saugerties youth wanted for questioning in connection with the knife assault on another man shortly before midnight.

Trooper John McMickle said a warrant had been issued on complaint of Austin Davoren, 31, of Route 3, Box 478, Town of Saugerties, who told authorities he was cut on the face, neck, chest and left hand by his assailant during "a family argument."

Davoren, troopers said, was taken to Kingston Hospital and released after treatment. The alleged assault took place in the house where Davoren and the youth reside, according to troopers. The warrant charges second degree assault.

U.S., Six Nations Adopt Gold Protection Measures

LONDON (AP) — The Times of London said today that a new seven-nation gold agreement puts an "ingenious squeeze" on the French government which could force it to support the U.S. dollar with restrictions on gold sales.

To protect the dollar, the Times said the United States and its six partners in the gold pool agreed at a secret meeting in Basel, Switzerland, on Sunday and Monday to ban dealing in future sale or delivery of gold, to ban dealing in gold on credit, and to ban bids on behalf of other central banks which now will have to apply directly to the U.S. Treasury.

Members of the pool are the United States, Britain, West Germany, Italy, Switzerland, the Netherlands and Belgium. France withdrew last June but kept quiet about it until the French government leaked the information in the wake of the Arab refugee problem.

Greene Woman Arrested on Assault Charge

A 21-year-old Greene County woman was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Leeds State Police on a charge of second degree assault after she allegedly punched another woman and knocked her to the ground on Main Street, Cairo.

Trooper David Perry said BCI Investigators Joseph Vailcenti and Donald Weise with Trooper Robert Sprague investigated a complaint received at 3:40 p. m. reporting a disturbance in Cairo. Troopers arrested Christine Brink, of Maple Avenue, Acra, for assault and arraigned her before Town Justice George Carl in Catskill.

The accused woman was released pending a hearing at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Dec. 19. Trooper Perry said the defendant allegedly assaulted Mrs. Rose Herring, 33, of Cairo, who was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital suffering a fractured right ankle and possible back injuries she received when she landed on the ground.

Station Wagon Taken
Theft of a 1959 station wagon from Route 9W near Barclay Heights Tuesday night, was under investigation by State Police. Trooper John McMickle said the vehicle is owned by Robert Braumaghin of Saugerties. Registration of the brown and white station wagon was listed as 3664-GR, according to authorities.

Escapes Injury
Egbert Rose Jr., of RD 2, Hudson, escaped injury Tuesday when his car skidded on ice and slid off Route 385 in the Town of Catskill, according to Leeds State Trooper David Perry. Rose was cited by troopers. The warrant charges second degree assault.

Dayan, troopers said, was taken to Kingston Hospital and released after treatment. The alleged assault took place in the house where Davoren and the youth reside, according to troopers. The warrant charges second degree assault.

devaluation of the pound and added to the brief gold rush which developed then.

Help to Protect
The new measures aim to protect official gold reserves from speculators during the readjustment of the international monetary system in the wake of the devaluation of the pound. But the measures amount to massive support for the dollar since they should help to protect the U.S. gold reserve.

The Times said application of the Basel agreement to the gold markets of the seven nations would naturally divert gold speculators to other centers, of which Paris is the most natural and convenient.

"If the French authorities refuse to meet (the demand)," the paper continued, "they will be obliged to float the French franc either down against gold or up against the dollar."

Will Damage Prestige
"The first would gravely damage Gen. De Gaulle's prestige, and the second would weaken the international competitiveness of the whole French economy, which is already highly suspect."

"Alternatively, the French authorities will be compelled to apply precisely the same restrictions to gold sales as the gold pool countries. In that case they will be implicated in supporting the dollar as much as the other seven countries without even the consolation of a voice in the councils of the gold pool."

The paper also said black markets in gold are likely to develop in the Middle and Far East.

Farm Bureau Charges
An official of the American Farm Bureau has termed Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's attacks on the Bureau this summer which made national headlines, "a self-serving publicity campaign in seeking a senatorial seat."

Roger Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the Farm Bureau, speaking at the Bureau's national convention in Chicago, said Resnick's announcement of his (Resnick's) senatorial ambitions "explained the whole headline hunting exercise by this multi-millionaire industrial tycoon from the Catskills of New York State."

Resnick, two-term congressman from the 28th District, announced his candidacy in New York City several weeks ago for the senatorial seat now held by Republican Jacob K. Javits. Beginning in June, Resnick held a series of hearings, including congressional hearings in which he attacked the Farm Bureau. Resnick claimed the Bureau was "a giant interlocking nationwide combine of insurance companies and other businesses not primarily interested in the welfare of the farmer."

Fleming also intimated in his speech before 3,000 Bureau members in the Conrad Hilton Hotel that the Johnson administration and organized labor had "encouraged the vendetta by Resnick."

Took Three Tries To Move Out Percy
SAIGON (AP)—It took three tries but young Dennis Smith finally got Sen. Charles H. Percy headed away from the Viet Cong after Communist mortars started landing around them Tuesday.

Just a Miracle
"It was a miracle. I don't understand why we weren't killed or at least wounded," said Smith, 28, a U.S. refugee official from Milton, Mass., who has been in South Vietnam for seven months.

The Communists opened up with mortars and small arms during an unscheduled, unescorted visit by Percy, his wife and six others to the deserted village of Dakson, 60 miles north of Saigon near the Cambodian border, which the Viet Cong devastated last week.

Mrs. Percy had remained in their chartered helicopter with the two crewmen while the other five men inspected the village. The helicopter took off to get help as soon as the firing started.

"After the first mortar hit," said Smith, "we all hit the ground. I was going to get up, but then the second one hit about 15 feet away."

"We were huddled all together. I got up and said 'Head to the river.' We were in a cleared strip almost as big as a football field that had been burned out by the earlier Viet Cong attack on the village. Obviously they were zeroed in on us. Toward the river there were huts and trees that would offer some protection."

"The last sweat was to figure out how to flag the chartered helicopter down. I didn't want to stand up and wave. I took my handkerchief, tied it to the barrel of my rifle and crawled out 15 to 20 yards to the clearing. I lay on my back and waved the rifle up for two or three minutes. The helicopter came down almost right where we were."

Golden Agers Party
The Ulster County Women's Republican Club will hold its annual Christmas party for Golden Agers in the Governor Clinton Hotel lounge on Thursday at 8 p. m.

Nomination and election of officers are on the agenda, after which Yule readings by club members, Mrs. Raymond LeFever, Mrs. Charles Lockwood, William Davidson, son of Mrs. Robert Davidson, will take place.

The "Collegiates," a local group of girls will entertain with several musical selections. Gifts will be distributed to each Golden Ager and refreshments will be served.

The Golden Agers have been guests of the Club for more than 15 years.

Watch for Disease
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State agriculture officials and veterinarians were bracing today to deal swiftly with any sign that foot-and-mouth disease, now afflicting cattle in England, had been carried to New York State.

Dr. Grant S. Kaley, director of the Agriculture Department's Division of Animal Industry, said Tuesday there was a "very real danger that the virus will sooner or later be carried to these shores."

Kaley said all practicing veterinarians in the state had been directed to report immediately any condition that smacks of hoof-and-mouth disease. He said equipment needed to stem an outbreak was being collected and personnel were being instructed.

The dread disease causes blisters and fever and generally debilitates animals.

Jobs Gone
Equally destitute are the traditional tradesmen, once employed by the railroads and river services whose jobs no longer exist. It would be repetitive to recount their plight.

Suffice it to say, the railroads are no more the bastion of travel they once were, and the river has practically ceased to exist as a commercial route, save for cement and oil tankers.

Most of these people are in transition. Gradually the former laborer makes his way south, through Orange and Rockland Counties, and into the urban ghettos of lost hope. Those who remain suffer the familiar humiliations of poverty. Few escape.

Ironically, society has bushwhacked the very persons who gave it affluence.

Tokyo Landmark

Famed Imperial Hotel Giving Way to Modern 17-Story Office Building

By BOB POOS

Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Through 44 years, war and quake failed to destroy the Imperial Hotel. Now tough little Japanese workmen in hard hats and split-toed boots are doing the job with swift efficiency.

Architects, politicians and people who loved the place tried to save the old section of the Imperial, but in vain. Today the work of architect Frank Lloyd Wright is little more than a hollow shell of broken stone and windowsills.

The three-story building's 300 rooms, most of them drafty, dark and with wavy floors from a sagging understructure, will be replaced by a 17-story building of 1,000 rooms plus banquet halls, parking areas and other more modern facilities.

Even so, there is still an Imperial Hotel. The new wing, next door, continues to operate as if nothing were happening. Guests come and go, the bars and ballrooms are full of world travelers, conventioners and sightseers. This section of the Imperial will remain unchanged.

Efforts Failed

Various efforts to preserve the old Imperial, or at least part of it, came to naught. Even the efforts of Olvanna Lloyd Wright, widow of the architect, were to no avail.

Visitors who stayed there were not all fans. One wrote "My room was pretty drab and dark." And the place was a confusing maze of hallways and passages in which it was easy to get lost.

It was mainly sentimentalists who sought to save the Imperial. But the Japanese, particularly Japanese businessmen, are practical. The old, even if it is a storied landmark, must go, if it stands in the way of profitable progress.

The Imperial had an Aztec-oriental appearance. It became famous quickly. It was completed Aug. 31, 1923. The next day it withstood an earthquake that killed 143,000 people and leveled many of Tokyo's major buildings.

It survived because of Wright's then revolutionary idea of using a "floating foundation." His workmen drilled holes in the ground, filled them with concrete and then placed the hotel's foundation on these underground stilts.

But as the years went by the stilts sank in search of bedrock. Portions of the floor this year sagged as much as three feet. This caused drafty windows and walls. And the old hotel grew a bit grimy and worn with age.

Yet there was something about the atmosphere that caused longtime residents to sigh when they learned they must move.

One of them, Mrs. Lee Dillworth, a newspaper society columnist here, said: "It was hard to define. I guess you could call it a simple dignity. I came to know and love all the staff who worked in the area where I lived. We had a wonderful warm personal relationship."

Many Greats

Many believe Gen. Douglas

MacArthur was the first American to visit the Imperial after the Japanese surrender in 1945. He wasn't. That honor fell to a group of rather grubby war correspondents who stole a train and raced ahead to Tokyo after landing with the first soldiers to come ashore.

Clad in combat fatigues, boots and helmets, they clumped into the lobby and took over. Some

Two Ulster County Community College students and a former UCCC student have received scholarships offered by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Weinman, formerly of Lake Katrine.

The two UCCC students are Kenneth Lustig, Lake Katrine, a second semester sophomore in liberal arts, and Rochelle Falvey, 268 Main Street, a second semester sophomore in medical technology. Michael Wu, a former UCCC student in liberal arts is now a student at the University of Illinois.

"We are pleased to have scholarships from individual donors to provide financial support and encouragement to worthy students of the college," said George B. Erbstein, president.

Wu, formerly a resident of Hong Kong, lived in Bearsville while attending UCCC.

Olive Board Considers Town Matters

Town matters were discussed at the December meeting of the Town of Olive board which was attended by 25 persons.

Bills in the amount of $1,861.97 of general fund, and $2,033.34 of highway fund were approved for payment.

A copy of a letter from the Tongore Garden Club, addressed to the State Highway Department was read relative to the hazardous conditions caused by construction of Route 28 to adjoining properties along the westerly side of this route in Boiceville. Correspondence was received informing the Garden Club that this design of state properties and approaches has been adopted throughout the state as a matter of state policy.

Mrs. Dorothy Adsit, who was appointed dog enumerator, replacing Frank Neri, who had resigned, reported completion of survey resulting in a total of 370 dogs in the town.

Marcel Maier, road supervisor, was authorized to prepare specifications and advertise for bids on a rubber tired front end loader with accessories.

A special committee consisting of Justice Frank Carle, Councilman Herbert Wells, and Justice Bradford Kelder was appointed for the purpose of investigating application for a special census to be taken of the town for 1968.

Permission was granted town officials to attend Association of Town meetings, Feb. 5, 6, 7, in New York City.

Krumville
Plan Christmas
Program Dec. 24

KRUMVILLE — Sunday, Dec. 24 at 9:30 a.m. at the regular church service, the Sunday school of the Krumville Reformed Church will hold its annual Christmas program.

Participating will be Dale and Patti Barringer, Andrea Bowden, Alicia, Deke, Griff, Kim and Sharon Collins, Taffy Franklin, Harold and Martin Knapp, Candy McElroy, Sue Ellen Miller, Carol and Nancy Merritt, Alan Sutton and Marilyn, Barbara, David and John Hansor.

Organist will be Claire Collins and the Rev. George Woods of Saugerties will officiate.

Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. Arthur Sutton of Grassy Ridge Road, Krumville, has requested everyone who is interested to attend. Santa Claus will be there, too.

The children of the Sunday school will go caroling Saturday, Dec. 23. They will meet at the church at 6:30 p.m. Anyone with a car or a good voice is welcome to join the children.

At 10:30 a.m. Dec. 16 and 23, rehearsals will be held in the church.

Thomas Nast (1840-1902), American political cartoonist, is credited with starting the present-day image of Santa Claus.

Tokyo Landmark

Famed Imperial Hotel Giving Way to Modern 17-Story Office Building

By BOB POOS
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — Through 44 years, war and quake failed to destroy the Imperial Hotel. Now, little Japanese workmen and hats and split-toed boots doing the job with swift efficiency.

Architects, politicians and people who loved the place tried to save the old section of the hotel, but in vain. Today the work of architect Frank Lloyd Wright is little more than a hollow shell of broken stone and windowsills.

The three-story building's 300 rooms, most of them drafty, dark and with wavy floors from a sagging understructure, will be replaced by a 17-story building of 1,000 rooms plus banquet halls, parking areas and other modern facilities.

Even so, there is still an Imperial Hotel. The new wing, next door, continues to operate as if nothing were happening. Guests come and go, the bars and ballrooms are full of world travelers, conventioners and sightseers. This section of the Imperial will remain unchanged.

Efforts Failed
Various efforts to preserve the old Imperial, or at least part of it, came to naught. Even the efforts of Olgivanna Lloyd Wright, widow of the architect, were to no avail.

Visitors who stayed there were not all fans. One wrote "My room was pretty drab and dark." And the place was a confusing maze of hallways and passages in which it was easy to get lost.

It was mainly sentimentalists who sought to save the Imperial. But the Japanese, particularly Japanese businessmen, are practical. The old, even if it is a storied landmark, must go, if it stands in the way of profitable progress.

The Imperial had an Aztec-oriental appearance. It became famous quickly. It was completed Aug. 31, 1923. The next day it withstood an earthquake that killed 143,000 people and leveled many of Tokyo's major buildings.

It survived because of Wright's then revolutionary idea of using a "floating foundation." His workmen drilled holes in the ground, filled them with concrete and then placed the hotel's foundation on these underground stilts.

But as the years went by the stilts sank in search of bedrock. Portions of the floor this year sagged as much as three feet. This caused drafty windows and walls. And the old hotel grew a bit grimy and worn with age.

Yet there was something about the atmosphere that caused longtime residents to sigh when they learned they must move.

One of them, Mrs. Lee Dillworth, a newspaper society columnist here, said: "It was hard to define. I guess you could call it a simple dignity. I came to know and love all the staff who worked in the area where I lived. We had a wonderful warm personal relationship."

Many Greats
Besides the regulars, the hotel had sheltered legions of famous guests, among them Babe Ruth, Marilyn Monroe, Bob Hope, Charlie Chaplin Vice President Alben Barkley and Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Many believe Gen. Douglas MacArthur was the first American to visit the Imperial after the Japanese surrender in 1945. He wasn't. That honor fell to a group of rather grubby war correspondents who stole a train and raced ahead to Tokyo after landing with the first soldiers to come ashore.

Clad in combat fatigues, boots and helmets, they clumped into the lobby and took over. Some of them fell exhausted on luxurious beds. They welcomed his first acts as the conqueror of MacArthur when he showed up Japan.

Ellenville Hospital Takes Loss in Stride

A power failure in the main electric system at the Ellenville Community Hospital at 2 a. m. today, apparently caused no unusual incident or interruption in normal schedules. It was reported that a truck hooked onto a line snapping it and shutting off the main power line after fuses blew out. The identity of the truck or its driver was not available. A spokesman at the hospital said, the emergency diesel generator automatically switched over instantly and patients in the hospital apparently knew nothing about the temporary power failure on the main system.

Central Hudson Gas & Electric linemen were dispatched to the scene and made repairs and normal service was restored at about 2:55 a. m.

School Employees Vote

Elections were conducted Tuesday by the American Arbitration Association to determine which union organization should represent two groups of employees in the Kingston School District Consolidated for collective negotiating.

Results of the election among the Custodial and Cafeteria Personnel in the school system showed no majority and a run-off election was scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 19. This election will be conducted in the same manner as yesterday's balloting under the supervision of the AAA.

Results of the election among Secretarial and Administrative Support Personnel showed that group selected the Educational Secretaries Kingston Area as its bargaining agent. The vote in this group was ESKA 65, no bargaining agent 14, one blank vote, total vote 80.

Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent for business management in the Kingston School District, reported the vote of the Custodial and Cafeteria Personnel was—Teamsters Local 445-61 votes; Civil Service Employees' Association—63 votes; no representation—17 votes, a total of 141 votes.

Shaw said that upon receipt of certification of yesterday's election from the AAA, the Board of Education will recognize ESKA as the bargaining agent for the Secretarial and Administrative Support Personnel in collective negotiating.

Because the balloting yesterday showed no majority for either union in voting by Custodial and Cafeteria Personnel, a run-off election was scheduled for Tuesday. It will be conducted in the same manner as yesterday's election under the direction of the AAA.

Last October the teachers in the Kingston School District by a small margin voted to have the Kingston Teachers' Federation as their exclusive bargaining agent in collective negotiating.

Polling places for yesterday's voting were in the Kingston High School field house, John F. Kennedy School gymnasium, George Washington School central corridor, Chambers School central corridor and the library at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School. After the polls closed at 4 p. m. the ballot boxes were sealed and taken to the George Washington School cafeteria for tallying. Voting was by secret paper ballot.

UAW, General Motors

Working on Contract

DETROIT (AP) — With a union deadline less than 48 hours away, bargainers for the United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. worked today on a new contract covering 380,000 union members.

If national contract bargaining is not completed by Thursday, the union says it will set a combined national and local strike deadline for early January. If the national agreement is wrapped up, however, the union will set a deadline for local contracts for later in January.

Bargainers met for more than 10 hours Tuesday in subcommittees and main table sessions. About 5,200 workers were idled Tuesday by a one-day walkout over local contract issues at GM's Delco Radio Division plant in Kokomo, Ind.

GM is expected to go along with the provisions of contracts which over a three-year period will give Ford workers and 103,000 Chrysler employees roughly $1 an hour more in wages and fringe benefits above regular jobs before attending to the old Big Three level of $4.70, union duties.

One problem peculiar to GM which could cause trouble is a company requirement that devote full time to union duties UAW shop committeemen work as they may at Ford and Chrysler at least one hour a day at their plant.

How to Attract New Industry Is Film by Chamber

Area Businessmen who are interested in seeing new business brought into Ulster County are invited to attend one of four showings of a film concerning industrial development tomorrow beginning at 8:30 a. m. The film is sponsored by the Business Development Committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and will be shown in the board room of The First Federal Savings & Loan Association at 235 Fair Street.

Douglas Aircraft Corporation produced the film, A Plan for Appalachia, to demonstrate the factors and forces which influenced their establishment of a series of plants throughout the hill country of southeastern United States. The film is professionally produced and is narrated by Tennessee Ernie Ford, well known radio, TV and recording personality. The sound color presentation talks to the point of what a firm looks for in locating a new plant and what industry-seeking communities are prepared to offer to attract new industry.

Business Development Committee chairman, Alexander McKittrick, executive vice president of The First Federal Savings & Loan Association, announced that the bank's parking lot could be used by those wishing to view the film. He suggested that interested persons use the outside entrance just to the left of the entrance to the bank lobby. The board room is at the rear of the second floor. The film will be shown at 8:30 a. m., 11:30 a. m., 12:30 p. m. and 4:15 p. m. McKittrick indicated interested resident and/or businessmen may attend such a program.

Quartz is the hardest mineral, formed by two of the world's most abundant elements—silicon and oxygen.

Rolison Backs Watchdog Bill

State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. (R-38), said today that once again he intended to co-sponsor legislation designed to set up a seven-member review board within the New York State Education Department.

Senator Rolison said, "This board would have the responsibility of reviewing any order or decision of the commissioner of education and would provide a means of appeal to all parents and taxpayers who have no means of appeal at the present time."

"No public official in the state of New York has such a wide-sweep of binding power as the commissioner of education and even recent court decisions have said that the legislature has given the commissioner all but absolute power to make public policy and administrative decisions in the field of education."

"In my view and in the view of many of my colleagues, this is wrong. The present Spackenkil School District problem is only one illustration of the tremendous power vested in the commissioner of education. I intend to do all I possibly can to have this bill enacted into law, which I firmly believe will be of great benefit to the people of the state. It is time that the commissioner should no longer be permitted to sit in an isolated position from which he is permitted to pronounce unreviewable conclusions, devoid of any evidentiary support."

Albany Medical Gives Time Off To Blood Donors

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Albany Medical Center Hospital is fostering the spirit of holiday giving by giving its 2,000 employees time off with pay in exchange for donations of blood.

A hospital spokesman said each employee giving one pint of blood to the Red Cross would be allowed two to three hours off.

Blood supplies in the area are low.

Upstate GOP Leader May Get Thruway Post

By CHARLES DUMAS ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — James R. (Ray) Lawley, the Buffalo-area Republican leader, is reported today to be the likely choice for appointment to a coveted seat on the State Thruway Authority.

Highly placed sources said that Lawley had emerged as the strongest of many contenders for the post and that, barring a switch in signals, Gov. Rockefeller could be expected to appoint him within the next few weeks.

The job now is held by an-wise all are free to devote most of their time to private commercial pursuits.

Lawley, 59, operates an insurance agency in Buffalo. He has been Erie County GOP chairman since January 1966 and, as such, an active supporter of Rockefeller. During the governor's uphill battle for re-election last year, Lawley served as co-ordinator of Rockefeller's campaign activities in Western New York.

Another vacancy on the Thruway Authority was awarded earlier this year to Rockefeller's Long Island campaign coordinator, former Assemblyman Edwin J. Fehrenbach of Bethpage. The third member and chairman — is R. Burdell Bixby, of Hudson, who was Gov. DeWey's secretary.

The sources said Rockefeller had been besieged by applications for the Thruway post from Republicans who believed they had a claim for patronage recognition.

Other Candidates

Among those given strongest consideration as possible alternatives to Lawley were former Assemblymen Robert M. Quigley of Phelps, Ontario County, and A. Bruce Manley of Fredonia, Chautauque County.

Quigley was the 1966 campaign coordinator for the Finger Lakes and Southern Tier regions. He served as a delegate to the recent State Constitutional Convention.

Manley, a former Republican whip in the Assembly, campaigned hard in his home area

Ulster Hose Urges Safe Yule Season

"Fire never takes a holiday," said a spokesman for Ulster Hose Co. 5 today as he recalled that during the 1966 Christmas season the fire units in that district responded to alarms for fires in six homes.

The fire company spokesman advised residents to flame proof their Christmas trees with a solution of nine ounces of Borax and four ounces of boric acid thoroughly dissolved in a gallon of water and generously sprayed on the tree, using any form of sprayer.

Make a fresh cut at least one inch from the butt of the tree to preserve the tree, as the original cut is usually too gummed to permit the tree trunk to absorb the water.

Split the butt of the tree crosswise with a sharp axe or saw to allow more water to enter the trunk, and use a reservoir tree holder filled with water at all times.

The fire unit spokesman advised residents to make a safety check of the tree after it is decorated and be sure it is placed in a cool part of the room, away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces.

"Do not block an exit with the tree and make sure the strings of lights are in good condition and that tinsel is clear of all light sockets. A switch to turn on and off the lights should be placed a safe distance from the tree," it was advised.

Ulster Hose Co. has made arrangements to have Santa Claus make his annual tour of the fire district Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 16 and 17.

Because of the lack of snow the trip by Santa will be made by fire truck starting at 9 a. m. each day, according to Lawrence Bigando of the fire company.

"PLAYTAPE" SOLID STATE
TAPE CARTRIDGE PLAYER

Light-weight, transistorized; plays wherever you want, operates anywhere. Easy to operate—insert a cartridge to play, pull it out to stop. Plays pre-recorded cartridges of your favorite artists.

Yes. 99<sup>95</sup>

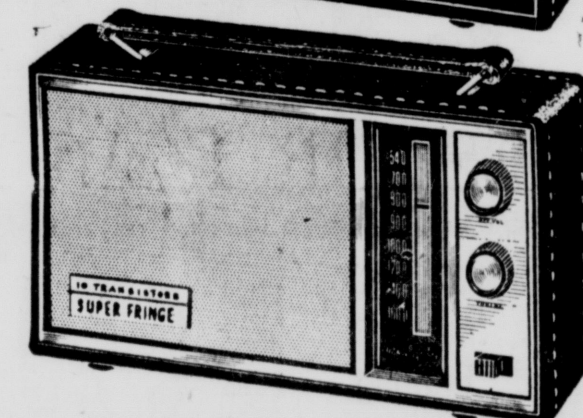

Like a heavyweight, the Keynote's outstanding solid state circuitry assures rich hi-fidelity sound in voice or music. But because it plays two ways—on batteries as well as AC—it can go places like a heavier model can't. Other heavyweight-type features include easy pushbutton operation, dynamic remote control mike, capstan drive, tone control, digital counter, VU-meter, and battery strength indicator. But how many heavyweights can you name with Automatic Level Control? (Great for distortion-free party and group conversation recordings.) 3¾ and 1½ IPS. Up to 5" tape reels. Complete with accessories...optional foot switch and attach-type carrying case. Perfect for business or fun. Price? Far from heavy. Model 6464.

If this tape recorder proves defective within 120 days, we will replace it with a new one, instantly, free.

Solon Wins Fight To Ban Nepotism

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Iowa congressman has won his six-year fight for passage of legislation to ban nepotism in the federal government—from the smallest post office to Congress and the White House.

Rep. Neal Smith, a Democrat serving his fifth term, says the power of federal officials including judges to hire relatives or get jobs for them in other federal agencies is unfair to other jobseekers.

Questions Worth

"I don't think the government gets its money's worth when you have that sort of thing," Smith said in an interview.

"There are exceptions—some of these relatives work hard—but the bad overcomes the good."

Smith's antinepotism proposal was a rider to a bill raising the pay of federal workers and hiking postal rates. Congress passed the measure Tuesday and sent it to President Johnson, who's expected to sign it.

The measure will not affect relatives already working for congressmen and other officials.

The 47-year-old Smith's strategy in getting his rider through reflected an absence of enthusiasm for it in a Congress that, according to a recent Associated Press survey, includes some 50 members with relatives on their payrolls.

After it appeared his plan would die quietly in committee, he proposed it as a rider during routine debate on the postal-pay bill. Only about 80 of the 434 House members were on the floor and it went through.

Smith said some absent opponents of the plan weren't happy when they found out what he did. "But if they were interested in amendments they should have been there," he added.

Once the rider was in the bill, congressional sources said, it would have been embarrassing for any member to fight it.

"About half the relatives working in Congress do their work; half don't earn their pay," Smith said.

Abuse Is Concern

But the Iowa Democrat said his main concern was "wide-spread abuse" in the hiring of relatives by postmasters in small towns. In Iowa alone, he said, 111 postmasters have relatives on their payrolls.

"I don't know how many thousands of relatives there are in post offices nationwide," he said.

He said many people don't even apply for jobs in small post offices because everyone assumes the postmasters' relatives will get any job that opens up.

Residents Show Faith, Back Ex-Convict

By PEGGY SIMPSON

Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The man who was a Texas lumber town's only doctor for more than five months—until jailed as an ex-convict imposter last week—says he is astonished at the way townspeople have rallied around him.

"I'm amazed by these people, by their faith in me and their desire to help," said Freddie Brant, alias Dr. Reid L. Brown. He referred to the residents of Groveton, who have circulated a petition urging lenience in prosecuting Brant on perjury and forgery charges. They also have talked of raising money to send him to medical school so he can become a legitimate physician.

"I wouldn't be accepted by any medical school because of my prison record," the crewcut Brant, 44, said at a news conference Tuesday in the office of his lawyer, Emmett Colvin. He posted $10,000 bond at Kaufman, Tex., earlier in the day.

"I'd rather they'd donate any money they collect to the hospital fund," he said.

During his stay at Groveton in eastern Texas, he helped organize a drive for a hospital in the town of 1,200. The nearest doctor was more than 30 miles distant before Brant moved into an abandoned clinic in July.

Brant said he'd like to return to Groveton when free of his legal entanglements—as an X-ray or laboratory technician, for which he is qualified, rather than as a make-believe physician.

The charges stem from his posing as Dr. Reid L. Brown from 1964 to last May at Terrell State Hospital in Terrell, Tex., where he worked as a physician taking psychiatric training. He cosigned more than 100 certificates of commitment for patients.

His unmasking began two weeks ago when a Shreveport, La., drug firm received Brant's order for cold pills and recalled another customer of the same name in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Company officials queried the real Dr. Brown, for whom Brant worked in Chattanooga for four years as a lab technician. Brown alerted Texas medical authorities.

the discount rate to 8 per cent.

This situation caused almost immediate repercussions in the United States. The Federal Reserve Banks increased the basic discount rate by 1/2 of 1 per cent a year. And the 6,100 commercial banks in America that enjoy the borrowing facilities at the Federal Reserve Banks had to pay more for their money. In turn, the commercial banks here marked their customer loans up.

But the big billion-dollar banks in the United States from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, with large demand deposits, will benefit from this international action.

Consider, for instance, the prominent New York City banks. New York is the money center of the world. And here are several giant commercial banks, each of which carries billions of demand deposits.

Now demand deposits earn no interest. Legislation prevents that. And in a central reserve city like New York, a commercial bank today must carry a 16 1/2 per cent reserve account with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York City.

In other words, on every $1 billion of demand deposits, a commercial bank must carry a reserve of $165 million. That leaves $835 million that can be loaned to their customer borrowers.

And when even $800 million earns (under world money conditions) 1/2 of 1 per cent more a year, the increase in revenue is a whopping $4 million annually on each $1 billion of demand deposits.

I look for a bull market in bank stocks next year. By July 1, 1968, there is likely to be prominent coverage in the financial pages of newspapers from coast to coast of the good earnings and extra dividends of these billion-dollar demand-deposit institutions.

Most of the stocks of the banks are unlisted. They are bought and sold at net prices (no commission charges) by the big firms which carry substantial inventories of the bank equities in which they specialize.

The attractiveness of bank shares as stable and growth investments has appealed to me ever since I worked for a top-ranking international institution.

And very recently I borrowed a bundle of money which was used to buy a substantial block of my favorite bank equity. The interest on that loan is up 1/2 of 1 per cent and the price of the stock is up $5 a share and, hopefully, headed much higher.

The stock of a billion-dollar demand-deposit bank belongs in every well-diversified portfolio.

Solon Wins Fight To Ban Nepotism

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Iowa congressman has won his six-year fight for passage of legislation to ban nepotism in the federal government—from the smallest post office to Congress and the White House.

Rep. Neal Smith, a Democrat serving his fifth term, says the power of federal officials including judges to hire relatives or get jobs for them in other federal agencies is unfair to other jobseekers.

Questions Worth

"I don't think the government gets its money's worth when you have that sort of thing," Smith said in an interview. "There are exceptions—some of these relatives work hard—but the bad overcomes the good."

Smith's antinepotism proposal was a rider to a bill raising the pay of federal workers and hiking postal rates. Congress passed the measure Tuesday and sent it to President Johnson, who's expected to sign it.

The measure will not affect relatives already working for congressmen and other officials.

The 47-year-old Smith's strategy in getting his rider through reflected an absence of enthusiasm for it in a Congress that, according to a recent Associated Press survey, includes some 50 members with relatives on their payrolls.

After it appeared his plan would die quietly in committee, he proposed it as a rider during routine debate on the postal-pay bill. Only about 80 of the 434 House members were on the floor and it went through.

Smith said some absent opponents of the plan weren't happy when they found out what he did. "But if they were interested in amendments they should have been there," he added.

Once the rider was in the bill, congressional sources said, it would have been embarrassing for any member to fight it.

Abuse Is Concern

But the Iowa Democrat said his main concern was "widespread abuse" in the hiring of relatives by postmasters in small towns. In Iowa alone, he said, 111 postmasters have relatives on their payrolls.

"I don't know how many thousands of relatives there are in post offices nationwide," he said.

He said many people don't even apply for jobs in small post offices because everyone assumes the postmasters' relatives will get any job that opens up.

Tricky Kennedy Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Beaming back strong signals to earth, a robot "interplanetary weatherman" named Pioneer 8 rocketed into orbit around the sun today to help weave a network that could warn astronauts of deadly solar radiation storms in space.

En route to the sun-circling path between that of earth and Mars, Pioneer 8's fiery delta booster rocket successfully kicked a radio-relay communications satellite into orbit around earth to be used for tracking America's man-to-the-moon tracking network.

Perched aboard a fiery Delta rocket, the twin payload blasted off at 9:08 a.m. EST, to close out the 1967 launch schedule at Cape Kennedy.

The sleek Delta booster aimed to drill radiation-hunting Pioneer 8 into a sun-circling orbit between that of earth and Mars, while dropping off the communications craft en route as a satellite of earth.

If all experiments operate as planned during the next six months or more, drum-shaped Pioneer 8 could provide the best information yet on how great a danger the sun's radiation poses to astronauts. It also possibly could lead to a foolproof means of predicting when dangerous flares will explode on the sun so manned flights can be scheduled around them.

Meanwhile, the eight-sided communications payload—called TTS for test and training satellite—was to act as an orbital relay station to exercise America's Apollo man-in-space global tracking network. Scientists packed the TTS in the engine compartment of the three-stage Delta's second stage so it could spring free into Earth orbit while the upper stage propels Pioneer 8 into a sun-circling path.

TTS was designed to receive Earth-to-space signals on the same radio frequency used in Apollo manned flights, while returning signals to ground tracking stations on frequencies which will be used to report spacecraft and astronaut status during an actual mission.

Pioneer 8 was to team up with other radiation-studying spacecraft already operating, including Pioneer 6 located 144 million miles ahead of Earth and Pioneer 7, which is trailing this planet by about 68 million miles, to study solar events from different points in space.

Solar Wind Vital

Man-to-the-moon planners are primarily interested in the solar wind, a great radiation storm that blows constantly through space. The phenomena, caused by huge thermonuclear reactions called solar flares beneath the seething surface of the sun, send huge clouds of radiation space at more than a million miles an hour.

About 50,000 miles in space on the sunlit side of Earth, particles from this wind smash into Earth's magnetic field and form the Van Allen radiation belt. Without this protection, life could probably not survive on this planet.

Radiation particles not trapped in the belt flow around Earth like waves around the bow of a ship, forming a cone-shaped "magnetic tail" which trails out to about 3.5 million miles behind Earth.

Pioneer 8 was to pass through this tail about one month after launch, hopefully providing new information to tell space planners if the tail can serve as a protective cocoon to guard astronauts flying to the moon.

Testimony Ends

Testimony in a negligence action brought in Supreme Court by Robert Holtz, Ellenville, against Ulster County, was concluded Tuesday. Summations by counsel and charge of Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth followed. The case was scheduled to go to the jury today. The action arises out of an accident between a county snowplow and Holtz' vehicle on Route 209 south of Ellenville. Weinsoff and Weinsoff appear for plaintiff and Richard Overbagh for the county.

BY ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rebounded early Wednesday after four straight sessions of mild decline. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losses by a ratio of about 5 to 3.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off .46 at 880.84.

Softness among some of the blue chip components of the 30-stock Dow industrials accounted for the slight loss. Among these, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide, Anaconda and American Smelting showed fractional losses.

The most actively traded issues showed a big majority on the upside. Among these were a number of fairly low price stocks which gained fractions. These included Brunswick, General Public Service, American Motors, and American Photo-copy.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 62 Wall Street, New York City; branch office, 52 Main Street, Lowell; S. Brooks, manager.

An airtight case for Mrs. Filbert's fresh, sweet flavor.

This photo is from an actual demonstration comparing the protection given soft margarine by an all-plastic tub and the protection given to Mrs. Filbert's by an airtight aluminum server.

See the air bubbles around the plastic tub? If water gets in, air can, too; can affect fresh flavor. No bubbles around

Mrs. Filbert's. We chose the airtight server because Mrs. Filbert's Soft 100% Corn Oil Margarine, like all of Mrs. Filbert's Margarine, has a fresh, sweet flavor secret worth protecting.

Social Effects of Project 100,000 Under Evaluation

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans long range studies to evaluate social effects of its new project to salvage 100,000 poverty scarred youth each year for military service.

Since Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced Project 100,000 last year the services have accepted 49,000 men who would otherwise be rejected for mental or physical reasons.

Services Given Quotas

This year the goal is to reach the full 100,000 annual rate. The services have just received their quotas: Army 70,400; Navy 11,000 and the Air Force and Marines 9,300 each.

These "new standards" men, as they are called, are getting close attention and instruction to help them get through basic training and, in the process, acquire a job skill intended to make them productive later in society.

A small percentage is receiving minor surgery or other medical treatment to correct health problems which otherwise would have made them unfit for military duty.

"I don't want to prejudice the data but we are encouraged by the training results," I. M. Greenberg, director of Project 100,000, said in a Monday interview.

In the next few months the new standards men they are not identified or singled out to avoid any stigma will be watched as they perform their assigned jobs in operating units, some in Vietnam.

Beyond that, the Pentagon is planning a decade of regular reports on new standards men after they leave the service to see what impact the special training has had on their performance in society.

Greenberg said the Defense Department is now working out a system of tracking all individuals who are involved in Project 100,000 through the military service units to which all will eventually be attached.

In order to make the long range evaluation valid, the Pentagon will hire a private firm to follow the social progress of an other group of individuals who would be interviewed by the firm mainly about their jobs, lack of them.

The program has McNamara's personal stamp of approval. He has said many of the men rejected for service are victims of "the slow and silent poison of the poverty virus."

In a Denver speech last month the Pentagon chief noted about one-third of the 1.8 million young men who reach draft age each year fail to qualify for the draft. Most flunk the aptitude tests.

"If so massive a number of revised military entrance standards and began accepting men who were educationally unqualified for even the least complicated tasks of military service, how could they reasonably be expected to lead productive and rewarding lives in an increasingly technological and highly skilled society?" McNamara asked.

Not only does this mean the burden of military service is not being equally shared, McNamara said, he saw a worse implication.

In October 1966 the Pentagon died in six weeks.

—Failed to pass standard written tests but who could be brought up to accepted standards through schooling and on-the-job training.

—Were disqualified for physical defects that could be remedied.

It's America's most popular! Why?

We think it's excellence of product.

Years and years ago, when we decided to bake Jane Parker Fruit Cake, we also decided to bake the best.

That's why Jane Parker Fruit Cake was then and is today over 2/3 fruits and nuts.

Just enough delicious cake to hold together the bounty of cherries imported from France, pineapple from the Far East, citron from Italy, sun-drenched raisins from California and meaty pecans from the South.

We think, too, that value has made it popular.

IMAGINE, THE 5-LB. CAKE COSTS ONLY $3.99.

That's the same low price as last year which makes it an even greater value.

Now you know why Jane Parker Fruit Cake is America's most popular.

One other thing you should know: You can buy it only at A&P.

P.S. Wouldn't it make a great gift for someone?

HOW TO PLAY 3 OF-A-KIND

1. Get a 3 OF-A-KIND concealed playing card ticket, available upon request at end of any check lane at any A & P Store or at store office. No purchase necessary to participate. Only one ticket per adult customer per game visit.
2. Punch out the center to separate and reveal a playing card. Match playing card and insert into die-cut space on master card.
3. When you have matched any set of three cards, for example, 8 of Clubs, 8 of Diamonds, 8 of Spades (as illustrated above), you have won a cash prize. You may take your winning card to A & P immediately. After winning card is verified you will receive your CASH prize from the store manager.
4. Only one cash prize per card but winner will be given a new master card so you can keep playing 3 OF-A-KIND. All cards void if altered or defaced. Offer expires 3 days after end of game as announced in A & P ads.
5. If your ticket shows "you win" an A & P product—you may immediately trade it in for the actual product FREE at your A & P Store.
6. Employees of THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA COMPANY, INC., its advertising agency and members of their families ineligible to win. Game is void where prohibited by law.

HOW TO WIN $50. IN FREE FOOD
After you punch out your playing card ticket, fill out and detach your official sweepstakes entry blank (as illustrated above). Deposit entry at your A & P Store to be eligible for weekly drawings for $50. in merchandise.

Rocky Cautions Governors On Party Unity for 1968

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says a move now by Republican governors to line up behind a single contender for the GOP presidential nomination could rupture their unity.

At Odds With Laird
He said the governors are "doing the only good thing they could do" to preserve unity by concentrating on potential campaign issues rather than getting involved in endorsing someone for the nomination.

Rockefeller sharply disputed Monday the assertion of Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., that the 26 GOP governors made a mistake and sacrificed their influence on the presidential nomination by failing to agree on a candidate during their meeting last week in Palm Beach, Fla.

"You mean like the Republicans in Congress?" the New York governor said. "Have the Republicans in Congress taken a position on a candidate?"

Laird acknowledged the party's House leadership has not picked one man to back. He said it's for the 1968 candidate who could be most effective in helping to win congressional seats.

"The governors have worked together as they never have before," Rockefeller said. "They're doing the only good thing they could do to keep united and that is by concentrating on problems—not people."

Rockefeller for months has urged his fellow Republican governors to align behind the candidacy of Michigan Gov. George Romney. He said if that becomes possible, fine. "If they can't—let's be realistic," the New Yorker said.

"The more united we are on the platform, the more effective we'll be on anything else," Rockefeller told newsmen after a meeting of the Republican Coordinating Committee.

Powerful Factor
Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee, also a Romney supporter, said the GOP governors will be a powerful factor in the selection of a nominee.

"They will have a great deal of influence with the various delegations," Chafee said.

"I think it was obvious right from the beginning that you weren't going to have unanimity on a candidate," said Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington.

Although the governors appear undecided on backing a single candidate, the public's favorite by a decisive margin, the Harris poll reported, is Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon Leading
The newest survey by Louis Harris, copyrighted by The Washington Post, shows Nixon leading Rockefeller 52 to 33 per cent; Romney, 63 to 24 per cent; and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, 65 to 22 per cent. But the poll also showed Nixon has slipped behind President Johnson in popularity. In early November Nixon led Johnson 48 to 41 per cent. Now it's Johnson by 47 to 44 per cent.

Nixon, who moved to New York after losing the California gubernatorial election in 1962, attended a major GOP fund-raising affair Monday night for the first time since his move. He was at a dinner in honor of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., necessary to insure security for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Israel.

CANCER EDUCATION—Officials on hand for the George Washington School presentation this week were (L.) Louis Salzman, public relations director; George W. Washbourne, head of science department of Kingston schools; Robert W. Nash, director of public education, state cancer division; Mrs. Paul Wendrow, executive director of local cancer unit and Ambrose Boyd, principal of host school. (Freeman photo by Haines.)

Orientation at School

A county-wide orientation program on the American Cancer Society's educational materials for schools was held at the George Washington School Monday through the cooperation and courtesy of Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of Kingston Consolidated Schools.

Mr. Robert W. Nash, director of public education of the New York State Division, ACS, was the guest speaker and explained the program in an active learning situation, and before they have developed obstructive fears and misconceptions. High School will be the final period of education for many of our youth population.

After leaving high school many students will start working, and many will soon marry and start raising their families. The Society, therefore gives a high priority to programs reaching high school students with the importance of good health habits, including a periodic health check-up. The health risks involved in cigarette smoking have become increasingly well known in recent years, particularly in recent months. It is also obvious that it will be easier to persuade children not to start smoking than it will be to change adult smoking habits once they are firmly established. Therefore, this phase of the Society's school health education program has a top priority. Reaching students with cancer information may challenge some of them to enter fields that combat cancer — to study to be a physician, dentist or nurse; to point toward cancer research; to look forward to a career as a medical or x-ray technician, or some other profession in the field of medicine.

The end objective of the Society's school program is to aid teaching about cancer as an integral part of the regular curriculum.

The American Cancer Society believes its students and teacher educational activities are basic to cancer control, and intends to intensify its efforts in these areas in the coming year.

See No Problem

Will Eliminate Gold-Dollar Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — The good faith of the government and the strongest economy in the world—not the gold at Ft. Knox, Ky.—is the real strength behind the U.S. dollar.

That's why government officials see no technical problem in eliminating the last domestic link between gold and dollars—the 25 per cent gold cover. The only obstacles are political and psychological, they feel.

Next year, the Treasury Department is expected to ask Congress to remove the requirement that each $1 placed in circulation must be backed by 25 cents in gold.

Will Free Gold

This will free more than $10 billion in gold for possible sales to foreign countries and reinforce U.S. policy to buy and sell gold at $35 an ounce—a policy officials say has made the dollar as good as gold.

It's a keystone of the present international money system.

The decline in U.S. gold stocks since 1949—from $24.56 billion to less than $13 billion—has increased pressure on the gold cover. The available gold is now 28.5 per cent of the paper money in circulation.

Government and many private economists contend the gold cover idea is archaic—a throwback to the era of hard money when a dollar could be exchanged for gold.

Despite the gold cover, dollar bills cannot now be exchanged for gold, even at the rate of 25 cents to the dollar.

Republican leaders have already taken aim at the expected bid to remove the gold cover but their major criticism is of administration financial policy.

785 Refugees

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — All 785 people of Ban Bo village in northern Laos have fled to Muong Maung because of increasing Communist guerrilla activities, the Lao army announced Tuesday. It estimated the number of refugees from the Communist Pathet Lao area is now about 250,000.

More than $4 billion is bet annually on horse races in the United States through parimutuel devices. Estimates of how much more than this is bet through bookmakers varies from two to four times this amount according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

"Eight years of deficits and irresponsible spending have brought the nation to the brink of financial crisis," the Republican Coordinating Committee said Monday.

"We deplore that the Johnson administration may soon find it necessary to request removal of the remaining gold backing behind our currency, now 25 per cent, thus turning it wholly into paper money," the committee statement said.

It's been more than 30 years since Americans could hold gold in other than jewelry, tooth fillings or other industrial or artistic purpose. Many people, Treasury officials have said, still don't realize that since 1934 U.S. citizens have been forbidden to hoard gold. Only foreign central banks—the counterpart of the Federal Reserve System—have the privilege of exchanging dollars for gold.

The United States is one of the few remaining industrial countries still linking its currency to gold internally.

Of the free world's major countries, only Switzerland, Belgium, the Netherlands and South Africa have such a link. Even France, where the fondness for gold is beyond question, has none backing the franc.

Backs Each Dollar

The Federal Reserve Board backs every dollar placed in circulation 100 per cent. What's not covered by gold is backed by government securities held by the system.

This places the good faith of the government and its taxing powers behind each dollar bill in circulation.

Since the Federal Reserve now holds more government securities than paper money in circulation they could become a possible substitute for a gold cover.

The gold cover was dropped to 25 per cent in 1945 on both currency and bank reserves; it had been 40 per cent on currency and 45 per cent on reserves. It was eliminated entirely on bank reserves in 1965 and some members of Congress at the time felt the cover should be eliminated entirely.

Will Eliminate Gold-Dollar Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — The good faith of the government and the strongest economy in the world—not the gold at Ft. Knox, Ky.—is the real strength behind the U.S. dollar.

That's why government officials see no technical problem in eliminating the last domestic link between gold and dollars—the 25 per cent gold cover. The only obstacles are political and psychological, they feel.

Next year, the Treasury Department is expected to ask Congress to remove the requirement that each $1 placed in circulation must be backed by 25 cents in gold.

Will Free Gold

This will free more than $10 billion in gold for possible sales to foreign countries and reinforce U.S. policy to buy and sell gold at $35 an ounce—a policy officials say has made the dollar as good as gold.

It's a keystone of the present international money system. The decline in U.S. gold stocks since 1949—from $24.56 billion to less than $13 billion—has increased pressure on the gold cover. The available gold is now 28.5 per cent of the paper money in circulation.

Government and many private economists contend the gold cover idea is archaic—a throwback to the era of hard money when a dollar could be exchanged for gold.

Despite the gold cover, dollar bills cannot now be exchanged for gold, even at the rate of 25 cents to the dollar.

Republican leaders have already taken aim at the expected bid to remove the gold cover but their major criticism is of administration financial policy.

"Eight years of deficits and irresponsible spending have brought the nation to the brink of financial crisis," the Republican Coordinating Committee said Monday.

"We deplore that the Johnson administration may soon find it necessary to request removal of the remaining gold backing behind our currency, now 25 per cent, thus turning it wholly into paper money," the committee statement said.

It's been more than 30 years since Americans could hold gold in other than jewelry, tooth fillings or other industrial or artistic purpose. Many people, Treasury officials have said, still don't realize that since 1934 U.S. citizens have been forbidden to hoard gold. Only foreign central banks—the counterpart of the Federal Reserve System—have the privilege of exchanging dollars for gold.

The United States is one of the few remaining industrial countries still linking its currency to gold internally.

Of the free world's major countries, only Switzerland, Belgium, the Netherlands and South Africa have such a link. Even France, where the fondness for gold is beyond question, has none backing the franc.

Backs Each Dollar

The Federal Reserve Board backs every dollar placed in circulation 100 per cent. What's not covered by gold is backed by government securities held by the system.

This places the good faith of the government and its taxing powers behind each dollar bill in circulation.

Since the Federal Reserve now holds more government securities than paper money in circulation they could become a possible substitute for a gold cover.

The gold cover was dropped to 25 per cent in 1945 on both currency and bank reserves; it had been 40 per cent on currency and 45 per cent on reserves. It was eliminated entirely on bank reserves in 1965 and some members of Congress at the time felt the cover should be eliminated entirely.

are in an active learning situation, and before they have developed obstructive fears and misconceptions. High School will be the final period of education for many of our youth population.

After leaving high school many students will start working, and many will soon marry and start raising their families. The Society, therefore, gives a high priority to programs reaching high school students with the importance of good health habits, including a periodic health check-up. The health risks involved in cigarette smoking have become increasingly well known in recent years, particularly in recent months. It is also obvious that it will be easier to persuade children not to start smoking than it will be to change adult smoking habits once they are firmly established. Therefore, this phase of the Society's school health education program has a top priority. Reaching students with cancer information may challenge some of them to enter fields that combat cancer — to study to be a physician, dentist or nurse; to point toward cancer research; to look forward to a career as a medical or x-ray technician, or some other profession in the field of medicine.

The end objective of the Society's school program is to aid teaching about cancer as an integral part of the regular curriculum.

The American Cancer Society believes its students and teachers educational activities are basic to cancer control, and intends to intensify its efforts in these areas in the coming year.

Pilot's Struggle Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — High large section break away from above the area between Elmira, N.Y., and the New York-Pennsylvania border, two pilots struggled to bring their doomed jet liner under control.

The drama of their fruitless efforts to save themselves and 22 others aboard a Mohawk Airlines plane last June 23 was vividly related Tuesday from the reels of a tape recorder.

The recorder was salvaged from the wreckage of a British-built BAC-111, which crashed on the mile east of Blossburg, Pa., on a flight scheduled from Elmira to Washington.

The discovery by the plane's pilots of serious trouble was disclosed in a transcript prepared from the tape of the plane's cockpit voice recorder.

Officials of the National Transportation Safety Board made the transcript public at a hearing Tuesday.

Those who saw the jet-flight 40 during its last airborne minutes reported to board investigators its abnormal flight behavior.

One eyewitness said he saw a

Less than a minute later, Bullock reported: "We've lost all control. We don't have anything."

The tape then recounted the efforts of the two officers to try and bring the plane under control.

Finally, the landing gear horn which had been sounding for some seconds fell silent.

"Ooh-woe, I don't like that," said Rudesill.

"We better turn back toward Elmira," Bullock said. "Now wait a minute, wait, ah, let's go straight ahead."

A moment later — apparently after a part of the tail fell from the craft — Bullock asked: "What have we done to that damn tail surface, you have any idea?"

"I don't know," Rudesill replied. "I just can't figure it out."

At 2:46 p. m., the landing gear horn began sounding again.

"Pull back!" Bullock shouted. "I've gone out of control."

Then there were six seconds of silence, and the recording ended.

Officials of the National Transportation Safety Board made the transcript public at a hearing Tuesday.

Those who saw the jet flight 40 during its last airborne minutes reported to board investigators its abnormal flight behavior.

One eyewitness said he saw a large section break away from the plane's tail and fall. He said the ship then nosed over and disappeared into a grove of trees.

About three minutes before the crash, the transcript revealed, First Officer Troy E. Rudesill, who was at the controls, felt that something was wrong.

"It's hard to tell just what it is," the transcript quoted him as saying.

Capt. Charles E. Bullock advised him to ease up on the speed, and Rudesill said he was doing just that.

Then, a voice investigators were unable to identify said: "There's something screwy here. Another unidentified voice replied, 'I know it.'

The transcript then showed that ground control indicated the ship was experiencing difficulty, when it said: "Mohawk 40 (the flight number) is having a little control problem here, we'll advise you, we may have to declare an emergency."

"Yeah, that's gonna be forced," Bullock replied.

Less than a minute later, Bullock reported: "We've lost all control. We don't have anything."

The tape then recounted the efforts of the two officers to try and bring the plane under control.

Extended Service Ward Scheduled For Northern Dutchess Hospital

An extended service ward and improved laboratory, costing between $800,000 and $1,600,000 will be built by the Northern Dutchess Hospital program will also be inaugurated within the next 18 months according to an announcement made by Michael Mazzarella, hospital administrator.

Long-range plans call for a 40-to-80-bed extended care facility (nursing home), the expansion of the X-ray Department, and the construction of a new operating room.

Architect's drawings, depicting the proposed plan, are not available for publication at this time, Mazzarella said.

Speaking before the Rhinebeck Rotary recently, the administrator stated that the hospital's operating budget will increase nine per cent during 1968. Sixty-five per cent of the operating budget is for salaries of the 140 persons employed today under New York wage laws. Today's master plan, $50 during the past year, Mazzarella praised the town's foresight in Dutchess equally at the present time is 70 beds.

Pointing out that the average cost per day statewide was $10.00, he said that the average rate for a minimum 200-bed facility was $10.00, while the average rate for a minimum 100-bed facility was $10.00.

Yule Scene Greet LBJ at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to the White House to find a Christmas scene replacing the wedding theme he left and a towering 16½-foot-high blue spruce tree in the Blue Room.

There's everything from gingerbread—plus 8,000 ornaments and 4,000 glittering lights—on the tree.

It was grown by Howard M. Cowan of Portage County, Ohio, scene he left and a towering 16½-foot-high blue spruce tree in the Blue Room.

The Johnsons are expected to spend Christmas in the White House for the first time, breaking their tradition of celebrating the holiday at the LBJ Ranch in Texas. The President returned to Washington Tuesday night after a Southern tour.

The Blue Room tree features an angel with gold wings atop branches jammed with Santa Claus, snowmen, camels, teddy bears, dolls, toy soldiers and drums, glass icicles, shiny silver bells and stars and shining round mirrors.

Strings of nuts, popcorn, and cranberry chains and bright felt flowers are included.

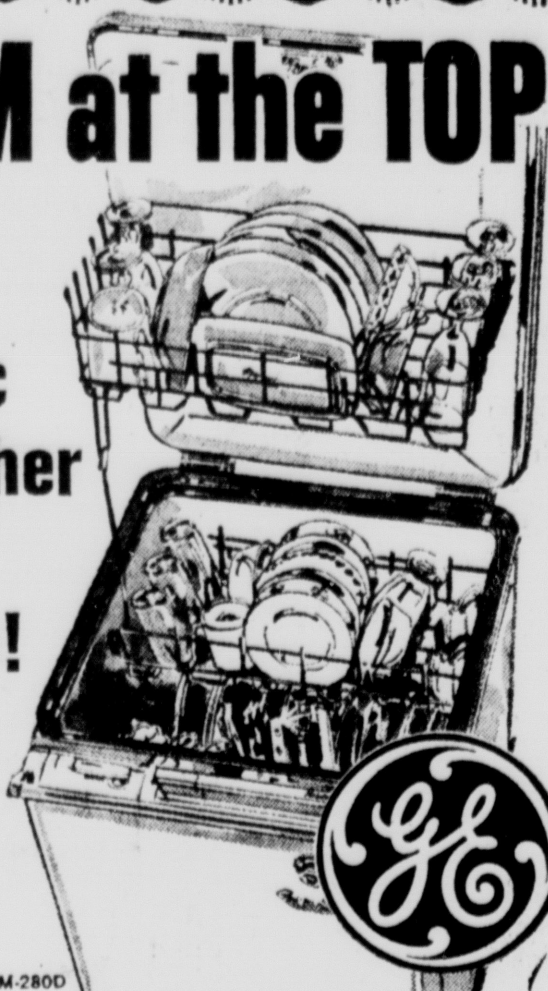

Dan Arje, the display director of Bonwit Teller's Department Store in New York City decorated and designed the tree as he has done for the four years the Johnsons have been in the White House.

Rapids' Santa To Tour Wards This Sunday

Santa Claus will distribute candy this coming Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Rapid Hose Company Firehouse on Hone Street. He will start his tour of the Seventh and Eighth Wards riding the Rapid Hose Co. fire engine and will be assisted by members of the company.

The annual event is sponsored by the members of Rapid Hose Co. No. 1 and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the company.

President Henry Boice requests that the committee headed by Chairman Robert Hinkley report at the engine house at 1 p. m. to prepare for Santa's journey.

At the December meeting of the company President Boice appointed Robert Richmond, chairman with Clarence Uhl and Leo Wells, members of the annual banquet committee. The banquet and dance will be held at the Capri 400 Restaurant, Port Ewen, Saturday, Jan. 20 at 7 p. m.

All members of the Company, Ladies' Auxiliary and friends are invited to attend. Ticket reservations may be made with members of the committee no later than Monday, Jan. 15.

The delicate shading of colors which modern man is able to discover only with the help of complicated instruments were seen by primitive painters of the Paleolithic Age with the naked eye.

FOUND IN CANAL — Mrs. Terry Rae Kent Frank, 23, is one of two women found by fishermen Friday weighted down with concrete blocks in a canal near Hollywood, Fla. Her parents and estranged husband flew from Cincinnati, Ohio to identify her. The second girl was identified tentatively as German-born Anneliese Mohr, 19. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Pulls Wrong Handle — VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — The alarm sounded and the fire trucks came screaming around the corner. But there wasn't any fire.

The parents of a 4-year-old girl explained that they had given their daughter a coin for the parking meter, but she pulled the wrong handle.

Enjoy every one of them with an AUTOMATIC DISHWASHER

- 1 No Scraping — Just shake off large particles of food into garbage.
- 2 No Rinsing — New Dishwashers don't need it.
- 3 Thorough Cleaning — A Dishwasher gets dishes truly clean by using water hot enough to sanitize — much hotter than your hands could stand—then utensils are rinsed and rinsed again in hot hot water.
- 4 No Drying — Dishes, Glassware, Silver come out sparkling clean without a water spot or smudge.
- 5 Less Handling — means less breakage.
- 6 Smaller families can store dishes in the dishwasher — wash only once a day.
- 7 College Laboratory Tests have shown that Kitchen Cleanup Time takes only about 1/2 as long when you use a Dishwasher. That's time a busy housewife (or husband) can use to good advantage.

Go see your local dealer about an Automatic Dishwasher for your family. Do it right away for a more enjoyable Holiday Season.

Three-Mile Swim

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban barber says he and his 14-year-old son and a 34-year-old companion swam three miles across Guantanamo Bay to the U.S. Naval Base there.

"We set out in the black of night, and dodged several Castro patrol boats," 30-year-old Logello E. Rada said.

A U.S. naval plane brought them here, Estrada said.

He added: "I had first escaped from a concentration camp where I served a five-year sentence for being a guide to Cubans wanting to go into exile. I picked up my son and my friend, waited for my chance, and plunged into the water."

The earth is divided into three major divisions — atmosphere, hydrosphere and lithosphere, or air, water and land.

NLRB Schedules Dec. 15 Election at Ferroxcube

An election will be conducted again by the National Labor Relations Board at the Ferroxcube Corporation company's facilities in Saugerties on Friday, Dec. 15 to determine whether the employees want to be represented by the IUE.

This election is a re-run of the 1965 election which was won by the company. At that time the Union filed several charges of unfair labor practices. At subsequent hearings the NLRB, although dismissing eight of the nine charges, ordered a new election.

The new election was originally scheduled for Sept. 29, but on Sept. 27 the IUE suddenly pulled out. This action was justified, they said at the time, by new charges of "unfair labor practices" involving Ferroxcube.

After careful and complete investigation the NLRB threw out the charges, stating that there was "insufficient evidence of any violation." The NLRB then set Dec. 15 for the second election.

When asked about the situation, Harry Ashby, assistant to the president, said, "We are convinced that the majority of our employees do not want a union at Ferroxcube, and the IUE knows it. Our employees know they can't depend on the IUE after the treatment they received in September. Their weak action in the present campaign shows them to be even less dependable. Ferroxcube doesn't enjoy these on-again-off-again tactics any more than our employees and we hope there will be an end to it on Dec. 15."

Toastmasters Hear Talks at December Meet

Orvil Norman served as Toastmaster of the Day at a meeting of Kingston Toastmasters held recently at the Amberlight Restaurant.

The club welcomed the return of a charter member, Fred Snyder, who presented comments regarding the memory of Francis Cardinal Spellman. Snyder also reflected on the anniversary of Pearl Harbor and paid tribute to those who so faithfully served.

Gene Merigliano, another speaker, presented a talk entitled Death of the 20th Century Limited. He commented on the general decline in public transportation and presented historical facts outlining this decline.

Dr. David Gerbarg, trophy winner for the evening, spoke on Heart Transplants. He presented, in laymen's terms, a brief history and factors relating to transplants.

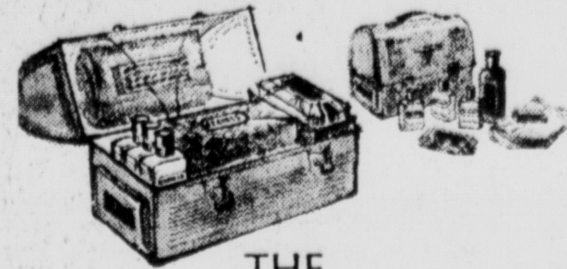

Toastmasters is a worldwide organization of men who help each other gain speaking skill. Kingston Toastmasters meets 7 p. m. on the first and third Thursday of each month at the Amberlight Restaurant, five miles north of Kingston on Route 28. Among its members are men from every walk of life: physicians, attorneys, engineers, salesmen and insurance men.

Men who seek further information about Toastmasters may call Richard Van Dune, president of the Kingston Club.

Sweeping Birth Control

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Dr. William Bradford Shockley, who shared a Nobel Prize in 1956 for helping to develop the transistor, has proposed a sweeping birth control plan that includes temporary sterilization of all women and government approval before each baby.

The Stanford University physicist explained his plan in a lecture at McMaster University Monday night and also accused "inverted liberals" of blocking research into inherited intelligence differences between Negroes and whites.

The chief points of Shockley's birth control plan are these:

The public would first of all vote on the rate of population growth it wants. The Census Bureau would determine how many children each couple could have in keeping with the predetermined growth rate and certificates would be issued to them.

All girls would be temporarily sterilized by time-capsule contraceptives. When a woman and her husband wanted children, they would have the time-capsule removed by a public health agency on turning in one of their certificates. After the child was born, the contraceptive capsule would be reinserted.

Couples not wishing children or wishing less than they were entitled to could sell their surplus certificates on the open market.

Under this system, Shockley said, "only people who want and can afford children will have them."

The physicist also made a plea for research into racial differences. He urged eugenic studies related to the relative intelligence levels of Negroes and Caucasians.

"Let's ask the questions, do the necessary research, get the facts, discuss them widely," Shockley said, "then either worries will evaporate or plans for action will be developed."

Library Books

Fiction

Ball, J., The Cool Cottontail. A well-told suspenseful tale of murder at Sun Valley Lodge.

Herbert, F., Dune. A meticulously worked out and exciting story of planet life in our known universe.

Ponther, F., The Fatal Voyage. A dramatic and powerful story of World War II in the South Atlantic.

Wilson, S., Janus Island. Suspenseful action and a tender love affair off the Florida Keys.

Non-Fiction

Davenport, M., Too Strong for Fantasy. A personal record of music, literature, and politics in America and Europe over half a century.

Dillon, R., Fool's Gold. A biography of John Sutter, one of the most enigmatic figures in the history of the American West.

Kennan, G., Memoirs 1925-1950. Twenty-five years of diplomatic history written with extraordinary eloquence and lucidity.

Lincoln, A., The Kennedy White House Parties. Describes and illustrates some of the most interesting luncheons, dinners and entertainments ever given at the White House.

Miersching, J., Frozen Ships. A vivid account of four years in the arctic ice aboard the Invictor, 1850-54.

Sweeping Birth Control

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Dr. William Bradford Shockley, who shared a Nobel Prize in 1956 for helping to develop the transistor, has proposed a sweeping birth control plan that includes temporary sterilization of all women and government approval before each baby.

Library Books

Fiction

Ball, J., The Cool Cottontail. A well-told suspenseful tale of murder at Sun Valley Lodge.

Herbert, F., Dune. A meticulously worked out and exciting story of planet life in our known universe.

Ponthier, F., The Fatal Voyage. A dramatic and powerful story of World War II in the South Atlantic.

Wilson, S., Janus Island. Suspenseful action and a tender love affair off the Florida Keys.

Non-Fiction

Davenport, M., Too Strong for Fantasy. A personal record of music, literature, and politics in America and Europe over half a century.

Dillon, R., Fool's Gold. A biography of John Sutter, one of the most enigmatic figures in the history of the American West.

Kennan, G., Memoirs 1925-1950. Twenty-five years of diplomatic history written with extraordinary eloquence and lucidity.

Lincoln, A., The Kennedy White House Parties. Describes and illustrates some of the most interesting luncheons, dinners and entertainments ever given at the White House.

Miersching, J., Frozen Ships. A vivid account of four years in the arctic ice aboard the Investigator, 1850-54.

gence differences between Negroes and whites.

The chief points of Shockley's birth control plan are these: The public would first of all vote on the rate of population growth it wants. The Census Bureau would determine how many children each couple could have in keeping with the predetermined growth rate and certificates would be issued to them.

All girls would be temporarily sterilized by time-capsule contraceptives. When a woman and her husband wanted children, they would have the time-capsule removed by a public health agency on turning in one of their certificates. After the child was born, the contraceptive capsule would be reinserted.

Couples not wishing children or wishing less than they were entitled to could sell their surplus certificates on the open market.

Under this system, Shockley said, "only people who want and can afford children will have them."

The physicist also made a plea for research into racial differences. He urged eugenic studies related to the relative intelligence levels of Negroes and Caucasians.

"Let's ask the questions, do the necessary research, get the facts, discuss them widely," Shockley said, "then either worries will evaporate or plans for action will be developed."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 13, the 347th day of 1967. There are 18 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1577, the English navigator, Sir Francis Drake, left Plymouth England, on his history-making voyage around the world.

On this date: In 1781, a day of prayer and thanksgiving was observed throughout the United States to mark the end of the Revolutionary War.

In 1862, during the Civil War, Union troops were defeated by Confederates on Marye's Heights outside Fredericksburg, Va.

In 1918, in World War I, soldiers of the U.S. 3rd Army crossed the Rhine River at Coblenz, Germany.

In 1937, Japanese soldiers captured Nanking, China, and began looting the city.

In 1944, a Japanese suicide plane crashed into the U.S. cruiser Nashville during World War II, killing 133 crewmen.

In 1958, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson rejected the suggestion that he run for president in 1960. He said he did not think anyone from the South could be elected.

Ten years ago: The United States and the Soviet Union reached tentative agreement for an exchange of education specialists.

Five years ago: Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko called for trust and cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

One year ago: West Germany's new chancellor, Kurt Georg Kiesinger, said he would work with France toward a united Europe but would not cut U.S. ties.

Hurley Town Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Hurley Town Board will be held Monday, 8 p. m., at the Hurley Firehouse. The meeting date has been moved up one week due to the holiday. Supervisor Charles Relyea will preside for his last meeting after 16 years as chairman of the town board of Hurley.

Open House Pageant Plans Planned by Action Unit For Reformed Church Told

The Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center, local office of Ulster County Community Action Committee, is planning as part of Human Rights Week observance an "Open House" Saturday, Dec. 16, between 2 and 4 p.m. at 81 Partition Street.

The open house will enable interested citizens of the community to observe for themselves, what the local anti-poverty program is doing to help people achieve human rights. Also to familiarize the public with our organization, its purposes and our work in community programs.

The staff and advisory board members will be on hand to answer any questions. Members of the Saugerties Senior Citizen Club will be working on repairing of toys for needy children for Christmas and will tell about their club. Refreshments will be served.

Parties for Children, Ladies At Firehouse

A Christmas party will be given for children at the Centerville Firehouse Saturday, Dec. 16 at 2 p.m.

The Centerville and Cedar Grove firemen and the members of the auxiliary are asked to bring their children. The Ladies Auxiliary will entertain the children with a comedy play. Santa Claus will be there to present them with goodies. Gifts will be exchanged.

The ladies Christmas party will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 19, at the Centerville Firehouse. Members planning to attend are requested to bring a covered dish and a funny gift not to exceed 50 cents.

Yule Program

The Blue Mountain Sunday School Christmas program will be held in the church Sunday evening, Dec. 17, at 7:30.

There will be songs, recitations and exercises. All parents, friends and the public are invited to attend.

After the program Santa Claus will distribute gifts to the children.

The Samoa Islands were once called the Navigators' Islands.

The Third Sunday in Advent will be observed at both the 9:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. services at the Reformed Church of Saugerties Sunday. The Advent sermon by the minister, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine, is entitled, "The Joy of Faith."

The Sunday Church School will have its annual Christmas pageant and party Sunday at 7 p.m. It is entitled, "Let There Be Light," and depicts the various events leading to the birth of Christ. The music will be under the direction of Miss Isabel Tubbs with Howard Houghtaling at the organ. The Sunday School classes will dramatize the events and the little children will sing.

Following the program there will be the annual Christmas party for the children with a visit from Santa Claus.

The Senior High Youth Fellowship is again planning to present the Living Nativity on the front lawn of the church on Main Street. There will be two performances on Friday, Dec. 22, at 7 and 7:30 p.m. and two on Dec. 23, at the same times.

Cheerful Workers Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The 25th anniversary of the Cheerful Workers Society of the Blue Mountain Reformed Church was observed by the members at a banquet held at the Katsbaan Inn on Dec. 4.

Thirty members and past officers attended the affair. The blessing was given by Mrs. August Pfau, spiritual adviser.

The banquet committee was headed by Mrs. Lindley Paynter, assisted by Mrs. Howard Garrison, Mrs. George F. Fetty and Della Myer.

Students Do Part

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Pupils at Groves High School here are swapping permits to smoke for candy in a campaign against smoking and cancer.

Approximately 150 pupils at the school, who brought signed statements from their parents, had permits to smoke in designated areas. J. Rife English, the principal, said about 75 pupils so far have exchanged the smoking permits for the candy mints which were donated by a manufacturer. The idea was developed by the student council.

Yule Mail Woes Can Be Avoided

The saddest place in the post office is Heartbreak Hotel the day after Christmas. Heartbreak Hotel is the residence of cards, letters and gifts that couldn't be delivered because of illegible addresses, no addresses at all or poorly packed parcels from which the address labels or outer wrappings were separated.

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk today noted that millions of such items unnecessarily wind up in Heartbreak Hotel, and gave mailers advice on how to avoid such seasonal sorrows.

"Always write or print addresses carefully and use ZIP Codes. If you have trouble reading the address, the people at the post office will have the same problem."

Use 1st Class

Use of first class postage on greeting cards will make sure mail is forwarded if the recipient has moved. Mail will be returned to you if it is poorly addressed or there is no forwarding address. This is one reason for using the special five cent Christmas stamp. Cards sent by third-class mail which cannot be delivered wind up in the dead letter office, one of the busiest corners of Heartbreak Hotel.

Wrap packages neatly and well. A loose piece of wrapping may get caught and ripped. Pad gifts securely so there is no rattling and there is sufficient support for other packages. The sack carrying a glass cup may also have two or three bowling balls riding on top of it.

A card or piece of paper inside the package carrying sender's name and address and that of the person to whom the parcel is addressed will insure delivery in case the wrapping comes loose. A list of the contents will help postal "rewrap" clerks in the event your package is poorly wrapped and bursts.

One Side Only

Place the address and return address on only one side of the parcel. Some people will repeat the address on more than one side. Postal employees who are working at top speed to meet transportation connections for mail do not have time to check other sides and assume that postage is due.

Must Wear Helmet

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Judge James H. Rexroad ruled the ordinance was constitutional.

"It is a privilege and not a right to operate a vehicle on the public streets, and no individual can be permitted to be the judge of his duty to obey laws enacted in the public interest and welfare," the judge said.

The housewife had been fined $10 in Municipal Court for riding without a helmet. She filed a test case, contending the city ordinance was unconstitutional.

Life of a U.S. $1 bill is about 13 months in circulation.

On Thursday, at 8:15 p. m., in the Dutch Arms Chapel of Saugerties Reformed Church, Mrs. Stella Kopulos, author of "Adventures in Greek Cookery" will address the Women's Club of Saugerties. Her topic will be "Holiday Customs of Greece."

Mrs. Kopulos was born in Tripoli, Greece, but has lived in the U.S. since the age of five. An American citizen, she was raised and educated in Kansas City, Mo., and since 1942 has lived in Washington, D. C. International hostess of the General Federation of Women's Club, Mrs. Kopulos is known throughout the country for her outstanding club work and philanthropic activities in behalf of charities and needy individuals in both the U.S. and Greece. In 1962 she was named Washington, D. C.'s Mother of the Year and International Mother.

With the aid of Stella Kopulos' "Adventures in Greek Cookery," which was published in June 1966, the American cook will be able to transform "everyday American fare into food fit for the gods by serving it with Greek accent." Her book grew from an extensive and varied collection of recipes gathered for many years by Stella Kopulos from family and friends in this country and in Greece. With her pastries she has raised charity funds to benefit many orphanages and schools in Greece. The romantic aspects of Greek food are captured as many special foods are related to the meaningful place they hold in the folk and religious customs of the people.

"Adventures in Greek Cookery" also contains a preface by the wife of the Greek Ambassador, Mrs. Alexander A. Matsas. Mrs. Kopulos always brings Greek goodies and a host of anecdotes.

While here, Mrs. Kopulos

will be the house guest of Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, 15 DeWitt Drive, Saugerties. Mrs. Kopulos' appearance here has been arranged by the Home Department and she will be presented to the club by the department chairman, Mrs. Stanley Wyman.

Mrs. Alice O'Connor expressed the appreciation of the entire membership to Msgr. Carey for his untiring efforts with the recitation of a poem, "Tell Him Now."

Msgr. Carey thanked the officers, members and friends and gave an inspiring talk. He paid tribute to Francis Cardinal Spellman with the quotation "Behold a great priest who in his day pleased God. May he rest in peace."

Miss Pauline Losso also extended congratulatory greetings as well as Miss Julia N. Phelan of Court Irenita, Poughkeepsie, past district deputy. Golden anniversary members who were present included Mrs.

Margaret Murphy, Miss Jane Madden, Mrs. Nellie Barrett and Mrs. Margaret Howard. Christmas hymns were enjoyed with Miss Patricia Heybrück at the piano.

Gifts were distributed by Mrs. Laura Palen, Mrs. Mary DuBois, Mrs. Angeline Aiello and Mrs. Emily Spada. Miss Helen VanSteenbergh was in charge of secret pal gifts.

The next meeting will be held Thursday at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

friends in this country and in Greece. With her pastries she has raised charity funds to benefit many orphanages and schools in Greece. The romantic aspects of Greek food are captured as many special foods are related to the meaningful place they hold in the folk and religious customs of the people.

"Adventures in Greek Cookery" also contains a preface by the wife of the Greek Ambassador, Mrs. Alexander A. Matsas. Mrs. Kopulos always brings Greek goodies and a host of anecdotes.

While here, Mrs. Kopulos will be the house guest of Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, 15 DeWitt Drive, Saugerties.

Mrs. Kopulos' appearance here has been arranged by the Home Department and she will be presented to the club by the department chairman, Mrs. Stanley Wyman.

Of Many Things

Just about this time, don't you find Yule shopping a bit heady? After days and weeks of trying to select the right gift for the wrong relative, does your mind begin to play tricks? Mine does.

I begin looking for the unique, the unusual, or for the gift of a lifetime for that man or woman who has everything. You might call it comic relief from the tensions of shopping.

I'm brought up short, however, when I spot such gems as the shortest nightgown in the world—two inches of ruffle on a quarter inch strap—fur lined toilet seat covers, ice hole covers for the avid fisherman and jeweled belly button dusters.

One very, very reputable house is offering the epicure such sentimental gifts as live, large, fresh snails from French Morocco. Would you believe they'll stay alive in a cool place for days? I think they're great accompaniment to chocolate covered ants and grasshoppers so popular out on the west coast.

You have special people on your list? Get in line. For the literary bug consider "Poems for the John." For that uncle who likes to make a drink last, buy him one of two things: an all-day sucker with a scotch flavor or liquor flavored toothpaste. Beautiful!

Aunt Bessie is an avid house cleaner? Be sure to buy her sterling silver telephone covers so that each time she answers the phone she'll have to bring out the old silver polish.

For a lovely centerpiece, consider a hen tureen, a cow tureen, or would you believe an onion tureen. Fill them with green turtle soup, shark's fin soup, kangaroo tail soup (direct from Australia) or select from romaine, charisse, fromaut, masaloh or ventura soups.

Other food tips—try gifting octopus on skewers or whole roast pigeon in red wine sauce.

For the mouse-type character on your Yule list consider a Safari Package complete with genuine Diamond Back rattlesnake in supreme sauce (fangs removed), real tiger meat in supreme sauce and elephant meat in provincial sauce. (I kid you not!)

Some companies even shoot the reindeer right from under Santa Claus and serve it up in pound packages for the game lover in addition to native buffalo, bear, elk, mountain sheep, whale and wild boar.

I can almost understand such choice Yule gifts as well constructed duck press with sturdy legs; a Chinese Wok for steaming vegetables; a parsley mincer; egg coddlers; bottle caddies; honey pots shaped like worker bees; Old Monks French Virgin Olive Oil; even a bird's nest fryer. But an electric corn cob?

Never!

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Many times we are wearing suede shoes when it is muddy, and we get heel tips and sides soiled.

I keep a brush-type hair roller in my purse. It works great on this kind of small brush-up job.

Alma Hyatt

Dear Heloise:

I prefer the plastic knitting needles to the metal ones because they are not so slippery and stiff to use. However, I've noticed that some of my plastic ones become a little "bowed" or get a "curve" in them. This causes irregular stitches and rows?

Does anyone know how these can be straightened?

Eva Smith

Can anyone solve the case of the bent needles? If so, sure would appreciate hearing from you. Just write to Heloise in care of this paper.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

As I have three little ones, I found it hard to keep the fingermarks off my front door until I hit on a system.

When I get my mail from the box on the front porch, I carry a sponge along with me. At first, until I got the habit, I had to make several trips back for the sponge. But I'm in the groove now. Heloise, and my front door is always clean.

Faithful Reader

Dear Heloise:

My boys have bunk beds. Instead of trying to keep all their customary bedding neatly arranged, I made two red cotton flannel contour sheets to match the decor of their room.

The zipped pillows have cowboys and horses in white and red.

The boys sleep in sleepers or in sleeping bags made from quilts which also complement the color scheme. These are EASILY folded on the bottom of each bed.

The whole setup is simple for them to handle on their own and looks neat. Sure beats the hard way of trying to make bunks.

Mrs. H. Olson

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Northwest Chose the Dams and Its Fish Supply Is Hurting Now

By MIKE DOAN

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — One of nature's most amazing rituals, already gone forever in most of the United States, has been drastically altered by the Northwest's many dams.

For thousands of centuries salmon made their voyages up the nation's rivers to lay their eggs and die.

But when man built water wheels and dumped wastes into water the fish no longer were able to swim in most Eastern rivers and became practically extinct there.

In the less populous Northwest, salmon still are able to hatch in a mountain stream. Driven by some compelling force, they travel down the Columbia River to the ocean, often 1,000 miles away.

The salmon disappear into the vastness of the Pacific Ocean, but from two to six years later, in one of those mysteries that nature creates, they reappear, now fullgrown.

Desperately, compulsively, at least 1.5 million fish fight their way upstream each year, always seeking the place they themselves were hatched. Biologists say they use a variety of senses to do so, including navigation by the stars. But they mostly use their sense of smell to find their place of origin.

There the female fish lays thousands of eggs. The male covers them with his sperm. Their job done, they wearily start back downstream. They do not complete this journey. They die. But thousands of their offspring make the trip later instead.

All salmon were born this way for thousands of years. But in the past 32 years, 24 dams have been built on the Columbia and Snake rivers, two of the prime sources of Pacific salmon.

The result is that half of the water in the Columbia system is no longer accessible to salmon. More and more of them are produced artificially in hatcheries.

There the female's eggs are removed with a knife. They are dumped in a bucket and a male fish's sperm is poured over them. The eggs are put into water to hatch, and the dead fish are sold for food or fertilizer.

The odds against the newly hatched salmon making it to the ocean are great. At least 8 percent are killed at each dam going through the electric generators. Some of them go through nine dams.

Years later as adults, on the way inland to lay their eggs, they meet many hurdles. First they have to get by the ocean fishermen. The next hurdle is on the lower Columbia near Astoria where fishermen have their nets ready during a strictly controlled fishing season. The Oregon catch alone in the Columbia is worth $3.2 million a year.

Farther upstream the fish are greeted by sports fishermen, and Indian fishermen with gill-nets who do not honor the states' fishing seasons.

The fish again must navigate over dams. Scientists have developed fish ladders that allow the salmon to leap from one level to another in pools of water until they are over the dam. Grand Coulee Dam does not have these, and there will never again be salmon in the upper Columbia, which winds into Canada and down to western Montana.

Millions of dollars have been spent to preserve fish while man builds dams and factories. There was even a taxi service at one dam in the Northwest. It picked up the fish and carried them by truck to another river.

Despite the spending, the salmon run is getting smaller every year in Idaho, even with hatcheries, because of the dams.

One fishery official says this is because the Northwest chose the dams and as a result is in danger of reducing its fish supply.

Northwest Chose the Dams and Its Fish Supply Is Hurting Now

By MIKE DOAN

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — One of nature's most amazing rituals, already gone forever in most of the United States, has been drastically altered by the Northwest's many dams.

For thousands of centuries salmon made their voyages up the nation's rivers to lay their eggs and die.

But when man built water wheels and dumped wastes into water the fish no longer were able to swim in most Eastern rivers and became practically extinct there.

In the less populous Northwest, salmon still are able to hatch in a mountain stream. Driven by some compelling force they travel down the Columbia River to the ocean, often 1,000 miles away.

The salmon disappear into the vastness of the Pacific Ocean, but from two to six years later, in one of those mysteries that nature creates, they reappear, now fullgrown.

Desperately, compulsively, at least 1.5 million fish fight their way upstream each year, always seeking the place they themselves were hatched. Biologists say they use a variety of senses to do so, including navigation by the stars. But they mostly use their sense of smell to find their place of origin.

There the female fish lays thousands of eggs. The male covers them with his sperm. Their job done, they wearily start back downstream. They do not complete this journey. They die. But thousands of their offspring make the trip later instead.

All salmon were born this way for thousands of years. But in the past 32 years, 24 dams have been built on the Columbia and Snake rivers, two of the prime sources of Pacific salmon.

The result is that half of the water in the Columbia system is no longer accessible to salmon. More and more of them are produced artificially in hatcheries.

There the female's eggs are removed with a knife. They are dumped in a bucket and a male fish's sperm is poured over them. The eggs are put into water to hatch, and the dead fish are sold for food or fertilizer.

The odds against the newly hatched salmon making it to the ocean are great. At least 8 per cent are killed at each dam going through the electric generators. Some of them go through nine dams.

Years later as adults, on the way inland to lay their eggs, they meet many hurdles. First they have to get by the ocean fishermen. The next hurdle is on the lower Columbia near Astoria where fishermen have their nets ready during a strictly controlled fishing season. The Oregon catch alone in the Columbia is worth $3.2 million a year.

Farther upstream the fish are greeted by sports fishermen, and Indian fishermen with gill-nets who do not honor the states' fishing seasons.

The fish again must navigate over dams. Scientists have developed fish ladders that allow the salmon to leap from one level to another in pools of water until they are over the dam. Grand Coulee Dam does not have these, and there will never again be salmon in the upper Columbia, which winds into Canada and down to western Montana.

Wagner Awarded Navy Medal for Viet Gallantry

Marine First Lt. James P. Wagner of Route 1, Whittier, Kingston, was awarded the Navy Commendation Medal with Combat "V" during ceremonies at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C. He was awarded the medal (the citation read): "For heroic achievement while serving with Battery D, Second Battalion, Twelfth Marines, Third Marine Division in connection with operations against enemy forces in Vietnam. On July 6, 1967, Lt. Wagner was informed that a nearby Marine patrol had inadvertently entered a protective minefield and had sustained several casualties from exploding land mines. Upon arrival at the field, he rendered first aid to the injured Marines and observed a companion working his way into the minefield in an attempt to reach a casualty who lay in the center of the minefield. With complete disregard for his own safety, he followed the Marine into the area, guided only by a series of sticks which marked the safe route. With the assistance of the companions he moved the casualty to a position of relative safety. Lt. Wagner entered the service in December 1952.

Wagner Awarded Navy Medal for Viet Gallantry

Marine First Lt. James P. Wagner of Route 1, Whittier, Kingston, was awarded the Navy Commendation Medal with Combat "V" during ceremonies at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

He was awarded the medal (the citation read) . . . "For heroic achievement while serving with Battery D, Second Battalion, Twelfth Marines, Third Marine Division in connection with operations against enemy forces in Vietnam.

"On July 6, 1967, Lt. Wagner was informed that a nearby Marine patrol had inadvertently entered a protective minefield and had sustained several casualties from exploding land mines. Upon arrival at the field, he rendered first aid to the injured Marines and observed a companion working his way into the minefield in an attempt to reach a casualty who lay in the center of the minefield. With complete disregard for his own safety, he followed the Marine into the area, guided only by a series of sticks which marked the safe route. With the assistance of the companions he moved the casualty to a position of relative safety."

Lt. Wagner entered the service in December 1952.

Humphrey Proposes 'New Cities' Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today proposed legislation designed to get people out of the inner cities and into the undeveloped countryside. He said "new cities" legislation could do for modern-day Americans what the Homestead Act did for their 19th Century ancestors—"move people out to the rich areas of this nation that are still waiting to be developed."

Humphrey's proposal was outlined in a speech prepared for a "Communities of Tomorrow" symposium sponsored by six Cabinet members.

The vice president said many new cities "could undoubtedly be built on the sites of existing towns, and indeed that is happening today where local governments have taken the initiative in attracting new industry."

Others, he said, would be new towns "built from scratch according to a master plan" in areas where "land is cheap, recreational resources plentiful and horizons uncluttered."

He said some of the new towns might be built as satellite cities—just beyond the burgeoning urban centers.

Because of modern technology and transportation, "it should be possible to provide the economic base for new communities almost anywhere we choose," Humphrey said.

Probing Depths

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal official estimates the United States holds a 5-1 edge over all other nations combined in its ability to probe the largely untapped—and politically disputed—wealth of the oceans.

But even with that capability, says Dr. Edward Wenk, the United States has refused to engage in any race for control of the vast animal, vegetable and mineral wealth believed hidden in the oceans' depths.

Wenk, executive secretary of the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development and President Johnson's chief adviser on oceanic matters, told The Associated Press:

"You can't say we're winning the race for the oceans because there is no race. No nation can come close to matching our progress in this field. Our exploration capability is greater than that of all other nations combined and multiplied by five."

"But President Johnson has made it clear that we will not get involved in any colonization race for the deep oceans and sea beds."

The question of which nations have what rights in the ocean's depths was laid in August before the United Nations.

The Mediterranean island nation of Malta proposed to the General Assembly that an international agency take jurisdiction over the sea beds, with the net financial gain from their exploitation "be used primarily to promote the development of poor countries."

Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, in rejecting the proposal, suggested instead the world body study the question of jurisdiction. Meanwhile no nation or agency would be given control and there would be an international program to determine what the seas hold that might be worth the effort and cost of recovering.

The debate that followed was expected to produce establishment this week or early next week of a U.N. committee to study the scientific, technical, economic, legal and other aspects of the question. The panel would report its findings to the next General Assembly session. It would be the beginning of a process which the United States hopes may produce an ocean treaty similar to the treaties covering Antarctica and outer space, Wenk said.

Nab Detectives On Narcotics Charges in City

NEW YORK (AP) — Three New York City detectives, a federal narcotics agent and two investigators for the Supreme Court in County district attorney have been arrested on charges of selling narcotics in the city.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said Tuesday the six were named in three indictments returned by a grand jury during a continuing investigation of narcotics trafficking in narcotics and they had accumulated outstanding records as undercover agents.

All were assigned to combat narcotics trafficking in narcotics and they had accumulated outstanding records as undercover agents.

Morgenthau said the suspects were charged with "conducting activities hit at the very foundation of the anti-narcotics program."

Sullivan to Enforce Welfare, Job Tie

Sullivan County will strictly enforce a state law requiring welfare recipients to accept employment if offered or suffer loss of relief checks.

An employment interviewer will be hired after the first of the year who will screen welfare recipients, forwarding their applications to the Department of Labor. The employment interviewer will also canvass Sullivan County business and industry, looking for jobs for welfare recipients.

In an interview with The Freeman today, Welfare Commissioner Robert Travis said the program is being implemented to "clear the air."

Said Travis, "We get numerous complaints from people about 'welfare loafers' and recipients who can work but refuse. With enforcement of this program if a person can work and we get him a job and he refuses to work, he loses his check."

Travis pointed out that Sullivan County's welfare cost (including Medicaid) is more than $4½ million per year. We've got 1,400 men, women and children on the rolls. About 1,000 will be screened by the employment interviewer."

Dodd Is Rebuffed By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. District Court turned down Tuesday Sen. Thomas J. Dodd's motion for a summary judgment in his libel suit against columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

Judge Alexander Holtzoff ruled that substantial issues of fact have to be decided by a jury.

Dodd, a Connecticut Democrat who was censured by the Senate last June 22 for personal use of political funds, filed a suit May 6 against Pearson and Anderson asking a $5 million judgment. Later it was scaled down to $2 million and a speedy trial was asked.

In arguing the case today Dodd's attorney, John F. Sonnett, said more than a 100 documents were taken from Dodd's office files by the senator's employees or former employees and copies were given to the columnists.

Sonnett argued the columnists instigated the abstraction of documents or had full knowledge they were being removed from Dodd's files.

He said this made Pearson and Anderson conspirators and the case was one Holtzoff could decide without a jury because the issues were so clear cut.

Sonnett also alleged that information derogatory to Dodd had been published although the columnists knew it to be false.

Holtzoff said in his ruling the columnists had denied they instigated the removal of documents.

He said the issue of participation or the degree of participation by the defendants in the removal of documents is one for a jury to decide along with the issue of whether there was libel in the publication of certain information.

Woman Killed

BALDWINVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A young mother was killed Tuesday in an effort to spring into her car as it rolled out of control in her back yard, carrying her two children.

The children, age 2 and 3, escaped injury.

State Police said their mother, Mrs. Judy Davis, 26, tried to halt the runaway car as it rolled toward woods behind the family's home in this community northwest of Syracuse.

Troopers said it appeared that Mrs. Davis had managed to open the door, then tripped and fell. She was crushed between the door and the car when the vehicle smashed into an outdoor fireplace.

Nab Detectives On Narcotics Charges in City

NEW YORK (AP) — Three New York City detectives, a federal narcotics agent and two in the vicinity of the Supreme Court in the Nassau County district attorney have been arrested on charges of selling narcotics in the Bronx and Harlem and in a Long Island motel.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said Tuesday the six were named in three indictments returned by a grand jury during continuing investigation of narcotics traffic.

All were assigned to combat trafficking in narcotics and they had accumulated outstanding records as undercover agents. Among them the three had 25 citations for their work.

Morgenthau said the suspects were charged with "conducting activities hit at the very foundation of the antinarcotics program of the city of New York."

The federal agent, Cleophas A. Robinson II, 36, of Staten Island, was charged with having sold marijuana three times this year—twice in October and once last week.

The Long Island investigators, both former Federal Bureau of Narcotics agents, were identified as Frank Dolce, 42, of Hicksville, and Jack Gohde, 37, of Massapequa Park.

They were charged with having sold narcotics in the vicinity of the Supreme Court of the County of Nassau, L.I., and with having connection with narcotics allegedly destined for sale in Harlem.

He said this made Pearson and Anderson conspirators and the case was one Holtzoff could decide without a jury because the issues were so clear cut.

Sonnett also alleged that information derogatory to Dodd had been published although the columnists knew it to be false. Sonnett said this was with malicious intent.

Holtzoff said in his ruling the columnists had denied they instigated the removal of documents.

He said the issue of participation or the degree of participation by the defendants in the removal of documents is one for a jury to decide along with the issue of whether there was libel in the publication of certain information.

Woman Killed

BALDWINSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A young mother was killed Tuesday in an effort to spring into her car as it rolled out of control in her back yard, carrying her two children.

The children, age 2 and 3, escaped injury.

State Police said their mother, Mrs. Judy Davis, 26, tried to halt the runaway car as it rolled toward woods behind the family's home in this community northwest of Syracuse.

Troopers said it appeared that Mrs. Davis had managed to open the door, then tripped and fell. She was crushed between the door and the car when the vehicle smashed into an outdoor fireplace.

RONDOUT VALLEY CENTRAL'S 1967 UCAL football champions will be honored Thursday night at a Football Recognition Dinner. Army football coach Tom Cahill will be the guest speaker at the dinner which is scheduled for 6 p. m. in the Marlborough school cafeteria. Cahill led the West Point squad to its second consecutive 8-2 record this year and is one of the most successful coaches in Army history. The dinner is being co-sponsored by the Kerhonkson Lions Club and Rondout Valley High school. Tickets may be obtained at all school offices, at the district office in High Falls and from members of the Lions Club.

Dukes Rip Highland, 67-50

Marlboro Central's Dukes grabbed a piece of the UCAL basketball league lead last night by overpowering Highland High, 67 to 50, at Highland.

The victory kept the Dukes tied with New Paltz for the lead with 2-0 records. The winners host Pine Bush, upended by Rondout Friday night.

Marlboro led all the way, pulling ahead 13-9 at the quarter and 27-14 at halftime. The Highlanders rallied for a good second half but were still outscored, 40-36.

With the winners in command all the way, Coach Ed Lagares was able to clear his bench and throw 12 players into the breach. Ten of the 12 collected at least two points. Ray McAteer and Mike Pagano tied for scoring honors with 11 points each. Mansh scored nine and three players — Goodyear, Hoaglander and Monahan — collected eight apiece to reflect the balanced scoring power of the Dukes. Martuscello added six for the winners.

Lee Barrington of Highland took individual scoring honors with 20 points and Paul Vallee was runnerup with 15. Cranford (9) and Olla (6) shared 15 points.

Marlboro outrebounded the Highlanders, 48-42, but they lost the ball on 12 turnovers, as opposed to nine for Highland.

Highland coach Dick Becker cited poor shooting as the major factor in his team's defeat. The Highlanders were 16 for 73 from the floor, a rather ragged 22 per cent. Highland's junior varsity players had to go double overtime to edge the Marlboro Jayvees, 36-33.

It's Quits for Huff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The violent world of Sam Huff will end Sunday.

The big linebacker, five times an All-National Football League selection, announced Tuesday that he will retire after the Washington Redskins' game with New Orleans.

Before meeting reporters, Huff sat sobbing in front of his locker for 15 minutes. His teammates, filling in from practice, passed him silently.

Huff has been with the Redskins for the past four seasons after eight eventful years with the New York Giants when his name became synonymous with the bone-crushing defensive play of the growing sport of professional football.

He was the subject of a television show, "The Violent World of Sam Huff," and was the subject of a cover story in Time Magazine. His duels with Jim Brown, the Cleveland Browns' great runner, have become legendary.

A graduate of West Virginia, the 33-year-old Huff played in 157 consecutive games before suffering an injured ankle eight weeks ago. He returned to action two weeks ago.

Middies Defeat Lourdes, 70-63

Middletown High downed Our Lady of Lourdes, 70-63, last night in a game at the winners' court.

Led by Hughes' 24 points, the Middies ran up a 19-9 quarter lead and were ahead, 39-26, at the half. With 1:13 remaining in the game, the Warriors rallied to within three points of the Middies but the winners converted two free throws and held on to win.

Lourdes' poor first half and the fine outside shooting of the Middies were key factors in the game.

Hughes collected 10 fields and four free throws for his 24 points. Sardella was second with 15 and Klemmer had 14. Mike Gorman, with 21 points off nine buckets and three free throws, paced Lourdes.

In Jayvee action, Middletown handed Lourdes its fourth straight defeat, 62-30.

Lourdes is scheduled at Poughkeepsie in a DCSL contest Friday.

Rondout Stops Pine Bush, 58-40

By CHRIS GEHMAN

Sports Staff

Winless Rondout Valley (0-2) upset undefeated Pine Bush (2-0) in UCAL hoop action last night at the Stone Ridge court. The setback shunted the Bushmen to second place in the league standings behind Marlboro Central and New Paltz, who share the lead with 2-0 records.

The Ganders broke to a 10-7 first quarter lead and were ahead by six, 20-14, at the intermission. Pine Bush rallied to hold Rondout even, 15-15, in the third period, but Coach Chick Meehan's cagers racked up 23 points in the fourth quarter to win going away.

Three of the Ganders hit in double figures, with the coach's son, John Meehan, Jr., hitting 13. Frank Samms 12 and Gordie Taylor, the football star, adding 10.

Frank Saxton paced Pine Bush with 14 points and Mercurio was runnerup with 11.

Despite the relatively low scoring, Coach Meehan was able to throw 11 players into action, with nine of them crashing the scoring column.

Having successfully hurdled the potent Bushmen, the Ganders now look ahead to another major test against unbeaten New Paltz Friday at the Rondout court. A victory for Rondout might reduce the unbeaten UCAL roster to one, as Pine Bush faces further difficulty in its date at Marlboro.

Skinner's Six Clicks

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Two years ago it was Rupp's Runts. Now it's Skinner's Short Six.

Skinner's Short Six refers to Vanderbilt's college basketball team coached by Roy Skinner. Rupp's Runts refers to the Kentucky team coached by Adolph Rupp which was beaten by Texas as Western, now Texas, El Paso, in the final of the NCAA championship tourney for the 1966 national title.

Tom Hagan, a 6-foot-3 junior and one of the Short Six, canned a 20-foot jump shot with two seconds left, to give third-ranked Vanderbilt an 81-79 overtime victory over eighth-ranked Davidson at Nashville Tuesday night.

Seventh-ranked North Carolina whipped fourth-ranked Kentucky 84-77 at Greensboro, N.C., in the other major game involving teams in The Associated Press Top Ten.

Skinner's Short Six, Hagan, Bo Wyenandt, Bob Warren, Kenny Campbell, Perry Wallace and Gene Lockyear, average only 6-3½, but they came from 12 points back to knock Davidson from the unbeaten ranks.

The Commodores rallied to tie the regulation game at 75-75 before winning in the extra period for their fourth straight. Hagan was high for Vandy with 21, including two field goals in the overtime. Rod Knowles topped Davidson with 22.

Behind at 54-53, North Carolina exploded to take an 11-point lead in the last eight minutes and hand Kentucky its first defeat. Larry Miller's tip-in put the Tar Heels ahead for good at 65-64 and Rusty Clark followed with several baskets to make it 71-64.

Clark's 23 points topped the Tar Heels, who played their best game of the season according to Coach Dean Smith.

Ed Stoner's 25 points paced Yale over Brown 73-59 in an Ivy League opener. St. John's of New York also won on the road. The Redmen survived a late Rhode Island rally to edge the Rams 64-63.

Williams made it four in a row by beating Harvard 74-59. So did University of Pacific with a 63-61 squeaker over North Texas at Denton. Tulsa's Hurricane also upped its record to 4-0 with 68-56 victory over Lamar Tech as Larry Cheatham hit on 10 field goal tries without a miss. He finished with 21 points. In other games, Michigan State beat Western Michigan 78-67, Baylor overcame New Orleans Loyola 88-75, Texas Tech defeated Oklahoma 74-67, Iowa State downed Northern Illinois 77-69 and Syracuse humbled the Georgetown Hoyas 95-78 in a game delayed for 39 minutes while police searched McDonough Gym in Washington for a bomb. None was found.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) —

Goldville, driven by Vernon Dancer, held off the stretch bid of the 8-5 favorite, Mr. Budlong, in the stretch to win Tuesday night's feature $3,500 pace by three-quarters of a length before 14,407 at Yonkers Raceway. Time for the mile was 2:04.24.

Owned by the Gold Creek Farm, the 6-year-old son of Direct Rhythm paid $16.40, $6.00 and $4.00 in gaining his fourth victory in 12 starts. Mr. Budlong returned $3.40 and $3.20. Becker Hanover paid $4.20 for show.

The big linebacker, five times an All-National Football League selection, announced Tuesday that he will retire after a Washington Redskins' game with New Orleans.

Before meeting reporters, Huff sat sobbing in front of his locker for 15 minutes. His teammates, filing in from practice, passed him silently.

Huff has been with the Redskins for the past four seasons after eight eventful years with the New York Giants when his name became synonymous with the bone-crushing defensive play of the growing sport of professional football.

He was the subject of a television show, "The Violent World of Sam Huff," and was the subject of a cover story in Time Magazine. His duels with Jim Brown, the Cleveland Browns' great runner, have become legendary.

A graduate of West Virginia, the 33-year-old Huff played in 157 consecutive games before suffering an injured ankle eight weeks ago. He returned to action two weeks ago.

Middies Defeat Lourdes, 70-63

Middletown High downed Our Lady of Lourdes, 70-63, last night in a game at the winners' court.

Led by Hughes' 24 points, the Middies ran up a 19-9 quarter lead and were ahead, 39-26, at the half. With 1:13 remaining in the game, the Warriors rallied to within three points of the Middies but the winners converted two free throws and held on to win.

Lourdes' poor first half and the fine outside shooting of the Middies were key factors in the game.

Hughes collected 10 fields and four free throws for his 24 points. Sardella was second with 15 and Klemmer had 14. Mike Gorman, with 21 points off nine buckets and three free throws, paced Lourdes.

In Jayvee action, Middletown handed Lourdes its fourth straight defeat, 62-30.

Lourdes is scheduled at Poughkeepsie in a DCSL contest Friday.

Bushmen to second place in the league standings behind Marlboro Central and New Paltz, who share the lead with 2-0 records.

The Ganders broke to a 10-7 first quarter lead and were ahead by six, 20-14, at the intermission Pine Bush rallied to hold Rondout even, 15-15, in the third period, but Coach Chick Meehan's cagers racked up 23 points in the fourth quarter to win going away.

Three of the Ganders hit in double figures, with the coach's son, John Meehan, Jr., hitting 13, Frank Samms 12 and Gordie Taylor, the football star, adding 10.

Frank Saxton paced Pine Bush with 14 points and Mercurio was runnerup with 11.

Despite the relatively low scoring, Coach Meehan was able to throw 11 players into action, with nine of them crashing the scoring column.

Having successfully hurdled the potent Bushmen, the Ganders now look ahead to another major test against unbeaten New Paltz Friday at the Rondout court. A victory for Rondout might reduce the unbeaten UCAL roster to one, as Pine Bush faces further difficulty in its date at Marlboro.

Skinner's Six Clicks

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Two years ago it was Rupp's Runts. Now it's Skinner's Short Six.

Skinner's Short Six refers to Vanderbilt's college basketball team coached by Roy Skinner. Rupp's Runts refers to the Kentucky team coached by Adolph Rupp which was beaten by Texas Western, now Texas, El Paso, in the final of the NCAA championship tourney for the 1966 national title.

Tom Hagan, a 6-foot-3 junior and one of the Short Six, canned a 20-foot jump shot with two seconds left, to give third-ranked Vanderbilt an 81-79 overtime victory over eighth-ranked Davidson at Nashville Tuesday night.

Seventh-ranked North Carolina whipped fourth-ranked Kentucky 84-77 at Greensboro, N.C., in the other major game involving teams in The Associated Press Top Ten.

Skinner's Short Six, Hagan, Bo Wyenandt, Bob Warren, Kenny Campbell, Perry Wallace and Gene Lockyear, average only 6-3½, but they came from 12 points back to knock Davidson from the unbeaten ranks.

The Commodores rallied to tie the regulation game at 75-75 before winning in the extra period for their fourth straight. Hagan was high for Vandy with 21, including two field goals in the overtime. Rod Knowles topped Davidson with 22.

Behind at 54-53, North Carolina exploded to take an 11-point lead in the last eight minutes and hand Kentucky its first defeat. Larry Miller's tip-in put the Tar Heels ahead for good at 65-64 and Rusty Clark followed with several baskets to make it 71-64.

Clark's 23 points topped the Tar Heels, who played their best game of the season according to Coach Dean Smith.

Ed Stoner's 25 points paced Yale over Brown 75-59 in an Ivy League opener. St. John's of New York also won on the road. The Redmen survived a late Rhode Island rally to edge the Rams 64-63.

Williams made it four in a row by beating Harvard 74-59. So did University of Pacific with a 63-61 squeaker over North Texas at Denton. Tulsa's Hurricane also upped its record to 4-0 with 68-56 victory over Lamar Tech as Larry Cheatham hit on 10 field goal tries without a miss. He finished with 21 points.

In other games, Michigan State beat Western Michigan 78-67, Baylor overcame New Orleans Loyola 88-75, Texas Tech Hanover paid $4.20 for show.

Owned by the Gold Creek Farm, the 6-year-old son of Direct Rhythm paid $16.40, $6.00 and $4.00 in gaining his fourth victory in 12 starts. Mr. Budlong returned $3.40 and $3.20. Becker Hanover paid $4.20 for show.

Onteora Central Stops Walkkill Cagers, 53-36

Onteora Central's Indians bombed Walkkill Central, 53-36, last night at Walkkill to move among the UCL early season contenders with a 2-1 record.

Coach Paul Jordan's cagers are tied with Pine Bush, following the Bushmen's upending by Rondout Valley. New Paltz and Marlboro share the UCL lead with 2-0 records.

Onteora led 14-12 in the first quarter of the low scoring contest and widened its margin nine points to lead, 29-20 at the half. After a brisk 14-13 third period edge, the Indians opened up a 10-3 bulge in the fourth period in the game in which the defenses definitely predominated.

A trio of Onteora's football stars — Mike Patrick, Dale Chauncey and Mickey Bush dominated the scoring. Chauncey led with 16, Patrick punted 45 and Bush rimmed 14. Coach Paul Jordan used nine players in all.

Riggins paced Walkkill with 14 points and Tuthill added nine. Onteora also won the junior varsity contest, 59-33. Bob (Shorty) Nuss was high for the Indians with 17, while Hector Hita had 11 points for the Panthers.

The loss dropped Walkkill to the UCL cellar with a 0-3 record. Onteora challenges Marlboro Central in a home game on December 19.

Pioneers Blast Newburgh, 61-43

Poughkeepsie High found DUSO League-calibre opposition easy last night, rolling to a 61-43 victory over Newburgh Academy at the NFA gym.

The Goldbacks went stone cold after building up a 13-8 quarter lead. The Pioneers rebounded with a 21-7 second period margin to lead 30-17 at the half, then outlasted their hosts, 31-23, after the recess.

Tom Royce, the Poughkeepsie sharpshooter, hit with 11 baskets and nine free throws to take individual scoring honors with 31 points. He got an 11-point assist from Johnson and Jones added eight more for the winners.

Powell led the Goldbacks with 17 on seven fields and three free throws. Briggs added 10.

Wappingers in DCSL Victory

Wappingers Falls ripped Cardinal Farley Military Academy, 84-57, last night in DCSL cage action at the loser's court.

Farley trailed 15-14 at the first quarter, but Wappingers poured in the baskets to leap ahead 42-26 at the half. Ed Bonnett sparked the effort, tallying 15 of his 31 points in the second period. Bob Rush controlled the boards, as Wappingers put out a good effort against a weaker team.

For the Jayvees, Farley won 45-32, with Villamaron pacing the squad with 18 points and De Mio potting 16 for Wappingers.

Beacon Will Protest Roosevelt Victory

Roosevelt High upset favored Beacon High, 70-69, in a DCSL thriller last night but Bulldog Coach Dick DiBiasi said he will protest the game.

DiBiasi claims a technical foul should have been called on Roosevelt Coach Gerry Marquardt with seven seconds left in the first period. Marquardt ran out on the court to advise his players, throwing a towel down at the same time. The referee did not call a technical because, he said, time had already been called.

Beacon, although closing with a 22-18 fourth period margin, never led in the game and surrendered the ball on 26 turnovers. Charlie Harris snagged 23 rebounds for the Bulldogs. Nate Milligan led the scoring attack with 23 points. Bob O'Connor paced the Presidents with nine field goals and 1 free throw for 19 points. Beacon took the jayvee contest 68-37. Scott Barrett was high for Beacon with 12 points, and Albertson was high for Roosevelt with 13.

This contest brings both varsity records to one and one. Beacon plays a home game against Arlington next, and Roosevelt travels to Saugerties, both on the same night, Dec. 15.

At GE, in the Aerospace Electronics Dept. in Utica, New York, the work we're doing is just too fast-paced and advanced for us to require previous specific experience. It wouldn't always apply. What we do require is sound knowledge of electronics theory. Give us that and we'll give you the chance to work in the above fields as well as in military TV and missile/space electronics.

We prefer that you be a two-year technical institute graduate in electronics or electrical technology. Military electronics background is also helpful.

Pioneers Blast Newburgh, 61-43

Poughkeepsie High found DUSO League-calibre opposition easy last night, rolling to a 61-43 victory over Newburgh Academy at the NFA gym.

The Goldbacks went stone cold after building up a 13-8 quarter lead. The Pioneers rebounded with a 21-7 second period margin to lead 30-17 at the half, then outthrust the hosts, 31-23, after the recess.

Tom Royce, the Poughkeepsie sharpshooter, hit with 11 baskets and nine free throws to take individual scoring honors with 31 points. He got an 11-point assist from Johnson and Jones added eight more for the winners.

Powell led the Goldbacks with 17 on seven fields and three free throws. Briggs added 10.

Wappingers in DCSL Victory

Wappingers Falls ripped Cardinal Farley Military Academy, 84-57, last night in DCSL cage action at the loser's court.

Farley trailed 15-14 at the first quarter, but Wappingers poured in the baskets to leap ahead 42-26 at the half. Ed Bonnett sparked the effort, tallying 15 of his 31 points in the second period. Bob Rush controlled the boards, as Wappingers put out a good effort against a weaker team.

For the Jayvees, Farley won 45-32, with Villamaron pacing the squad with 18 points and De Mio potting 16 for Wappingers.

Beacon Will Protest Roosevelt Victory

Roosevelt High upset favored Beacon High, 70-69, in a DCSL thriller last night but Bulldog Coach Dick DiBiao said he will protest the game.

DiBiao claims a technical foul should have been called on Roosevelt Coach Gerry Marquardt with seven seconds left in the first period. Marquardt ran out on the court to advise his players, throwing a towel down at the same time. The referee did not call a technical because, he said, time had already been called.

Beacon, although closing with a 22-18 fourth period margin, never led in the game and surrendered the ball on 26 turnovers. Charlie Harris snagged 23 rebounds for the Bulldogs. Nate Milligan led the scoring attack with 23 points.

Bob O'Connor paced the Presidents with nine field goals and 1 free throw for 19 points. Beacon took the jayvee contest 68-37. Scott Barrett was high for Beacon with 12 points, and Albertson was high for Roosevelt with 13.

This contest brings both varsity records to one and one. Beacon plays a home game against Arlington next, and Roosevelt travels to Saugerties, both on the same night, Dec. 15.

Rod 'n Gun Report

by "Old Rip"

The finding of two dead cats, shot and draped over a barbed wire barrier to posted lands in the High Falls area, has incensed some residents living in the Lucas Avenue Extension-Kings Highway section.

Already disturbed over increased incidents of deer jack-ing (gun shots at night are becoming a common occurrence) and trespassing on posted lands, the cat cruelty caper adds insult to injury, they told The Freeman.

A doe, which had been found shot and left behind and barbed wire cut in several sections are also reported by residents thought perhaps to be the work of people living in Ulster County rather than out-of-towners. Cars and trucks were parked in the area at the time of the reported incidents bore area registrations.

HOW ABOUT IT, DAD? In this country, it's a rare boy who doesn't want to go hunting. Young Americans seem born that way. But remember this — no boy is born with the knowledge of how to handle a gun properly. That's something he has to learn.

And what better instructor can he have than his Dad? It's simply not enough to hand a boy a shotgun or a rifle and tell him to be careful. Take your son afield with you and teach him proper gun manners. You'll not only avoid possible trouble, but nothing brings a father and son any closer than being hunting companions.

WERE YOU THIS LUCKY? A person taking or finding a deer or bear carrying an ear tag marked "Reward," is eligible for a reward — deer ($10) and bear ($25) provided he turns in (in addition to the place and date taken) the tag and (for deer) its lower jaw or (for bear) its whole head. Jaws or heads may be shipped express collect to: Big Game Project, Wildlife Research Laboratory, Delmar, N. Y. 12054. Let us hear from you, if you were just plain lucky.

Glad to hear that our pal, Louis Lafforth of Schenectady, who writes an outdoor column for the Schenectady Gazette, has been named a director and vice president of the White Tail Deer Association.

SHORT SHOTS: Sportsmen are urged to look for a new TV show making its debut in January. "The Outdoor Man" featuring Joe Foss, a former U. S. wartime flying ace, Foss is widely known as a sportsman and also served as president of the American Football League.

Local listings and channel will be announced. More than 1600 big game licenses were issued by Spada's Sport Shop this season. And you say hunting isn't big time?

Soft spoken and overly quiet Eddie Sammons of Port Ewen, has been proclaimed champion "duck plucker" of the year. We had the pleasure of seeing him dry pluck a wood duck in two minutes flat.

Bob (Tall) Smith, the well known bowling star, using his height to great advantage in marking down pheasants at a local club preserve. Better than a dog, quip Rod and Nat Phillips, in finding those swamp birds.

Glad to see our good friend, Phil Gillen, local game warden, sound again after a hospital rest. Ditto to Ralph Bradford, Eddyville, who realizes he is not as young as he'd like to be. Nice to see Mark Cornwell guiding those Three Musketeers — Lew Shaw, Ray Caunitz and Orrie DeGraff — on their weekly pheasant jaunts.

Looks like Old Rip and the Mrs will have to settle for Angus beef instead of venison when brother-in-law, Charlie Shader, of Centerville, entertains for dinner. Seems as if he couldn't find one of those creatures with horns on this year.

Perhaps the change of pasture for Al Cawein, from the city desk to the uptown "country club" will also change his deer luck. Surely he won't have as many customers for his venison (when he gets one).

How about a salute to Ray Fairbrother, father of Jean Dolan, also of the city desk, who got his fine buck, an 8-pointer, on his farm at Vestal.

MANY LOCAL SPORTSMEN now turning their sights

to white rabbit hunting in the mountain sections. These elusive bunnies require the use of better dogs that often run hours before a hunter may get sight of them. We can recall some years back of having the pleasure of such a hunt in Chester-town as the guests of Bun and Mary Arndt and a frolic in deep snow with snowmobiles for transportation to the higher elevations.

The Speculator section also provides good snow shoe hunting, while locally they may be found in the North Lake and Andes areas. Local sporting goods dealers may do well to solicit Roland Theoret for his ammunition order next year. On his recent safari to Vermont he had occasion to use 32 bullets in his 30.06, only to realize it wasn't shooting straight. He's now wearing a mini shirt for winter winds.

What to do when you shoot a doe? Keep it, if it has horns. That's what Vidar Haggblom of Krumville did. He came up with a five-point doe from the Mombassus area. Now it looks as if Old Rip has heard just about everything this year.

AN EDITORIAL BY OLD RIP: We wonder how local sportsmen feel about the newly enacted gun law in the City of New York? Mayor Lindsay has signed the law outlawing rifles and shotguns, unless they are licensed and registered. Now for the fly in the ointment. The $3 fee per weapon isn't enough and the big city boss has indicated a hike in the fee, possibly to as high as $25.

True, New York is a big city and 100 miles away, but we wonder if perhaps the same measure may find its way to our local area. We have been assured by Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson that he is opposed to gun legislation recently proposed. But, will things change in time to come?

We urge all sportsmen and sporting goods dealers to be prepared to fight tooth-and-nail should any such law be proposed locally. We wonder if a rash of knifings in the big city would prompt the mayor to enact a law licensing the dear lady of the house and her paring knife. Come on, sportsmen, let's hear from you on this issue. In the meantime, we just keep wondering — where do we go from here?

OLD RIP SEZ: Now that you shot all those bucks, whose going to draw Santa's sleigh on Christmas Eve?

It Was Long Road Back for Johnny Unitas

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — John

Unitas, shut out without a vote

last year, was named quarterback of the National Football League All-Star team selected for The Associated Press today by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Colts through 13 games without defeat was recognized by the

Despite the Colts' fine record,

the old reliable Green Bay

Packers still had the most men on the team with a total of six,

Unitas, tight end John Mackey and flanker Willie Richardson on the first offensive team. The Rams put two of their Fearsom Foursoms on the defensive line — end Dave "Deacon"

Jones and tackle Merlin Olsen.

Incomparable Backfield

Unitas' running backs on the first team were the incomparable Gale Sayers of Chicago and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland. His receivers were Mackey, Richardson and split end Charley

Taylor of Washington.

Bob DeMarco of St. Louis was the center, flanked by Jerry

Kramer of Green Bay and Gene

Hickerson of Cleveland at the guards and Ralph Neady of Dallas and Forrest Gregg of Green

Bay at the tackles.

The five repeaters from 1966

on offense were Mackey, Gregg, year ago.

Unitas, of course, was filling the spot Bart Starr of Green

Bay held in 1966.

There were only three changes in the defensive unit,

two linebackers and one cornerback. The same front four were back. That meant Willie Davis of Green Bay at one end and

Jones at the other with Bob Lilly of Dallas and Olsen at the tackles.

Tommy Nobis of Atlanta

Bay's Ray Nitschke last year.

Dave Robinson of the Packers, replacing teammate Lee Roy

Caffey, and repeater Chuck

Howley of Dallas, were the other linebackers.

Bob Jeter of the Packers out-

sted his veteran teammate, Herb

Adderley, from one starting corner back job. Cornell Green of Dallas was a repeater at the other corner and both Larry

Wilson of St. Louis and Willie

Wood of Green Bay were back again as safeties.

Red Hook Wins Over New Paltz; 44 to 36

Red Hook's Raiders squeaked by New Paltz High cagers, 44-36, in a non-league contest last night at New Paltz.

St. Mary's Mets Cage Victors

St. Mary's Mets downed St. Joseph's 46-32 in the CYO Intermediate cage opener for both clubs last night.

St. Joseph's, a junior team playing in the intermediate league, stayed even with St. Mary's until the third quarter, when St. Mary's pulled ahead 30-22. Score at the half was 20-19. St. Mary's. The Mets outscored the Juniors 16-10 in the final period to ice the win, 46-32.

Mark Toney led the attack for St. Mary's with eight field goals and one free throw for 17 points. Maisenhelder was high for St. Joseph's with eight points.

Rod 'n Gun Report

by "Old Rip"

The finding of two dead cats, shot and draped over a barbed wire barrier to posted lands in the High Falls area, has incensed some residents living in the Lucas Avenue Extension-Kings Highway section.

Already disturbed over increased incidents of deer jacking (gun shots at night are becoming a common occurrence) and trespassing on posted lands, the cat cruelty caper adds insult to injury, they told The Freeman.

A doe, which had been found shot and left behind and barbed wire cut in several sections are also reported by residents thought perhaps to be the work of people living in Ulster County rather than out-of-towners. Cars and trucks seen parked in the area at the time of the reported incidents bore area registrations.

HOW ABOUT IT, DAD? In this country, it's a rare boy who doesn't want to go hunting. Young Americans seem born that way. But remember this — no boy is born with the knowledge of how to handle a gun properly. That's something he has to learn.

And what better instructor can he have than his Dad? It's simply not enough to hand a boy a shotgun or a rifle and tell him to be careful. Take your son afield with you and teach him proper gun manners. You'll not only avoid possible trouble, but nothing brings a father and son any closer than being hunting companions.

WERE YOU THIS LUCKY? A person taking or finding a deer or bear carrying an ear tag marked "Reward, is eligible for a reward — deer ($10) and bear ($25) provided he turns in (in addition to the place and date taken) the tag and (for deer) its lower jaw or (for bear) its whole head. Jaws or heads may be shipped express collect to: Big Game Project, Wildlife Research Laboratory, Delmar, N. Y. 12054. Let us hear from you, if you were just plain lucky.

Glad to hear that our pal, Louis Lafforthon of Schenectady, who writes an outdoor column for the Schenectady Gazette, has been named a director and vice president of the White Tail Deer Association.

SHORT SHOTS: Sportsmen are urged to look for a new TV show making its debut in January, "The Outdoor Man" featuring Joe Foss, a former U. S. wartime flying ace. Foss is widely known as a sportsman and also served as president of the American Football League.

More than 1600 big game licenses were issued by Spada's Sport Shop this season. And you say hunting isn't big time?

Soft spoken and overly quiet Eddie Sammons of Port Ewen, has been proclaimed champion "duck plucker" of the year. We had the pleasure of seeing him dry pluck a wood duck in two minutes flat.

Bob (Tall) Smith, the well known bowling star, using his height to great advantage in marking down pheasants at a local club preserve. Better than a dog, quip Rod and Nat Phillips, in finding those swamp birds.

Glad to see our good friend, Phil Gillen, local game warden, sound again after a hospital rest. Ditto to Ralph Bradford, Eddyville, who realizes he is not as young as he'd like to be. Nice to see Mark Cornwell guiding those Three Musketeers — Lew Shaw, Ray Caunitz and Orrie DeGraff — on their weekly pheasant jaunts.

Looks like Old Rip and the Mrs will have to settle for Angus beef instead of venison when brother-in-law, Charlie Shader of Centerville, entertains for dinner. Seems as if he couldn't find one of those creatures with horns on this year.

Perhaps the change of pasture for Al Cavein, from the city desk to the uptown "country club" will also change his deer luck. Surely he won't have as many customers for his venison (when he gets one).

How about a salute to Ray Fairbrother, father of Jean Dolan, also of the city desk, who got his fine buck, an 8-pointer, on his farm at Vestal.

MANY LOCAL SPORTSMEN now turning their sights

to white rabbit hunting in the mountain sections. These elusive bunnies require the use of better dogs that often run hours before a hunter may get sight of them. We can recall some years back of having the pleasure of such a hunt in Chester-town as the guests of Bun and Mary Arndt and a frolic in deep snow with snowmobiles for transportation to the higher elevations.

The Speculator section also provides good snow shoe hunting, while locally they may be found in the North Lake and Andes areas. Local sporting goods dealers may do well to solicit Roland Theoret for his ammunition order next year. On his recent safari to Vermont he had occasion to use 32 bullets in his 30.06, only to realize it wasn't shooting straight. He's now wearing a mini shirt for winter winds.

What to do when you shoot a doe? Keep it, if it has horns. That's what Vidar Haggblom of Krumville did. He came up with a five-point doe from the Mombassus area. Now it looks as if Old Rip has heard just about everything this year.

AN EDITORIAL BY OLD RIP: We wonder how local sportsmen feel about the newly enacted gun law in the City of New York? Mayor Lindsay has signed the law outlawing rifles and shotguns, unless they are licensed and registered.

Now for the fly in the ointment. The $3 fee per weapon isn't enough and the big city boss has indicated a hike in the fee, possibly to as high as $25.

True, New York is a big city and 100 miles away, but we wonder if perhaps the same measure may find its way to our local area. We have been assured by Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson that he is opposed to gun legislation recently proposed. But, will things change in time to come?

We urge all sportsmen and sporting goods dealers to be prepared to fight tooth-and-nail should any such law be proposed locally. We wonder if a rash of knifings in the big city would prompt the mayor to enact a law licensing the dear lady of the house and her paring knife. Come on, sportsmen, let's hear from you on this issue. In the meantime, we just keep wondering — where do we go from here?

OLD RIP SEZ: Now that you shot all those bucks, whose going to draw Santa's sleigh on Christmas Eve?

MISS TRAILSWEEPERS for 1967-68 is Miss Gayle Palmer of West Hurley who was named queen by a vote of club members. She will now reign over all the activities of the club sponsors during the 1967-68 season. She will also become a candidate for Miss Rip Van Winkle honors.

It Was Long Road Back for Johnny Unitas

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Unitas, shut out without a vote last year, was named quarter-back of the National Football League All-Star team selected for The Associated Press today by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Unitas' skill in guiding the Colts through 13 games without defeat was recognized by a landslide vote of the committee.

three from each league city.

Despite the Colts' fine record, the old reliable Green Bay Packers still had the most men on the team with a total of six, two on offense and four on defense. Dallas placed four and Baltimore three. Nine of the teams had players on the first team. New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New Orleans, Minnesota, Detroit and San Francisco were blanked.

Looking ahead to Sunday's meeting of the Colts and Los Angeles Rams for the right to play the Packers in the Western Conference final, Baltimore has Unitas, tight end John Mackey and flanker Willie Richardson on the first offensive team. The Rams put two of their Fear-some Foursome on the defense line—end Dave "Deacon" Jones and tackle Merlin Olsen.

Incomparable Backfield Unitas' running backs on the first team were the incomparable Gale Sayers of Chicago and Leroy Kelly of Cleveland. His receivers were Mackey, Richardson and split end Charley Taylor of Washington.

Bob DeMarco of St. Louis was the center, flanked by Jerry Kramer of Green Bay and Gene Hickerson of Cleveland at the guards and Ralph Neely of Dallas and Forrest Gregg of Green Bay at the tackles.

The five repeaters from 1966 on offense were Mackey, Gregg, Unitas, of course, was filling the spot Bart Starr of Green Bay held in 1966.

There were only three changes in the defensive unit, two linebackers and one cornerback. The same front four were back. That meant Willie Davis of Green Bay at one end and Jones at the other with Bob Lilly of Dallas and Olsen at the tackles.

Tommy Nobis of Atlanta pushed his way into the middle linebacker job, held by Green Bay's Ray Nitschke last year. Dave Robinson of the Packers, replacing teammate Lee Roy Caffey, and repeater Chuck Howley of Dallas, were the other linebackers.

Bob Jeter of the Packers ousted his veteran teammate, Herb Adderley, from one starting corner back job. Cornell Green of Dallas was a repeater at the other corner and both Larry Wilson of St. Louis and Willie Wood of Green Bay were back again as safeties.

St. Mary's Nobis of Atlanta pushed his way into the middle linebacker job, held by Green Bay's Ray Nitschke last year. Dave Robinson of the Packers, replacing teammate Lee Roy Caffey, and repeater Chuck Howley of Dallas, were the other linebackers.

The Tenpin Roundup

Bilyeu's 684 Series Leads Area Bowlers

Five-Star Classic bowlers at College Lanes (New Paltz) dominated the scoring action in area tenpin leagues.

Veteran Tim Bilyeu of Ellenville led the parade with a rousing 684 off games of 223, 235, 226. Runnerup was Frank Bandiero, with 202, 228-653 in the same circuit.

Vince Carpio of Kingston joined the high scoring parade with 213, 236-236.

Frank Anzalone fired 223-606, Phil Versace 610, Harry McCarthy 203, 237-609, Harold Broskie 203, 202, 211-613. Three other bowlers in the league rolled 600 sets but failed to list first names.

Groucho, at Age 72 Has Offers Waiting

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "When I turned 60, I thought I was television with Goodman Ace washed-up, that nobody would and Groucho as a wacky Hunt want to hire me. And now I've le-Brinkley; 3. A syndicated got more offers of jobs than series of five-minute television tapes with Groucho grousing about contemporary customs.

Such is the position of Groucho Marx, the irreverent elder statesman of American comedy who refused to act his age, which is 72. Among the offers which most appeal to him:

1. A series of interviews for Public Broadcast Laboratory; 2. A nightly news commentary on television with Goodman Ace; 3. A syndicated series of five-minute television tapes with Groucho grousing about contemporary customs.

On Music Hall

These projects cast Groucho in his latter-day role as the satiric sage, the commentator with sharp aim at pomposity and human folly. That is how today's generation knows him. Those who hark back to the mad musical comedies of the Marx Brothers will be able to view the master in his fine old form tonight on NBC's Kraft Music Hall.

Groucho is host and performer on a special called "A Taste of Funny," and he will be performing in his classic roles as Captain Spaulding and Dr. Hacksenbush. He sings, he dances, he lopes about the stage like a lecherous fox. His performance may prove a revelation to youngsters who know him only as the acid quizzas-

ter. Groucho is no mossback who yearns for the good old days of vaudeville; he has reiterated that the general run of comedy in vaudeville was pretty corny and tired. He does claim that humor has fallen upon bad times in recent years, and he offered his reason for the decline.

"The laugh track," he declared. "Those phony, recorded laughs on television comedies have done more to destroy comedy than anything else. The laugh track has made it too easy for writers. They no longer have to struggle to write funny material. They know that if a joke doesn't go over, it can be covered with a laugh track."

Groucho found something else to deplore in the comedy field: the use of off-color material by younger comics. He cited Buddy Hackett as a consistent offender.

Praises Hackett

"He doesn't need it," Groucho declared. "Buddy is a brilliant monologist who can convulse an audience without using blue material. I've told him this and asked him why he does it. He says, 'I've got it inside me. I have to let it out.' I don't understand that at all."

"To me the best of the new comedians is Sheeky Green; he is a comedian's comedian. And except for an occasional line, he doesn't use dirty material. That shows it can be done."

Advise Seniors Of New Income Questionnaires

All pensioners and dependent parents receiving income questionnaires with their December

1 checks from the Veterans Administration are advised not to compute Social Security payments at an increased rate for 1968. Enter the anticipated income from this source at the same rate received for 1967.

Rocci A. Scelsi, contact representative in charge, Veterans Administration Office, Stuyvesant Plaza, Albany, advised today that the Veterans Administration itself will make any necessary changes to income data after it is received.

Scelsi also reminds all pension recipients that the income questionnaires must be received by the Veterans Administration on or before January 31, 1968 to prevent interruption in payments.

Protesters Are Suspended

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) —

Twenty-three University of Rochester graduate students who protested against a Dow Chemical Co. recruiter Nov. 8 are suspended for the second semester of the 1967-68 school year, the university says.

A total of 91 undergraduates were placed on probation last month for participating in the sit-in demonstration. Provost McCrea Hazlett said Tuesday the graduate students were suspended because coercion of others "violates the fundamental spirit and moral foundation of the university." Being older than undergraduates, they should have understood their action better, he said.

Hazlett said the suspension will become effective Jan. 30 and continue to Sept. 19. Modification of the punishment to include probation, could be asked for by the graduate students by Jan. 8. Such modification would allow them to continue their education, he said.

The campus appearance of the recruiter for Dow was protested by the students. Dow manufactures napalm used by U.S. armed forces in Vietnam.

The faculty committee, which recommended there be no punishment, was overruled by the university administration on the suspension decision, Hazlett said.

Liquor on Campus Rules Are Relaxed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —

Units of the State University gradually are relaxing rules against liquor on campus, and the Binghamton facility now has taken a giant step.

The approximately 4,000 students there will be able to consume and keep alcoholic beverages in their dormitory rooms after the Student Affairs Council completes its list of rules and regulations on liquor consumption.

Earlier this year, the Stony Brook unit adopted a similar policy on an experimental basis. Several other units now allow alcoholic beverages on campus on "special occasions."

The new policy at Binghamton, to take effect on a date to be set by the dean of students and the student governing body, represents a big change in the attitude toward liquor on campus. Until last year, the use or possession of liquor was prohibited at Binghamton, better known as Harpur.

A spokesman for the Binghamton unit noted that it had taken "a couple of interim steps last year" by allowing the sale of beer and hard liquor at "some selective functions."

He told reporters that student courts would be set up to police the new policy.

State officials here said each of the 59 units of the State Uni-

Levitt Names Study Committee On State Laws

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today appointed a 6-member study committee — with himself as chairman — to recommend an overhaul of state laws dealing with town finances and town highways.

He said the committee's goal would be to submit its proposals for consideration by the 1969 Legislature, with the possibility of having some recommendations ready for the 1968 session.

"Present legal provisions relating to town budgetary and fiscal management procedures are confused, outmoded and leave much to be desired," Levitt said in a statement.

The problem has been complicated, he continued, by piecemeal amendments to the town law "which must be interpreted in conjunction with even more obscure and antiquated financial provisions in the highway law."

Among those who agreed to serve on the committee are the Democratic chairman and ranking Republican member of the Joint Legislative Committee on the Town Law. They are, respectively, Assemblyman Joseph T. St. Lawrence of Suffern, Rockland County, and Sen. Leon E. Giuffreda of Centereach, Suffolk County.

The committee also includes several town supervisors, town and county highway superintendents and representatives of the State Transportation Department, the State Office for Local Government and the Citizens' Public Expenditure Survey Inc., a taxpayers' organization.

Rocky Has Town Meeting In Binghamton

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) —

This Southern Tier city provided the setting today for the last of the "town meetings" that Gov. Rockefeller has been conducting across the state since mid-November.

The Republican governor booked the art gallery of the Robertson Memorial Center for his 12th question-and-answer forum. His avowed purpose is to obtain citizen views on the kind of program he should present to the 1968 Legislature.

At previous meetings, Rockefeller fielded numerous complaints from upstate citizens about rising costs of the medical-care program. He also has been urged at various stops to provide more state aid for education and welfare and to strengthen law enforcement.

Rockefeller repeatedly has told his audiences that state taxes would have to be raised if spending requests are fulfilled.

The governor planned to fly here from New York in his private plane and return immediately after the afternoon session.

Dr. Lippman Speaks to Voter League

The study group in county Government of the four League of Women Voters of Ulster County met recently with Dr. Jack Lippman, president of the Dutchess County Charter Commission, at Mrs. H. Cornwell's home in New Paltz.

Dr. Lippman presented many ideas on county government and discussed the philosophy of county government and charter making. He told about the experiences of establishing Dutchess County's charter commission, including the problems which confronted the commission.

Mrs. Jeremiah Sachs of the Kingston League is chairman of the four league study groups in county government. Mrs. Charles Steele of Saugerties, Mrs. Kenneth Green of New Paltz, and Mrs. Carl Grant of Woodstock represent their respective leagues.

NATO Wants To Get Along With Soviets

BRUSSELS (AP) —

Foreign Ministers of the Atlantic Alliance met today to consider prospects for making the North Atlantic Treaty Organization a forum for the exploration and coordination of plans for getting along with the Soviet Union.

Much depended on how far French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville was willing to go alone.

The foreign ministers of the 15 NATO countries are holding their annual winter meeting today and Thursday after two days of military meetings by the defense ministers and military chief of staff.

After President Charles de Gaulle withdrew France from the military organization of the alliance, Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel proposed that the members examine what it could do in the future. Its main job remains to act as a shield against Soviet aggression, but many Europeans are convinced this is no longer so necessary and want to put the emphasis on reducing tension with Moscow.

The "Harmel exercise" has produced a still secret plan which is far from being agreed upon. Despite elaborate efforts to avoid even the appearance of giving NATO any authority over East-West relations, there have been many objections from Roger Seydoux, the permanent French representative at NATO headquarters.

French officials are highly suspicious of anything that seems to limit De Gaulle's freedom to seek his own arrangements with Moscow.

Lump Shifts

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Yes, Mrs. Manuel Valencia, that lump in your living room couch probably did shift as you suspected.

After a week, Mrs. Valencia and her family grew accustomed to the lump and hardly noticed it at all.

Her husband discovered it under the refrigerator, a 7-foot boa constrictor.

Groucho, at Age 72 Has Offers Waiting

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "When I turned 60, I thought I was washed-up, that nobody would want to hire me. And now I've got more offers of jobs than series of five-minute television ever before!"

All pensioners and dependent parents receiving income questionnaires with their December checks from the Veterans Administration are advised not to compute Social Security payments at an increased rate for 1968. Enter the anticipated income from this source at the same rate received for 1967.

Rocci A. Scelsi, contact representative-in charge, Veterans Administration Office, Stuyvesant Plaza, Albany, advised today that the Veterans Administration itself will make any necessary changes to income data after it is received.

Scelsi also reminds all pension recipients that the income questionnaires must be received by the Veterans Administration on or before January 31, 1968 to prevent interruption in payments.

Protesters Are Suspended

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Twenty-three University of Rochester graduate students who protested against a Dow Chemical Co. recruiter Nov. 8 are suspended for the second semester of the 1967-68 school year, the university says.

A total of 91 undergraduates were placed on probation last month for participating in the sit-in demonstration. Provost McCrea Hazlett said Tuesday the graduate students were suspended because coercion of others "violates the fundamental spirit and moral foundation of the university." Being older than undergraduates, they should have understood their action better, he said.

Hazlett said the suspension will become effective Jan. 30 and continue to Sept. 19. Modification of the punishment to include probation could be asked for by the graduate students by Jan. 8. Such modification would allow them to continue their education, he said.

The campus appearance of the recruiter for Dow was protested by the students. Dow manufactures napalm used by U.S. armed forces in Vietnam. The faculty committee, which recommended there be no punishment, was overruled by the university administration on the suspension decision, Hazlett said.

Dear Abby

'Relate' Real Feelings

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: My husband works in an administrative group. They are all highly educated people. In searching for new approaches to work, they bandy such terms as "creativity" and "sensitivity" and "relating" to one another. My husband says it is tiresome and ludicrous.

Not only does this require special meetings, they also retreat closer to some dude ranch where there ships with each other, but my husband is a busy, fine meals and overnight accommodations to relate to each other even better. Left over spouses are not included, so we sit home for days, waiting for them to finish up all the relating they can't seem to accomplish in town at the office.

I think it's admirable to organize such outings for the marrieds to help lead them to reinforcements. Hold off on declarations, pronouncements. Wait for additional information.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You are able to see path to progress. Key is steady approach. Forego sensational methods. Stick to basic procedures. Then way opens for greater recognition, profit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be perceptive. Notice apparent minor matters. Detect nuances. Accent today on affairs of heart, emotions. You could become involved in clandestine activity. Be wary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Heed advice offered by friend. You may not agree. But permit logic to rule sentiment. Be practical where basic affairs are concerned. Get estimates. Choose economy and quality.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Mate, partner advocates tearing down in order to rebuild. You tend to be confused. Communicate doubts, aspirations. Gain greater emotional rapport with loved one.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are vital, able to express yourself well enough to be writer, reporter. You are attracted to law and publishing. Personal magnetism makes you attractive to opposite sex. Changes due may involve travel.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Headlines concern financial manipulations, concern over inflationary spiral.

(To find out more about yourself and astrology, order Sydney Omarr's 50-page booklet, "The Truth About Astrology." Send 50 cents to Omarr Booklet, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 3240, Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10017.)

DEAR ABBY: My teen-aged daughter is convinced she is ugly, and she is right. The sad part of it is, she does it to herself. She is a very bright girl, and God gave her a pretty face, but she ruins her appearance by wearing her hair in an unruly mop and letting her posture go.

I have told her if she would cut off half that mop and take some time for exercise to strengthen her abdominal muscles and her ankles each day she would be attractive, but she doesn't listen to me.

Should I continue to nag and insult her? Or should I let her face the insults of the outside world? LOVING MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: Leave her alone. If she is as bright as you say she is, she will soon realize she is losing out (if in-Occasions.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old married woman, Jimmy is 29. We have been married for 6 years and have one child. We also have a big problem. Something has suddenly gone haywire with our love life, if you know what I mean. At first I pretended it didn't make that much difference to me, because I didn't want to hurt Jimmy's feelings. Then I realized that wasn't the answer either because we are both young yet, and I want a larger family.

I finally got Jimmy to go talk to our pastor, but when he came back he said he just asked the pastor if he could help him quit smoking. Jimmy is very shy and can't talk to anyone about personal subjects. Can you help me?

DEAR YETTA: Jimmy needs the help. I can't help him and neither can a pastor unless the pastor can get him to a doctor. No one need be "shy" confiding in a doctor on any subject. They've heard everything. Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069.

For a personal reply, inclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Then I realized that wasn't the answer either because we are both young yet, and I want a larger family.

I finally got Jimmy to go talk to our pastor, but when he came back he said he just asked the pastor if he could help him quit smoking. Jimmy is very shy and can't talk to anyone about personal subjects. Can you help me?

DEAR YETTA: Jimmy needs the help. I can't help him and neither can a pastor unless the pastor can get him to a doctor. No one need be "shy" confiding in a doctor on any subject. They've heard everything. Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069.

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

Forecast for Thursday, December 14, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): What appears financial roadblock could be mere illusion. Day features change, possible travel. You elucidate thoughts. You surprise yourself by laying on line your basic beliefs.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Cycle continues high. Your outlook is apt to be visionary. You tend to view persons, situations in idealistic manner. Key is to combine hope with practical approach. Keep powder dry.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Some of your affairs appear to be going backward. Key is to look beyond surface indications. Many who work with you appear cynical. Adhere to principles. Be patient and firm.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your friends may not be reliable today. Well-meaning persons do not necessarily possess facts. Be responsible for your own decisions, actions. Word to wise should be sufficient.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Power and authority reside with you. One who makes aggressive gesture lacks ammunition. Know this. Maintain dignity. Finish project. Complete task at hand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): How you handle unusual assignments is spotlighted. Emphasis on writing, travel, special dealings with relatives. Be a self-starter. Accent independence, originality.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You could feel tied in knots waiting for financial green light. Key is to rise above petty details. See project as a whole. Gain deep understanding of associates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Before breaking ties be sure of ground. Means don't make aggressive move until positive of

The only name player last- ing to the semifinals in the national rubber bridge championships at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas was Morrie Elis, of New York. Morrie won many national titles including the Vanderbilt in the late '30s and '40s but has confined himself to rubber bridge play for the last 20 years. Maybe that's the way to practice for a rubber bridge tournament.

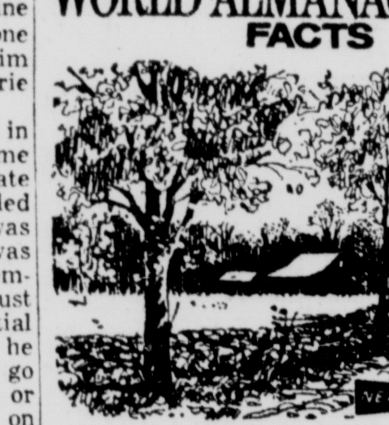

Morrie sat South and it was the next to the last hand of his quarter-final match. Both sides were vulnerable and he was exactly 600 points behind when he picked up a fine spade hand. He opened one spade, his partner raised him to two spades and Morrie passed.

He wouldn't have done so in a regular rubber bridge game or in any form of duplicate since his hand clearly called for a bid of game, but this was a tournament and Morrie was bidding to the score. It seemed to him that he would be just as well off making a partial as winning the rubber. If he won the rubber, he would go into the last hand with a 20 or 50 point lead, depending on whether he made four or five tricks. This would leave an even-Steven situation for the last hand.

If he made a part score he would be in almost as fine a position. Another part score would give him game and rubber, and assuming he made more than one trump or two clubs or diamonds he would win by a few points which was all that counted.

On the other hand, if his opponents competed he would have to double them and set them two tricks to win. The

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The brilliant colors of fall foliage are caused, says The World Almanac, when, in early September, a layer of cells forms at the base of each leaf, blocking the flow of water and nutrients from the twig. The leaf's green chlorophyll bleaches away, revealing other pigments that were masked all summer by the dominant green.

Dear Abby

'Relate' Real Feelings

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: My husband works in an administrative group. They are all highly educated people. In searching for new approaches to work, they bandy such terms as "creativity" and "sensitivity" and "relating" to one another. My husband says it is tiresome and ludicrous.
Not only does this require special meetings, they also retreat to some dude ranch where there is a bar, pool, fine meals and overnight accommodations to relate to each other even better. Left over spouses are not included, so we sit home for days, waiting for them to finish up all the relating they can't seem to accomplish in town at the office.

I think it's admirable to organize such outings for the marrieds to help lead them to closer interpersonal relationships with each other, but my poor husband gets fed up with all this nonsense. He telephones to tell me how bored he is, and frequently he comes home early, if he hasn't driven out with someone else. I asked him what would happen if he flatly refused to go. What do you think, Abby?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old married woman. Jimmy is 29. We have been married for 6 years and have one child. We also have a big problem. Something has suddenly gone haywire with our love life, if you know what I mean. At first I pretended it didn't make that much difference to me, because I didn't want to hurt Jimmy's feelings. Then I realized that wasn't the answer either because we are both young yet, and I want a larger family.
I finally got Jimmy to go talk to our pastor, but when he came back he said he just asked the pastor if he could help him quit smoking. Jimmy is very shy and can't talk to anyone about personal subjects. Can you help me?
YETTA

FROSTED IN TUCSON
DEAR FROSTED: And what did he say? If the whole business is as tiresome and ludicrous as he says it is, why doesn't he flatly refuse to go and find out?
I have told her if she would cut off half that mop and take some time for exercise to strengthen her abdominal muscles and her ankles each day she would be attractive, but she doesn't listen to me.
Should I continue to nag and insult her? Or should I let her face the insults of the outside world? LOVING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Leave her alone. If she is as bright as you say she is, she will soon realize she is losing out (if in-

DEAR ABBY: My teen-aged daughter is convinced she is ugly, and she is right. The sad part of it is, she does it to herself. She is a very bright girl, and God gave her a pretty face, but she ruins her appearance by wearing her hair in an unruly mop and letting her posture go.
I have told her if she would cut off half that mop and take some time for exercise to strengthen her abdominal muscles and her ankles each day she would be attractive, but she doesn't listen to me.
Should I continue to nag and insult her? Or should I let her face the insults of the outside world? LOVING MOTHER

They call the sick person a "patient" because that's what you have to be to get in to see a doctor these days.

Most of the gals we know are hard at work getting their Christmas male early.

No, Gwendolyn, "mistletoe" isn't something a fellow gets if he drops a rocket on his foot.

If things at our house follow true to form, what we'll find in our Christmas stocking is a hole in the heel.

The difference between putting in 40 hours and a week's work is considerable.

ennui (awn-WEE) boredom
The young lady, recalling her first date with the medical student, remembered the ennui of that evening. The automobile salesman, a look of ennui on his expressionless face, was hoping that some customers would come into the shop today.
The publishing party, an event to celebrate his first book, was really an evening of ennui for the young author.

'Dickens of London' Artful

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Dickens, who died in 1870 and joined Britain's immortals in Westminster Abbey's Poets' Corner, seems to have a special place in America's Christmas lore.

That certainly stems from his creation of Tiny Tim and old Scrooge, so it seemed quite natural Tuesday night to find a television special which was a fanciful stroll around mid-19th century London in the company of the writer—played by Michael Redgrave.

It seemed inevitable that it would all lead, somehow or other, to Dickens' "Christmas Carol." Well, it did not, more's the pity.

Leisurely, Dignified
"Mr. Dickens of London" chose instead to re-create another Dickens Christmas story, "The Seven Poor Travelers." And this was, primarily, a visit to an old charity lodging house and the sight of an assortment of bedraggled creatures enjoying a holiday feast.

The ABC program was leisurely and dignified. And, even if it was not exactly an intellectual stimulant, it was a delight to the eye. The camera work was most artful and the colors rich and beautiful.

CBS's news hour was devoted to a reprise of the political rise of actor Ronald Reagan from film good guy to governor of California and potential presidential candidate. "What About Ronald Reagan?" tackled the subject in the accepted, balanced fashion, leaning heavily on film and television clips of press conferences, speeches and public appearances, plus an assortment of interviews with Reagan's associates, past and present.

Bland Quality
The resulting portrait had a bland quality. But now that a presidential year of politicking is upon us, the major networks have that old problem of balance: Documentaries, in fairness, must present a balanced picture. Unfortunately, the balancing often results in a slow-moving TV show. But the alternative, however stimulating, brings nothing but complaints, demands for equal time and a deluge of angry mail.

Joey Bishop, for the first time since his show started last April, will take a week off, Christmas special.

Hope's Troupe Leaving
Bob Hope and troupe takes off this week for two weeks in Vietnam, Thailand and Guam—Hope's fourth consecutive Christmas spent in the Vietnam war zone. The resulting TV show will be broadcast by NBC on Jan. 18.

Jerry Colonna, associated with Hope for years, can't make the trip this year, but has recovered enough from a stroke suffered in August 1966 to appear in Hope's comedy show Thursday night.

Recommended tonight: "A Taste of Funny," NBC 9-10 EST variety with Groucho Marx and Soupy Sales; "The Andy Williams Show," NBC, 10-11, Christmas special.

Bill—No, I'm all right. It's just that I hate to see all these ladies standing.

The captain of a chorus girl line at a successful Broadway musical recently received this note from a stage door John. It said: "Please do me the honor of sharing a champagne supper with me in my suite tonight for I have long worshipped you from afar. You are the only girl for me." # Airlift Pushes Viet GI Total to 475,000

SAIGON (AP) — The biggest airlift of the Vietnam war pushed U.S. troop strength in South Vietnam to about 475,000 today, more than the peak of 472,800 American fighting men in the Korean war at its height 14 years ago.

Security Wraps Off
The U.S. Command took the security wraps off the transfer from the United States of two more brigades of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division, World War II's Screaming Eagles of Bastogne. About 7,000 of the paratroopers have been flown across the Pacific since Nov. 17, and another 3,000 are due by Dec. 9.

Wearing combat fatigues with a 45 revolver and dagger tucked in his belt, the 101st commander, Maj. Gen. Orlino M. Barsanti, snapped a salute on his arrival today at Bien Hoa Airbase and reported to Gen. William C. Westmoreland. "The 101st Airborne Division is present for combat in Vietnam."

Westmoreland, now commander of all U.S. troops in Vietnam, was the Screaming Eagles' commander from 1958 to 1960. The division's 1st Brigade has been in Vietnam since July 1965.

When completed, the airlift will have involved 373 trans-Pacific flights, which after dis-moved the security wraps today from a new American infantry operation 28 miles northeast of Saigon and said 52 Communist troops had been killed in six days. Total U.S. losses for the period were put at two dead and 25 wounded.

The multi-battalion search and destroy operation by units of the 25th Infantry Division is aimed at supporting revolutionary development (pacification) programs in the area and denying the rice harvest to the Communists.

In the air war, U.S. Air Force B-52 bombers hammered suspected North Vietnamese troop and supply areas Tuesday night 17 miles west-southwest of Dak To in the central highlands.

Over North Vietnam, bad weather continued to hamper strikes by American bombers Tuesday.

U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawk pilots attacked a transshipment point 25 miles east-southeast of Haiphong, but smoke and dust in the area prevented assessment of damage. Other Navy pilots reported damaging four trucks 20 miles east-northeast of Haiphong.

Despite cloudy ceilings of around 2,000 feet, U. S. pilots flew 38 missions, generally against storage areas and supply lines.

Longest, Largest

U.S. spokesmen said the airlift is the longest and largest ever staged direct from the United States to Southeast Asia and gave us an excellent opportunity to test our airlift capabilities.

The lift is delivering 10,356 troops, 5,118 tons of vehicles and cargo plus the division's full complement of 165mm cannon and 37 helicopters.

The new paratroopers are not expected to go into combat immediately and will receive some training before heading into the field. Then they will join the 101st 1st Brigade, which is now part of the Americal Division.

The U.S. Command also re-

Kidnap Attempt Fizzles

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Two amateurish kidnapers held a banker's wife hostage for $80,000 but then settled for $50,000. Then, police said, they got only 11 blocks with the payoff.

A butcher and a cabinet maker were taken into custody Tuesday with the ransom money and the unharmed hostage, Frances Howe, under a blanket on the floor of their car's back seat.

When a quickly mobilized police detail halted the car, the armed men surrendered without drawing their pistols, officers said.

Booked on suspicion of kidnapping for ransom were Robert Shearer, 32, who said he is a cabinet maker, and Edson Lagrand Little, 26, who said he is a meatcutter. Police said both gave addresses in nearby North Hollywood.

Shortly after Mrs. Howe had gotten their 15-year-old son off to school, the doorbell rang at their $70,000 hilltop home in Glendale, a suburb northeast of Los Angeles.

Two men with guns grabbed me and pushed me inside and told me they wanted money from my husband's bank," she said.

They commanded her to telephone the Union Bank's branch in nearby Van Nuys where her husband is vice president. On the phone, Howe was told to put $80,000 in a specified street trash can "if you want to see her alive."

When Howe said that much was ridiculous, the caller suggested $50,000. The banker aid he didn't even have that much. "Take it from the bank," he was told.

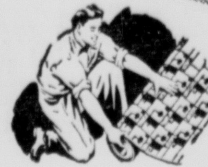

"That's also ridiculous," Howe said. "How can I take it from the bank? I'll have to tell someone."
